PARIS TO TOKYO PAIR FORCED TO LAND IN SIBERIA

Le Brix and Doret Fail at Effort for Nonstop Record Hop.

HUNGARIAN AIRMEN COMPLETE FIRST LEG

Youths From New York Crash in Mexico But Are Brought to Safety.

Irkutsk, Siberia (Tuesday), July 14 (U.P.).—Local flying authorities reported today that Joseph Le Brix and Marcel Doret, French fliers attempting a nonstop Paris-Tokyo flight, were forced to land their plane, the Hyphen, near Nijneudinsk, Siberia, 310 miles west of Irkutsk.

One of the fliers suffered injury to his knee when the plane was forced down. Advices here did not mention which was hurt.

The Hyphen was damaged in landing, the advices said.

The fliers asked to be taken to Moscow.

Nijneudinsk is almost at the halfway point between Moscow and Tokyo and if the fliers landed there they were about 1,800 miles short of their goal.

The French plane was last reported officially as it passed Moscow at 7:30 p. m., Sunday. However, an unidentified plane which was thought to be the Hyphen was reported passing Novosibirsk, Siberia, at 5 p. m., Moscow time, today. Novosibirsk is about 500 miles west of Nikneudinsk, where the Hyphen was reported down.

Moscow, July 13 (U.P.).—An unidentified airplane believed to be the Hyphen passed Novosibirsk, traveling eastward, at 5 p. m., Moscow time (10 a. m., E. S. T.) today.

Members of the Soviet society for aviation and chemical defense were ready to rush assistance if the Hyphen was reported forced down in Siberia. Weather conditions have improved since yesterday, however, and the fliers were conceded an excellent chance to reach Tokyo and establish a new record for a straight line flight.

Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, July 13 (A.P.).—Alexander Magyar and George Endres brought their plane, Justice to Hungary, down here at 5:32 p. m., Eastern standard time, completing the first leg of their projected flight from New York to Hungary.

The fliers had been in the air 7 hours and 39 minutes since they took off from Roosevelt Field, N. Y. They left New York at 9:53, Eastern standard time, and had estimated the flight would take them seven hours. They were reported sighted only once, when they passed Eastport, Me., at 1:15.

Late tonight bad weather appeared in prospect and the time of their take-off seemed indefinite.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., July 13 (A. P.).—As though this hop was no more important than the countless test flights they have conducted for more than a year, Alexander Magyar and George Endres took off today on what they hope will be a one-stop flight to Budapest.

Innumerable Delays.

Since first the Hungarian flight was announced almost two years ago there have been innumerable delays, financial, atmospheric and mechanical. But today, suddenly, everything fell into order and the perfect moment seemed to have come.

Without any fuss or bother Magyar and Endres climbed into their fast Lockheed and winged away for Harbor Grace, N. F., whence after refueling they will hop for Hungary.

They took off here at 9:53 E. S. T. This morning at 1:15 reported to the Radio Corporation of America that they had passed over Eastport, Me., which is about a third of the way to Harbor Grace. Unless this rate of speed was increased it was feared that darkness would be falling before the fliers arrived.

Their plane is a black low-wing Lockheed with gold trimmings. Its name is "Justice for Hungary" and the license designation is "NR 115 W." It has a radio using the call "Khnza" on wave lengths of 76 and 1,500 meters for ordinary messages and of 600 for S. O. S. use.

Taken on "Relief" Plane.

Tampico, July 13 (A.P.).—Edward Maloney and Seth Yerrington, whose New York-to-Mexico City plane, Capitan Emilio Carranza, crashed today on the beach between Tampico and Brownsville, Tex., were brought here tonight aboard a relief plane.

The relief craft of the Mexican Aviation Co., piloted by K. K. Hoffman, arrived at 6:30 p. m.

It was understood Yerrington and Maloney would proceed to Mexico City tomorrow morning by regular passenger plane, reaching there at 1:30 p. m. The fliers reported that a break in their spare gasoline pump forced them to land shortly after 10 a. m. Their plane suffered a damaged wing tip and cracked landing gear, but they said they believed it could be repaired and flown from the beach, which is about 75 miles south of Brownsville.

Maloney and Yerrington were uninjured and their only hardship was lack of drinking water. It was estimated that in the approximately

Army Strives Vainly To Save Teeth Victim

The United States Army yesterday bent all its medical resources to save the life of one buck private, who early this morning was fighting a losing battle at Walter Reed General Hospital.

Private Olaf Nelson, 30, who swallowed two false teeth and bridge work Saturday in Fort Bliss, Tex., and who was flown the 2,300 miles between El Paso and Washington that skilled surgeons might make one last effort to save him, may not live through the day.

Early today Maj. Gen. R. U. Patterson, surgeon general of the Army, was in conference at the hospital with Dr. James F. Mitchell, local specialist, following futile effort by hospital physicians to remove the obstruction from Nelson's esophagus.

The operation was the fifth performed on the soldier since he swallowed the teeth while eating breakfast three days ago. Immediately afterward staff physicians were in communication with Gen. Patterson, who made a hurried trip to the hospital from the Army and Navy Club.

Later Gen. Patterson explained to newspapermen the unusual nature of the accident. The bridgework, an inch and a half in length, with two prongs of gold wire extending from each end, embedded itself solidly in the soft tissues of the gullet.

Every effort to remove the object causes the prongs to penetrate the esophagus farther, and it was apparent in the last operation that the teeth can not be removed without violence, Gen. Patterson said.

He said Maj. Roy Brown, who was aided in the operation by Capt. J. R. Hargrave, continued his careful efforts to looser the teeth until Nelson showed signs of exhaustion. Gen. Patterson expressed the opinion the patient should be allowed to rest at least 24 hours before another attempt is made.

Lieut. F. G. Irving, of Kelly Field, piloted the Fokker ambulance plane that brought Nelson here from Fort Bliss. Accompanied by Maj. Daniel Franklin and Sergt. D. R. Kass, Irving and the patient left the Army post at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, stopped for five hours at Fort Sill Sunday night, and arrived over Bolling Field at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

NEW DENIAL IS MADE IN FIGURES CHARGES

Yale Expert Upholds Hall; Says Scholars Will Be Driven From Work.

The Commerce Department yesterday denied Dr. Ray O. Hall's charges of figure juggling in preparation of the economic study in international trade known as the "Balance of International Payments," as "unfounded and misleading."

Simultaneously another figure voluntarily entered the controversy between Dr. Hall and the department, taking the discharged statistician's side in the affair. Dr. Hall's supporter is Dr. James H. Rogers, Yale University professor of political economics.

Dr. Rogers entered the lists on the issue of free speech and freedom of Government scientists and said that should the Government persist in its policies followed in the Hall case self-respecting scholars would refuse to enter Government service.

The answer to Dr. Hall's letter presented Sunday to Secretary Lamont was made by O. P. Hopkins, acting director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. He asserted the ousted official's proposals for revising valuation of American imports was rejected as "unscientific and unsound," and said that statements that changes had been made in the report as a matter of political expediency were untrue.

In preparing the computation, upon which Dr. Hall formerly worked, it was necessary to preserve its accuracy by rejecting certain of his own proposals to revise on an unscientific and unsound basis figures as to the valuation of American imports," Mr. Hopkins said.

"He asserts that this rejection was due to 'political expediency.' This is untrue.

"He implies that the department's unwillingness to allow juggling of this detail of the complicated account had some relation to the tariff controversy. This is untrue and it is also absurd, since most of the import commodities involved in the matter are on the duty-free list, and consist of such things as copper, rubber and cocoa.

"Other matters in the lengthy communication which Dr. Hall has made public are likewise chiefly important in illustrating the temperamental handicaps under which its author labors in pursuing economic abstract inquiry. He considers that this study of international payments should have contained an implied criticism of the prohibition policy of the United States Government.

"He would also have included his personal criticism of policies followed by the investment banking interests and the investing public of the United States. It is hardly necessary to state that whatever the merits of

Georgia Member Of House Is Dead

Charles G. Edwards' Passing Increases G. O. P. Majority.

Atlanta, Ga., July 13 (A.P.).—Representative Charles G. Edwards, 53, Democrat, of the First Georgia Congressional District, fell dead here this afternoon in the office of Representative Robert Ramspeck, of the Fifth Georgia District. Cerebral hemorrhage was given as the cause of death. His home was in Savannah.

(Associated Press.)

The death of Representative Charles G. Edwards, of Georgia, at Atlanta yesterday restored to two the Republican majority in the House. He was the seventh member of the next House to die. The Republicans now have 215 members to 213 for the Democrats, while there are 6 vacancies and 1 Farmer-Labor member.

SIAM'S KING, QUEEN TO RIDE IN DIRIGIBLE

Navy Department Plans for Trip in Los Angeles Following Request.

(Associated Press.)

The King and Queen of Siam are to take a short sight-seeing ride aboard the Navy dirigible Los Angeles sometime after July 17.

King Prajadhipok made the request for the flight through the State Department and the Navy Department is making plans to entertain the royal couple.

Queen Rambai Barni probably will be the first woman to make a flight on the airship since it came to the United States from Germany in 1924, naval officials explaining they had no record of a previous feminine passenger in this country.

Commander Garland Fulton, of the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics, said the daughter of Count Zeppelin and several other German women had flown in the dirigible in Germany.

The Los Angeles' base is at Lakehurst, N. J., but is operating off Long Island in Fort Pond Bay with the tender Patoka until July 17.

Professor Quits At Johns Hopkins

Friends Aver Dr. D'Irsay Is Planning to Enter Catholic Order.

Baltimore, Md., July 13 (A.P.).—Dr. Stephen d'Irsay, now in Europe, has resigned his position as associate professor of the history of medicine at Johns Hopkins University, a position he has held since 1929. Friends here today said he is contemplating entering a Catholic order abroad. They expect he will return to this country for a short time in September to transfer his effects to Europe.

Confirming reports that Dr. d'Irsay would not be a member of the faculty next year, Johns Hopkins officials said he had informed them his plans would keep him abroad. They added that on several occasions he remarked that he "ought to be a Jesuit."

Early in 1930 Dr. d'Irsay went to Europe to assemble data on the history of universities for the Welch Medical Library and to study for himself the monastic schools, which, through the Dark Ages, were the centers of learning.

CANADA'S PACT PLEDGES TRADE FOR AUSTRALIA

Two Dominions Conclude Contract to Prefer Mutual Dealing.

AGREEMENT AFFECTS $300,000,000 VALUE

Interchange of Products to Be Goods Formerly Sold by Other Nations.

Ottawa, Ontario, July 13 (A.P.).—Premier R. B. Bennett tonight announced in the House of Commons that the new Canada-Australia trade agreement had been concluded.

The agreement guarantees th bulk of commodities exported from Canada "a substantial tariff preference in Australia," he said. Canada in return gives Australia a preferential tariff on specified items.

Throughout the negotiations, Premier Bennett said, the two countries had sought to adhere to the principle of diverting to each other trade which at the present time is being done with countries outside the "British" Empire.

Purchases by Australia.

For several years, he said, Australia has purchased an average of more than $300,000,000 worth of goods from foreign countries annually. "Canada is in a position to supply a large proportion of this demand, and under the new agreement we believe she will do it," he added.

He quoted a letter of Parker Moloney, Australian minister for markets and transport, who said "the step which we have just taken is undoubtedly a very material advance toward that ideal of interempire preference which we all consider is a vital necessity in upholding the position of the British commonwealth of nations among the great trading nations of the world.

Outlook for Agreement.

"When it is remembered that the various dominions are keen competitors, the consummation of an agreement such as that we have just made is a last memorial to the good will and cooperation displayed between two sister dominions.

"I sincerely hope and trust that this agreement will bear fruit which we so earnestly desire, and that we shall do business with one another which at the present time is being done with foreign countries."

Under the agreement, Mr. Bennett said, Canada is given the benefit of the British preferential tariff on 415 of the 433 items which make up the Australian customs tariff.

A clause in the agreement provided that if either country finds the importation of some product prejudical to the domestic industry, it may give notice to the other. If the difficulty is not cured within three months the product automatically must bear duty under the general tariff until the notice is withdrawn.

Conference on Lumber.

A preference of approximately $5 per 1,000 feet is given on lumber. The old agreement gave Canada none. The preference on canned salmon is increased from 3 to 6 cents per pound and on newsprint from $15 to $20 per ton. Canada last year sold $4,000,000 worth of newsprint out of Australia's total import of $1,000,000.

Canada gets an increased advantage on motor car chasses unassembled. The former rate was 22½ per cent against Canada. Under the new agreement the rate will be only 15 per cent while the general tariff of 32½ per cent applies to the United States.

Canada shipped $3,000,000 of motor cars chasses unassembled to Australia last year. The United States exported $16,500,000.

Steel Company's Head And Niece Are Drowned

Erie, Pa., July 13 (A.P.).—Harry J. Marks, 35, president of the Federal Steel Co., of Detroit, drowned in Lake Erie at Northeast while attempting to rescue two girls from the water this evening.

His niece, Phyllis Klingensmith, 17, also met death.

Fundless Arlington Boy, 13, Makes Way to Los Angeles

Aunt of Carl V. Brumback, Jr., Telegraphs His Mother He Arrived Safely on Long Trek; Crossed Continent in Seven Days.

Carl V. Brumback, jr., 13 years old, who left his home in Cherrydale, Arlington County, seven days ago for his former home in Los Angeles, Calif., arrived at the latter place yesterday afternoon, according to a telegram received by the boy's mother, Mrs. C. V. Brumback, from her sister.

Young Brumback slipped away from home at 6 o'clock in the morning of July 6 without a cent in his pocket. How he reached the California city without funds is a story that is eagerly awaited by his parents. The speed with which the young traveler got to the other side of the continent is accepted as amazing and his relieved mother is wondering whether part of the journey was covered by airplane.

The 13-year-old boy came here with his parents last fall and he has been homesick for Los Angeles and his old playmates there ever since, his mother said. Carl is blond-haired, blue-eyed, and weighs about 110 pounds. He was last seen, after he left his home, by a motorist on the Lee highway, in Arlington County, who did not make this fact known until he heard of the lad's disappearance.

The telegram received yesterday was the first news of the young wanderer since that time. Carl is a nephew of Keith A. Brumback, well-known Arlington County real estate man. The boy's mother said that he could remain in Los Angeles for an extended visit. He will live with his aunt, Mrs. A. L. Clouse, and spend the summer playing with the old gang whose memory caused him to run away from home.

GERMANY'S CREDIT RENEWED AS ORDER CLOSES HER BANKS; HOOVER PONDERS NEW CRISIS

CAPITAL LAYS BLAME LARGELY UPON PARIS

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

President Hoover devoted all of yesterday to pondering the financial crisis in Germany, a crisis which the administration had hoped would be averted by the American plan for a one-year holiday on war debt payments.

In the course of the day, the President conferred with Acting Secretary of State Castle and Acting Secretary of the Treasury Mills.

The day before, Mr. Castle had made it plain that the United States feels that any plan for a banking solution of the situation in Germany must originate with the central banks in Europe, including the Bank of England and the Bank of France. However, Mr. Castle said, American bankers are prepared to consider assistance in any effective plan of relief that the European institutions may evolve.

Word of the intention of the world bank directors at Basel to recommend renewal of the rediscount credit of $100,000,000 granted to the Reichsbank last month was received late in the day. The news was not unexpected here, but the amount was hardly expected to tide Germany over the crisis.

France, Germany Both Blamed.

The view here in Washington is that France, because of her reluctance to enter into an agreement on President Hoover's debt moratorium plan, is partly to blame for the present crisis in Germany.

If France had accepted the President's proposal instantly, it is held here, the new German crisis may not have arisen. France's long delay and the growing fear that the proposal never would become effective, it is held, increased the hysteria in Germany and consequently increased the flight of capital from Germany.

Germany also is blamed for the new crisis. It is felt here that the German government should have taken steps two weeks ago to prevent Germans from sending their money out of the country.

Eighty per cent of those who have been exchanging marks for dollars, francs and pounds, according to the information here, are Germans.

Germans Fear Mark Value.

Right after the war, the German mark shrunk in value until it was practically worthless. Remembering that, thrifty Germans now exchange their marks for more stable foreign money or invest it abroad whenever there is the slighest flurry.

The United States Government, it can be said, feels that it is up to Germany to put a stop to this flight of German capital if it expects American banks to go to her rescue. American bankers, it is explained, may be sympathetic, but they can hardly be expected to violate good banking principles. In other words, they must have some sort of a guarantee that they are going to get their money back.

The impression was gained yesterday that President Hoover is getting most of his information on the present crisis from the newspapers. So far as is known, the last message received from Ambassador Sackett in Berlin came in Saturday night. In this, the ambassador said that Germany needed relief, and needed it quickly.

Revolution Is Feared.

Thus far the situation in Germany has been described as a "financial crisis." So ominous were some of the cable reports yesterday and last night, however, that it was feared that it might become much more than that.

In Germany, Adolph Hitler, the Fascist leader, was reported by the United Press last night as ready to take over the government and repudiate the Young reparations plan. That, so far as France is concerned, amounts to a rattling of the saber.

From Paris came an Associated Press dispatch quoting the newspaper La Liberte as saying that France is

Spanish Assembly In Stormy Session

Most of 370 Members Try to Speak on Eve of Formal Opening.

Madrid, July 13 (A.P.).—Spain's first republican constituent assembly since 1873 had a stormy prelude tonight to tomorrow's formal opening.

While Jose Ortega y Gasset was attacking and Minister of the Interior Maura was defending the recently drafted congressional regulations, virtually every one of the assembly's 370 members simultaneously clamored for the floor.

During the excitement Narciso Vasquez Lemus, the oldest deputy, who was presiding, took his hat and adjourned the session. The only point agreed on was that the assembly sessions should last five hours, starting at 7 p. m., and that they might be prolonged.

Munich, July 13 (U.P.).—Adolf Hitler, Fascist leader who often has proclaimed his determination to assume control of the German government by force if necessary, is ready to seize power to save his country from the rule of bolshevism, which he considers inevitable under present conditions.

Hitler told the United Press tonight that he considered the ascendancy of the Fascist movement the only alternative to the bolshevik wave which he sees sweeping Europe.

"We are ready to assume governmental power at any time," Hitler said, "because the national opposition (the Facist party gained the second largest representation in the Reichstag in the landslide at the last elections and achieved the rank of the main opposition to the Bruening

Reich Is Voted Credit By World Bank Group

Directors Sound Optimistic Note in Unanimously Voting to Aid During Crisis; Respond to Luther's Plea by Assuring Full Cooperation.

Basel, Switzerland, July 13 (A.P.).—Directors of the World Bank for International Settlements late tonight agreed unanimously to renew the world bank's participation in the rediscount credit of $100,000,000 accorded to the Reichsbank June 25.

The decision was made as a part of an effort by the World Bank directorate to save Germany from financial disaster.

The directors sounded an optimistic note by expressing their belief that Germany's economic and budgetary condition is fundamentally sound, despite the crisis brought about by heavy withdrawals of short-term capital from the country.

The directors further responded to the appeal of Dr. Hans Luther, president of the German Reichsbank, by declaring the World Bank is ready to collaborate fully with the various governments to obtain financial assistance for Germany on their respective markets.

In well informed circles, it was believed these proffers of assistance are less than the German government hoped for, but that they would be sufficient, if fully developed, to enable Germany to restore her fiscal system and to regain her feet financially.

The rediscount credit referred to was advanced jointly on June 25 in sums of $25,000,000 each by the Federal Reserve Bank of the United States, the Bank of France, the Bank of England, and the World Bank.

Renewal was authorized, beginning July 16, for a maximum of three months.

A communique issued at the close of the meeting at 11:30 p. m. said:

"The board of directors took note of the showing made to it by Dr. Luther, president of the Reichsbank, regarding the situation in Germany and the satisfactory character of its economic and budgetary position in spite of the crisis provoked by the withdrawal of short-term capital invested in Germany.

"Having been given notice that the German government had addressed itself to divers governments for financial assistance on their respective markets, the board is convinced of the necessity for such assistance in the present circumstances and declares itself ready to collaborate therein and to assist it by all means at the disposal of central banks.

"The board has authorized its president to renew its participation, in accord with other interested establishments, in the rediscount credit previously accorded the German Reichsbank."

Confidence was felt in authoritative quarters here tonight that the measures adopted by the bank's directorate would enable Germany to help herself to such an extent that confidence will eventually be restored and the threat against her financial stability removed.

It was understood that the Bank of France is ready to agree to the renewal of its share of the $100,000,000 rediscount credit which the World Bank signified its willingness to renew and that the Federal Reserve Bank of the United States will also probably agree. Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, who was present at today's session of the directorate, must first consult his board of directors before announcing the position of the Bank of England.

Dr. Luther, president of the Reichsbank, alone of all the bankers talked to the assembled newspapermen after the conference ended. Singling out especially an eminent French correspondent he launched into an eloquent exposition of the details of Germany's situation and insisted on the necessity for other countries to lend their aid, asserting that such action was necessary to preserve the financial stability of the rest of the world.

NATIONS MARK TIME AS PROBLEM CLEARS

(Associated Press.)

A definite ray of hope for betterment of Germany's financial situation appeared upon the horizon at midnight, when the directorate of the World Bank for International Settlements, ending their meeting at Basel, recommended renewal of the rediscount credit of $100,000,00 accorded the Reichsbank June 25.

At almost the same time the German government ordered all banks in the nation, except the Reichsbank, closed today and Wednesday, with the possibility that the closure order might be extended over a longer time.

The rest of the financial world marked time yesterday and last night, with New York and most European financial centers awaiting developments.

England-U. S. Watch Situation.

At London, British government circles kept in close touch with Berlin throughout the day and hoped the World Bank directorate might find a solution.

White House officials said President Hoover is devoting his entire time to studying the problem.

Dispatches from France said Secretary Mellon was planning to go to London on Thursday or Friday, but State Department officials at Washington declared he had not been sent there.

The French government was preparing to place its position regarding financial aid to Germany before Arthur Henderson, British foreign minister, who is to arrive in Paris today.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

Berlin, July 13 (A.P.).—The German government, shortly before midnight tonight, ordered all banks in the nation to remain closed Tuesday and Wednesday as a desperate measure to halt demands for currency which today threatened the country's financial stability.

Assumes Emergency Powers.

The government's action was taken following upon the issuance of a decree by President von Hindenburg authorizing the cabinet to "declare bank holidays." President von Hindenburg's decree was issued under authority given him by article 48 of the constitution to resort to what amounts to dictatorial powers in such emergencies.

The decree also gave the government authority to declare a further extension of the time the banks must remain closed if it were found necessary.

The text of the decree follows:

"By authority of article 48, paragraph 2, it is decreed:

"Section 1. The government is empowered to declare bank holidays. It will be the government's function to decide what public and private credit concerns and institutions are to be affected and what legal consequences are to be drawn.

"Section 2. The decree takes effect July 13, 1931.

(Signed) "Reichs President,
"VON HINDENBURG.
"Chancellor Bruening.
"Finance Minister Dietrich.
"Minister of Interior Wirth.
"Minister of Communications Schaetzel.
"Acting Minister of Economics Trendelenburg."

Hopes to Resume Thursday.

The government hoped tonight, however, that it would be possible for the banks to open again on Thursday, at least.

The Reichsbank is the only credit institution in the nation exempt from the closing order.

At the same time that it ordered the banks closed the government also prohibited the banks and the postoffice money order department from handling payments or transfers of money, either to points inside Germany or abroad.

This not only erects a wall against the flight of capital from the country, but it means practically a general moratorium within Germany until the banks reopen.

The stock exchanges throughout the country were also ordered to remain closed all week.

The necessity for the president's action, it was said, arose not so much from the situation in Berlin where real bank runs did not develop, although the withdrawals were heavy and the banks paid only a percentage of deposits, but out of what was said to be a much more serious outlook in the Rhineland, where runs developed quickly and authorities announced that municipal savings banks would be closed Tuesday and Wednesday without waiting for the president to act.

These drastic measures occupied the government while it was anxiously awaiting word from the Bank for International Settlements at Basel, upon the decision of which it was considered that Germany's financial future depends in large measure.

Resorting to the "dictatorship clause" of the constitution, the Reich issued an emergency decree taking over guarantees of the $30,000,000 Darmstaedter und National Bank, which has suspended payments because its resources have been drained by the continual demands for foreign currencies.

Appeal Made to Depositors.

The effect of this decree, explained as a measure to protect the hundreds of thousands of small depositors, was to declare a virtual moratorium for the bank until July 31.

Faced with an alarming series of runs on banks in different parts of the Nation, Chancellor Bruening issued an appeal to the German people to keep their heads and hold to their confidence in their Fatherland.

"It is essential that the German people in this difficult situation retain their courage and not increase the trouble by losing their self-confidence," the chancellor said.

So great was the call for funds by depositors that in some banks it was necessary to limit the amount each person might withdraw. In many instances this limit was low. Stuttgart Savings Bank, for example, refused to pay any customer more than 100 marks (about $25).

Two private banking houses in Berlin, both of which operated in partnership with the Darmstaedter und National Bank, closed their doors. These were Schwarz, Goldschmidt & Co., and Gebrueder Hammerstein.

Cabinet Gets Sleep at Last.

In Frankfort-on-Main the private house of Otto Hirsch & Co., also closely affiliated with the Danat, or Darmstaedter Bank, was suspended.

The cabinet, which has been in almost continuous session for more than two days, called a halt tonight. The members had to let up and get some sleep.

In government circles the opinion prevailed that there was no occasion for further measures until two things were known—the results of the efforts of Dr. Hans Luther, Reichsbank president, to obtain credits at the Bank for International Settlements meeting in Basel, and the effect on the masses of the government's decree taking over the Danat.

All banks that suffered runs were able to get through the day, although some of them resorted to the system of rationing their money. Many persons in political circles felt tonight that Germany was merey enjoying the quiet before the storm.

The Danat crash came so late during the night of Sunday-Monday and was so unexpected that the significance of it dawned slowly on the public.

Only a few Monday morning newspapers are published in Berlin and most of them had gone to press when announcement of the bank's suspension was made. Hence, many Germans went to work and passed unsuspectingly by the closed main office and the similarly closed 63 branches.

As the day wore on, however, and as one evening edition after another appeared, the people awakened. In the cafes, on street corners and before newspaper offices gesticulating and debating crowds gathered.

preparing to protect her frontier in the event of disorders in Germany.

Marshals Petain and Lyautey, together with other high-ranking officers, had luncheon with Prime Minister Laval, and, it was understood, talked over the serious situation in Germany.

As gloomy as is the outlook, the administration feels that it might be much worse had not the United States offered its plan for a one-year holiday on war debts and reparations payments.

Moreover, the administration is confident that in the end Germany will be saved from financial and political disaster.

Return to London Hinted for Mellon

France Hears He Will Be in Britain as Parley on Debts Opens.

St. Jean, Cap Ferrat, France, July 13 (A.P.).—Andrew W. Mellon, American Secretary of the Treasury, was reliably reported late today to have changed his holiday plans and to be going Thursday or Friday to London by way of Paris on instructions from Washington. On Friday a meeting of treasury experts will be held in London to work out details of the Hoover debt moratorium.

It was understood Mr. Mellon decided on his departure this afternoon upon receipt of a cable.

State Department officials said yesterday Secretary Mellon had not been ordered to London and that there was no thought of sending him there. Acting Secretary Castle authorized the denial.

LONDON REGRETFUL OF INABILITY TO AID

British Believe Relief for Germany Can Come Only From Basel.

London, July 13 (A.P.).—Anxious British eyes today followed the increasingly acute crisis in Germany, hopeful that means would be found to avert a catastrophe. British government circles were in close touch throughout the day with Berlin and unofficially regret was expressed that Great Britain was in no position to come to Germany's aid in what was believed here to be her greatest hour of need in many years.

As seen here, the situation was to be solved—or fail of solution—at Basel, where the directors of the bank for international settlements are holding their regular meeting.

Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, was in Basel, and with the arrival of Dr. Hans Luther, Reichsbank president, by airplane late today, there was such a gathering of financial powers that London expected the whole problem of German credit might be threshed out and important decisions made affecting the future.

Reports were persistent throughout London today that German hopes of a huge credit had borne fruit and that American and British bankers were undertaking to supply the capital needed to steady the situation.

Authorities, professing ignorance of any such arrangement, said a move of the sort might be forthcoming at Basel, but hardly elsewhere.

The markets of the world reflected the situation of Germany. British stock exchange prices went steadily lower during the day, running up slightly at rumors of a credit to Germany but ranging back toward lowest levels at the close.

Berlin markets were closed and will be tomorrow. In Paris the bourse observed the Bastile Day holiday period. But both Amsterdam and Brussels exchanges showed sharp downward reactions, Amsterdam recovering somewhat at the close.

Situation in Germany Told to Army Officers

Paris, July 13 (A.P.).—Marshals Petain and Lyautey, with other high ranking officers of the French army had luncheon today with Premier Laval at the ministry of war, and it was understood the conversation had to do with the situation in Germany.

No decision was taken, since a number of foreign military attaches were present, but Minister of War Maginot later issued a denial of a newspaper report that preparations had been made to reinforce the frontier guard.

New Job Assigned To Envoy-at-Large

(Associated Press.)

America's "ambassador-at-large" this week will set up new temporary quarters in London. From his official post as Ambassador to Belgium, Hugh S. Gibson will cross the English Channel to become President Hoover's special emissary to the meeting of technical experts who will work out details of an intergovernmental debt moratorium plan.

Much traveled and enjoying a wide acquaintance among European officialdom he will enter the opening session of the experts, conference and shake hands with probably half of those there because he has known them personally before. Many are the stories of times when the frigidity of an international conference has been melted by the jovial smile and ready wit of Ambassador Gibson.

To his colleagues in the foreign service he is known as "the ambassador-at-large" mainly because he is invariably selected to leave his post in Brussels and rush to London, Paris, Geneva and points east and west when need arises for a special representative of America. He was offered and declined the London and Paris posts. Not a man of great personal wealth, he preferred a smaller post which permitted assignments to difficult negotiations in other parts of Europe.

When asked to give his views, Gibson is generally ready with an uncanny analysis of the most intricate situations and a solution which penetrates to the heart of the subject.

Chief Circus Clown Succumbs to Illness

Montreal, Que., July 13 (A.P.).—John Slater, chief clown with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus, died today. He was taken ill when the circus was here July 6 and 7 and had to be left behind.

He was a resident of Delphos, Ohio, and was 50 years old.

Notley Young Brickwork To Be Torn Down Today

Demolition of the brickwork of the old Notley Young home at Giesboro Point, D. C., will begin today to make room for enlargement of Bolling Field, Army air corps headquarters.

Woodwork of the old home, once the meeting place of aristocrats, was eradicated by fire on Sunday. The ruins were still smoldering yesterday, but the remains are expected to cool off sufficiently by today to permit workmen to start their labor.

Forest Fires Rage In Idaho, Montana

Fresh Fighters Sent Against Flames, With Situation Held Critical.

Spokane, Wash., July 13 (A.P.).—Fresh fire fighters went into the flaming timberlands of north Idaho and western Montana today to meet a situation described as "critical."

Smoke veiled the forests so thickly that few reports on the flame line came into headquarters. The woods were dry after a month of parching sun. One thousand men, hampered by high winds, sought to halt the fires with trenches. Airplane patrols reported spot fires flaring steadily throughout the timber zone.

GERMAN TROUBLES REAL, SAYS MOSES

New Hampshire Senator Is Sure That Situation Will Be Adjusted.

Concord, N. H., July 13 (A.P.).—United States Senator George H. Moses said today that Germany was not bluffing and that her troubles were very real. However, he expressed the opinion that European statesmen, aided by the advice of President Hoover, would find a way of meeting the difficulties.

"I do not think," said the New Hampshire senator, "that France will insist on the political guarantees she has called for in return for any aid she may consent to give Germany—and for Germany to accede to these demands is impossible. To yield would amount to such a surrender of sovereignty as no nation could consent to make.

"I believe there is a certain parallel between the world outlook today and that of 1914. But I do not wish to be understood as predicting any such outcome as followed Serbia's refusal to give all that Austria asked. The world today takes a different view of international relations from what it did then.

"France, I am confident, will find that she can not insist upon political concessions in connection with a financial agreement. To put it another way, she can not mix the oil of economics with the water of politics since the two will not make an emulsion."

26-Cent Wheat Drives Curtis to New Effort

(Associated Press.)

Aroused by new reports of low wheat prices in Kansas, Vice President Curtis yesterday indicated he would renew his appeal to the Farm Board.

The Vice President was in communication with Senator Capper, of Kansas, who joined him in a request to the board last week that stabilization wheat be withheld from the market until this year's price reaches 85 cents.

Mr. Curtis said he received word from a farmer in an outlying section of the State that he had to sell his wheat for 26 cents a bushel.

nineteen hours they were in the air they covered all but 350 miles of their projected 2,300-mile flight.

At Mexico City President Pascual Ortiz Rubio requested the Mexican Aviation Company to lend every assistance possible to the fliers. He followed the progress of the flight with keen interest and dispatched a secretary to the offices of the company to convey a personal request that the aviators be brought to Mexico City so that a demonstration could be staged in their behalf.

It was understood officially that the president desired in this manner to discredit any belief that strained feelings exist between the Mexican and American peoples because of recent events involving Mexicans in the United States.

In addition to the relief plane piloted from Tampico by Hofman, three military planes took off from Valbuena Field, Mexico City, this afternoon to come here and render aid to the fliers.

Senator George Scores Tariff in His Debt Talk

(Associated Press.)

The ultimate value of President Hoover's moratorium proposal was described last night by Senator George as resting upon "the use we shall make of it."

Attacking the Hawley-Smoot tariff, which he blamed for world trade losses of the United States, the Georgian, in a statement issued through the Democratic national committee, said, "There is not the slightest disposition to criticize or embarrass the efforts thus far made by the President to stabilize world conditions, and a downward revision of tariffs here and in Europe may well be expected to hasten materially the return to normal conditions."

Foreign Fund Withdrawal Is Blamed in German Crisis

One and Half Billion Marks Taken From Reich in Last Several Months; 5,000,000 Persons Unemployed; Great Effect on World Seen.

Germany's strong central bank, fighting what has been a losing battle against intangible forces of enormous power, symbolizes the economic struggle that has threatened her with financial ruin, a battle which, if completely lost, would have far-reaching effects throughout the rest of the world.

The immediate cause of the crisis is the withdrawal of huge volume of foreign funds from the Reich. In the background, of course, looms the reparations question, with its political uncertainties and considerations both at home and aboard, its questions of ability to pay, its problems of international trade and finance.

Before the World War, Germany was a large lender in other nations. Now she has become a large borrower, with a foreign debt approximating 20,000,000,000 marks. Her unemployment problem is serious, for 5,000,000 persons are out of work. She has lost the favorable trade balance which only last year enabled her to wrest from Great Britain second place honors as an exporting country.

Foreign capital, alarmed at the more serious turn in conditions in the Reich, began its exodus several months ago, and in the last few weeks has reached the serious total of around 1,500,000,000 marks. The German people likewise, it is reported, have been converting their funds into dollars, francs and pounds sterling, and Dutch florins, thus adding to the Reichsbank's difficulties in supporting the mark. Strenuous measures were taken to halt this outflow; the discount rate was raised, large foreign credits were contracted at the world's financial centers. President Hoover's war debt holiday revived confidence but momentarily and the flight from the mark was renewed vigorously only last week. A thousand of Germany's largest corporations offered a $500,000,000 bank guarantee fund.

Foreign investors in Germany were frightened last fall by the success of the radicals in the national election. The recall of funds, however, did not assume alarming proportions until recently when Germany seemed on the verge of availing herself of the moratorium provisions in the Young plan.

Germany's rapid industrial recovery following the World War was almost phenomenal. Aided by huge foreign loans, mostly from this country, she applied herself strenuously to the difficult task of reconstruction, although handicapped by the loss of her colonies and important supplies of raw materials. But the recession in her business abroad from the postwar peak reached about a year ago was rapid and in May, 1931, her exports dropped to the lowest point in 20 years, excepting for the war period.

Lacking gold, postwar Germany was forced to depend on foreign trade for a means of meeting the reparation bills. Gradually her export markets were expanded until her recovery became the talk of the world, but the optimists, both in Germany and elsewhere, had not made full allowance in their reckoning depression. It was inevitable that Germany, like the other highly industrialized nations, should suffer from the international reaction and when the blow fell it fell hard. Her exports reduced and her imports of raw materials also cut, Germany had to borrow on a large scale.

The recent loans have been of the short-term variety, which quickly worked to the Reich's disadvantage when the situation at home became more acute. With conditions as they were throughout the world, it was impossible to refund these loans, aggregating probably 1,500,000,000 marks, into long term accommodations and the uncertainty as to when or how substantially these funds would be withdrawn added to the intensity of the crisis.

U. S. INVESTORS SET WATCH ON GERMANY

Americans Own Billions in Fatherland; Await Berlin News.

(Associated Press.)

American business, with $2,000,000,000 or more at stake, yesterday kept close watch on the German financial situation.

Between $1,350,000,000 and $1,500,000,000 worth of long term investments in Germany, most of it acquired since the World War, are held in America. These figures, compiled by the Department of Commerce, do not take into consideration short term credits, estimated at betwen $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000.

The largest single item of American investment is $425,000,000 worth of bonds of government-guaranteed corporations, including banking and public utilities. The next largest is investments in German private corporations of all kinds, estimated at from $360,000,000 to $380,000,000.

Millions in Private Holdings.

A census of direct investments of Americans in Germany in 1929 showed $216,000,000 invested in branch plants and other properties. This was increased during 1930. Though no definite figures are available for 1930, it was said direct investments could be figured now at $240,000,000.

Central German government bonds held in this country are estimated at from $170,000,000 to $210,000,000. In 1924 the German government sold $110,000,000 worth of bonds here, but this has been reduced by approximately $25,000,000. Last year $98,250,000 worth of bonds were sold. The variation is explained as due to inability to ascertain the amount of German bonds purchased from outside sources or sold to others than American citizens.

German states and provinces owe Americans between $90,000,000 and $100,000,000, and municipalities between $105,000,000 and $115,000,000.

Interests in 78 Concerns.

Americans own interests in 78 German concerns, most of it minority interests in old German companies. It is estimated that this type of investment accounts for approximately $138,000,000.

The International General Electric Co., the General Motors Co. and Henry Ford are probably the three largest investors in German concerns and branch houses.

There is no means, it was said at the department, of ascertaining with any definiteness the amount of short-term credit allowed German firms and banks by American banks and individuals, but this may run anywhere between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000.

U. S. Army Blimp C-71 Flies Over City, Departs

The Nineteenth Balloon Company's non-rigid airship, the C-71, was visiting in Washington for the second time within a week yesterday, in the course of a training flight.

The ship was piloted by Capt. Lester T. Miller, Army Air Corps, and circled around the National Capital for more than an hour before landing at Bolling Field for a short stay. It returned to its base at Langley Field late yesterday afternoon.

Pittsburgh Flier Leads Race Into New Orleans

New Orleans, July 13 (A.P.).—George Dickson, of Pittsburgh, led the nine planes of the national air tour into New Orleans this afternoon after the fliers had stopped in Gulfport, Miss., for lunch on the Montgomery-New Orleans hop.

He was closely followed by Lowell Bayles, Springfield, Mass.; James H. Smart, Pine Bluff, Ark., and Harry Russell, Dearborn, Mich. Russell is leading the tour on a point-score basis.

Laura Ingalls Lands At St. Louis Air Field

St. Louis, July 13 (A.P.).—Miss Laura Ingalls, who hopes to be the first woman to fly solo across the Atlantic, landed at Lambert-St. Louis field near here at 6 p. m., (C. S. T.) after a flight from Wichita. She left Wichita at 2:45 o'clock.

Graf Zeppelin to Make First Flight to London

Friedrichshafen, Germany, July 13 (A.P.).—The Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, will make its first flight to London and its first landing on English soil next Wednesday, it was announced today.

The Graf is expected to land at Hanworth Airdrome at 6 p. m. Thursday, stop an hour, and then begin a 24-hour sightseeing flight over England. The return to Friedrichshafen is expected to be made by 6 a. m. Saturday.

Manville Gives Up Plans for Divorce

Heir to Asbestos Millions Becomes Reconciled With Wife.

New York, July 13 (A.P.).—Thomas Franklin Manville, jr., heir to the asbestos king's millions, has dropped plans for a Reno or Mexican divorce from the former Avonne Taylor, Follies beauty, whom he married May 21.

Mark Eisner, his attorney, said tonight the divorce proceedings were all off. At the same time, William P. Ryan, attorney for Mrs. Manville, announced that "everything is peaceful in the Manville camp" and that the former showgirl also had given up separation proceedings.

Manville walked out on his bride June 25, saying he could not put up with her use of high-sounding phrases. He said that she insisted on calling ordinary beef steak "filet mignon," and that plain coffee, to her, was "demi-tassee." She called an elevator a "lift," he said, and a Reno divorce was the only solution.

Blimp Victim in Serious Condition.

Kansas City, Mo., July 13 (A.P.).—Suffering from burns received when the Goodyear blimp Mayflower was destroyed by fire during a storm last night, Capt. Charles E. Brannigan, the pilot, was reported tonight to be in a serious condition. A sister arrived here today by airplane from Ohio.

government) is convinced that it alone is able to halt the extremist development."

Hitler said the present German credit crisis confirmed his former fears and predictions.

"The Young plan is ending in economic disaster," he said as he recalled his continued agitation for cancellation of Germany's reparations agreements. "Its consequences will be felt in the entire world outside Germany.

"The folly of the Versailles treaty, which was made to divide the world into two parts for our future, will prove the curse of mankind as a whole. For the greatest danger is not economic disaster but bolshevization as the consequence of general economic ruin."

"There are only two possibilities for the future," the Fascist leader declared. "Either our movement for power over bolshevism, or bolshevism. The latter will turn central Europe and possibly the world far beyond it into chaos.

"Whenever fate calls us to the helm we shall not believe in the possibility of paying political tribute. But we do believe in the necessity of fulfilling those purely economic obligations which Germany has assumed in the course of years.

"It will be our foremost aim to secure the general economic and political consolidation of Germany, even by the harshest measures. However, first of all, our watchword is stamping out bolshvism in all its forms."

Hitler said he did not wish to make the economic fight of Chancellor Heinrich Bruening more difficult, "because the fight is not Germany's."

"I am a German myself," he said. "It is foolish to blame the government for the economic disaster of today. The blame must be attached to a policy based on false economic presumption."

Hitler's home, "the Brown House," is near the center of Munich, and is surrounded day and night by groups of young Fascists waiting for a glimpse of their chief and to shout "Hail, Hitler!" when favored by a sight of him. The street is usually quiet, however, and sentinels, not in uniform, are on duty. Any one attempting to enter the house is questioned zealously.

The Fascist Roman emblem, an eagle and wreath placed above Hitler's door, is the only indication that the brown house is Nazi headquarters. A military atmosphere surrounds the entrance to the home. On the walls of a wide corridor are bronze plates, containing the names of those who died in the Munich disorders of 1923, when Hitler, in collaboration with Gen. Eric von Ludendorff, staged the famous "beer cellar putsch," a fiasco which landed Hitler in prison.

At the end of the corridor is a reception room, guarded by uniformed sentries. Guards also stand outside other rooms.

Hitler appears more like a harried and earnest business man than a military chief. He wears plain blue civilian clothes and works at a mahogany desk in a large and simply decorated room bearing no signs of the military.

American Refuses To Face Execution

Man Sentenced to Die in Chihuahua Is Certain of Release.

El Paso, Tex., July 13 (A.P.).—W. J. "Jeff" Meers, 28-year-old American under death sentence in the penitentiary at Chihuahua City, Chihuahua, Mexico, does not believe he will be executed.

In an interview with a staff representative of the El Paso Herald-Post, Meers said several men had received death sentences since his imprisonment at the penitentiary but none of them had been carried out.

He was given the death penalty recently by Judge Francisco Davila Navarro after conviction of killing Antonio Visconti, a waiter in a Juarez cafe in June, 1930. Sentence was pronounced on the day an Oklahoma deputy sheriff was acquitted of slaying two Mexican youths. Meers said he killed Visconti believing Visconti was Manuel Villa Real, accused of slaying Meers' father during an El Paso pay roll holdup several years ago.

such arguments, there is no place for them in the mathematics of this study.

"However, the Hall letter has been placed under detailed examination by officials most concerned to determine whether any further refutation to the somewhat confused criticism it contains is necessary. The records in the case are open to any one."

Dr. Rogers termed Dr. Hall's discharge an "affront to free speech." He said it impaired the standing of Government statistics and would tend to drive competent scientists out of Government service.

Dr. Rogers is in Washington to write a book dealing with the international movement of gold and said he would use Dr. Hall's figures rather than those of the Department of Commerce because he believes Dr. Hall knows more about the subject. He characterized Dr. Hall as the outstanding world figure in his line.

Dr. Rogers accused Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, of conduct "beneath contempt" because of the latter's use of important statistics in an address before the Export Managers Club in New York May 28.

He read portions of Dr. Klein's speech in which that official cited comparative import figures of the United States, Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy for 1913 and 1930, and said they illustrated a "fair picture" of conditions in refutation of the allegation that America was slamming doors against foreign trade.

Dr. Rogers contended Dr. Klein ignored fundamental changes between 1913 and 1930 brought about by the fact that the United States had become a great international creditor.

Reached at his office late yesterday, Dr. Klein replied to the charges by saying Dr. Rogers was discussing the matter from an entirely different viewpoint. He said that the Yale professor was indulging in "academic nonsense."

NEW YORK EXPECTS FULL LOAN RENEWAL

Wall Street Holds Further Aid to Be Required in German Crisis.

New York, July 13 (A.P.).—While a spokesman for the Federal Reserve Bank of New York declined to comment on the action of the World Bank in Basel in deciding to renew its participation in the $100,000,000 loan to the German Reichsbank maturing Thursday, it was felt in high banking circles in Wall street that the full $100,000,000 would be renewed.

It was believed in important banking quarters that the World Bank announcement has probably been made after sounding out the other three participants in the loan—the Bank of England, the Bank of France and the New York Federal Reserve Bank. These central banks are directly or indirectly represented on the directorate of the World Bank.

Wall street has taken it for granted that the Reichsbank would be unable to meet the loan maturing Thursday and that the loan would be renewed.

Some banking circles also feel that this renewal will be insufficient to meet the requirements of the Reichsbank, hard pressed as it is by the severe banking situation in Germany. Considerable interest was expressed in the statement that the directors of the World Bank were willing to collaborate fully with the various governments to obtain financial assistance in their various markets.

Considerable significance was placed upon this readiness to collaborate, in view of the fact that it was unofficially stated in circles believed to be close to the Federal Reserve that the Reserve was awaiting the initiative of the World Bank, and that private banking institutions in Wall Street were awaiting the leadership of the reserve bank.

While it is felt that considerable more may be necessary than renewal of the $100,000,000 loan, there is little agreement among Wall Street bankers as to how large a loan Germany may require. A figure of $300,000,000 has been mentioned frequently in informal conversations here. Bankers feel that the figures of $400,000,000 and $500,000,000 mentioned in various reports is excessive, that Germany should do more to help herself.

Rumors heard in London today that a $300,000,000 credit had been arranged by British and American bankers were largely discredited here. It is believed that a large sum has been marshalled by New York banks in preparation for participation in any international loan, but it is pointed out that no credit is likely which does not include Paris, for withdrawals by Paris would tend to offset any further advances from other sources.

Since the announcement by the World Bank only expressed willingness to collaborate it was felt that there had been no agreement as yet as to terms for any loan in addition to the $100,000,000 credit.

The $100,000,000 credit, participation in which the World Bank agrees to renew, was arranged to tide the Reichsbank over the July 1 credit pinch, when large amounts of money are required in all capital markets to meet the midyear settlements.

At the time it was granted, it was hoped in Wall street that President Hoover's war debt holiday would soon become operative, and tend to alleviate conditions in Germany. The credit strain usually lifts promptly after the midyear settlement period, and it was felt that by July 16 the return of currency to the Reichsbank would have eased its position.

Since the war debt moratorium plan failed to check the flight of funds from Germany, however, the situation has radically changed, coming to a climax with the suspension of the big Darmstaedter und Nationalbank.

Some prominent Wall street bankers have expressed the opinion that the $100,000,000 loan to the Reichsbank was too small in the first place, and that for purposes of restoration of confidence, it might have been made as much as three times that amount.

HENDERSON TO HEAR PARIS' GERMAN VIEW

Entire Position Will Be Told Today; to Confer With Stimson Tomorrow.

Paris, July 13 (A.P.).—Foreign Secretary Henderson of Great Britain will come here tomorrow prior to a trip to Berlin and the entire French position regarding financial aid to Germany will be laid before him.

On Wednesday Mr. Henderson will be the luncheon guest of the heads of the French government and later probably will see Col. Henry L. Stimson, American Secretary of State, shortly after Mr. Stimson's arrival in Paris.

Premier Pierre Laval and Finance Minister Flandin conferred for an hour this evening and afterward M. Laval announced they had discussed the financial situation in Germany.

Before Cabinet Friday.

The premier said he anticipated no further ministerial meetings until Friday's cabinet meeting, at which the German situation will be considered.

Observers expressed belief that while France will watch intently the financial and political drama beyond the Rhine, it is prepared to go to Germany's assistance only on consort with other countries.

France is believed to desire a united Franco-British move as the best way to link political and financial considerations in extending aid to Germany.

Since Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius, of Germany, can not visit Paris now—Foreign Minister Briand was so informed today by Ambassador von Hoesch—Mr. Henderson's appearance in Paris prior to his trip to Berlin was regarded as providential.

Disarmament to Be Aired.

Disarmament also will be discussed by the French minister, who will hand Mr. Henderson, as president of the disarmament commission, a memorandum prepared by France on the present state of her armaments and the position she will sustain before the general disarmament conference.

The public impression of the developments of the past few days is expressed by Lucien Romier in the Petit Parisien thus:

"Germany has made a daring move of financial pressure on the United States and Great Britain, who are threatened in credits, and of political pressure on France. Before these nations are agitated the specter of revolution and the bugbear of European insecurity.

"We need only keep cool and see whether Germany makes us any offers."

Script to Be Paid Chicago Teachers

Board of Education's Action Ends Controversy With City Employes.

Chicago, July 13 (A.P.).—The Chicago Board of Education ended a controversy of several months by deciding today to pay teachers and other employes with script or certificates issued against tax anticipation warrants not yet sold.

James A. Hemingway, chairman of the finance committee, said, "Nobody is forced to accept the participation certificates but all who want them can get them at the secretary's office."

The teachers who have not been paid since April had resolved not to accept payment in script which will bear 6 per cent interest until $5,250,000 in tax anticipation warrants are sold.

TACIT MORAL CODE URGED BY MEXICAN

Foreign Secretary Estrada Hits Illusory Treaties As Hypocrisies.

Mexico City, July 13 (A.P.).—Foreign Secretary Genaro Estrada, speaking today before the seminar being held under the auspices of the committee for cultural relations with Latin America, declared it was time for the governments of the world to draw up "a tacit moral code" governing the relations of peoples. The governments, he said, should gradually abandon "all their illusory treaties, which are the flower of international hypocrisy."

At the same time, Senor Estrada said, it is opportune to break away from the "worn out custom" of holding conferences and congresses "whose best fruits are often exhibitions of rancors, disagreements and weaknesses."

It is an error, he asserted to believe that international relations are based upon the mutual confidence of peoples and governments.

"This is not true," he said, "although it would be very helpful to the world if it were true. I know of no two governments who have mutual confidence in each other, and this is one of the gravest calamities which overhangs the nations. The lack of confidence is universal, in spite of what the official statements say with automatic frequency."

The project to build a Nicaraguan canal, Senor Estrada asserted, would be commendable if all nations of the world were allowed to benefit from it and if its building would not involve "tramping upon" any nation's sovereignty. Such a canal, he said, could result in a feeling of amity throughout the world.

Although he has often expressed disagreement with the Monroe Doctrine and repeatedly pointed out that Mexico did not recognize it, Senor Estrada said he did not favor the notion of substituting for it some other continental agreement of American nations. Such action, he said, would isolate the world into three groups, Asia, Europe and America, whereas, in his opinion, the tendency should be away from groups and toward universalism.

Bureau Here Aids Police In Identifying Slayer

Los Angeles, Calif., July 13 (A.P.).—Thirty-six hours after being shot by a policeman, Herman Derker, alias Robert Winslow, 26, was identified today as the slayer of a Baltimore milk salesman and ordered held for Baltimore authorities on a charge of murder.

Derker was shot in the back early Sunday when he attempted to flee from a policeman, who halted his automobile, which officers said was stolen. The policeman pursued Derker for fleeing the scene of an accident. Officers said the wounded man's record was uncovered through communication with the National Identification Bureau at Washington, D. C.

Man Nabbed as Drunk After Auto Collision

Accused of having driven into and badly damaged a parked automobile on M street near Nineteenth northwest last night, Miles J. O'Connor, 31, was arrested and charged with driving while drunk. He gave his occupation as a clerk.

Charles Brook, colored, of Wilmington, Del., complained to police after the collision and O'Connor was arrested at the scene. The city directory lists Miles J. O'Connor, of Chevy Chase, as an attorney in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

28 COUNTRIES SIGN WORLD DRUG PACT

U. S. and Other Nations Are Expected to Join Act in Few Days.

Geneva, July 13 (A.P.).—Representatives of 28 nations tonight signed an international convention limiting the manufacture and regulating the distribution of narcotic drugs.

The treaty was the result of discussions of delegates from 56 nations which have been in progress here for seven weeks.

Other signatures, including that of the United States, are expected within the next few days.

Among the signers tonight were Germany, France, Holland, Switzerland, Great Britain and Japan, six of the leading manufacturing states. Turkey and Jugoslavia, two of the chief opium producing states, are not expected to sign at present.

500 Boys See Cronin Bat and Ball Awarded

More than 500 small boys were present last night at St. Gabriel's carnival, when one of their number, Alfred Driscoll, 12, of 5319 Illinois avenue northwest, was awarded a "big league" baseball and bat donated by Joe Cronin, shortstop of the Washington Nationals.

The second week of the church fete was opened with a parade of three bands from Rock Church road and New Hampshire avenue northwest, to the carnival grounds, where they gave massed and individual concerts.

Body of Inmate of Home For Aged Found in Field

The body of Robert Schutz, 67, who since July 6 had been missing from the Home for the Aged at Blue Plains, was found yesterday morning in an alfalfa field near the home. He was pronounced dead by Dr. A. N. Mefoy, of 3211 Fifth street southeast. Police said that there were no suspicious circumstances.

Orville Hemp, an employe of the institution, discovered the body while he was cutting alfalfa. Police removed the remains to the morgue and began the task of locating a son and daughter, whose addresses are not known to them.

Rookie Policemen Offer Blood to Save Comrade

Every rookie policeman in the police school volunteered to give blood yesterday to Raymond S. Evans, another rookie, who is in a serious condition in George Washington University Hospital, where he has been under treatment for pneumonia since May 12.

Lieut. Harvey G. Callahan issued the call. Every one in the class of 24 responded. Evans was appointed to the police force on April 23. He lives at 636 Fifteenth street northeast.

once. Maj. Franklin turned his ankle in getting out of the plane, and was himself consigned to bed shortly after arrival at the hospital.

It was Maj. Franklin who performed the first operation on the Army private. It was unsuccessful, but the Army doctor tried twice again before he saw it would be futile for him to make further efforts unaided. He called in Dr. W. E. Vandevere, a private physician of El Paso, who performed a fourth unsuccessful operation. Then Walter Reed Hospital was notified, and a plane got in readiness.

Walter Reed staff physicians last night denied that any effort had been made to bring Dr. Chevalier Jackson, Philadelphia eye, ear and nose specialist, here to view the case, although this possibility was suggested in El Paso dispatches.

Bridge Partially Brought Out.

Gen. Patterson said that Maj. Franklin in his first effort got the obstruction part of the way out, when a convulsion on the part of the patient caused it to become more deeply embedded than before.

He said the tissues of the esophagus have been so severely punctured that air has begun to accumulate, and infection has commenced to set in. The greatest danger, he said, lies in the patient's contracting pneumonia, or some form of septic infection.

When Nelson arrived at the hospital, X-ray pictures of his throat were turned over to the Walter Reed staff by Maj. Jackson. Maj. Brown ordered additional X-rays taken. Then a gastroscope was inserted within the esophagus and a thorough examination made.

Patient Calls for Aid.

It was not until later in the evening that Maj. Brown decided to operate. Meanwhile, the patient, gasping for breath, called alternately for a window to be thrown open, or for water. Four nurses, two orderlies and two doctors were in almost constant attendance.

Nelson, red-haired and tall, gasped as he was being taken from the plane at Bolling Field, "I'm all right."

He was said to have made two efforts to extract the teeth himself during the flight here, only succeeding in pushing the obstacle down farther. In addition to the five hour pause at Fort Sill, the plane bearing Nelson made stops at Muskogee, Okla., Scott Field, Belleville, Ind., and Dayton, Ohio.

Kin Seek Help as Man Asks Thrice About Son

Police protection for the family of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Stack was asked yesterday because of fears aroused when a tall man drove up in front of the house at 4619 Fifth street northwest three different times during the day and made inquiries concerning the couple's 3-year-old son, Charles Francis, jr.

Taken aback by the charge of newspaper reporters and photographers after they received the report from police, Mr. Stack was inclined to minimize the incident's significance and volunteered that the stranger simply may have been one of his son's admirers. The patrolman on the beat, however, was given special orders to pay particular attention to the Stack household.

Eight Officers of Army Die in Soviet Air Crash

Moscow, July 13 (A.P.).—Eight Russian army officers were killed today in an airplane accident near Albino, 30 miles West of Moscow.

The officers killed included Assistant Chief Triandafilow, of army headquarters, Kolenovsky, assistant chief of the mechanization department; a headquarters officer, two senior aviators, an observer and two technicians.

Woman Writes of Care For Sons, Leaps, Dies

Chicago, July 13 (A.P.).—A woman believed to be Mrs. Sarah Kolstner, 39, scribbled a pathetic note of solicitude for her two children and of love for her husband and then leaped from the ninth floor of a south side hotel to her death today.

She had registered, the hotel clerk said, as Mrs. Kolstner and her body was found an hour later. A note, addressed to her husband, Louis, read:

"I don't want to stand in the way of your folks. * * * Take care of the children very good. Have Harold's eyes tested twice a year. He might get cold if he sits on wet ground. Have Edward's tonsils removed and he will be all right. * * * You were always wonderful to me. I love you with all my heart—May God bless you."

RAIL MANAGEMENT TO BE SCRUTINIZED

Interstate Commission Seeks Data on Handling as Aid in Rate Inquiry.

(Associated Press.)

The management practices of American railroads will be scrutinized by the Interstate Commerce Commission before it rules on their petition for increased freight rates.

The investigation commenced yesterday was concerned with prices paid for fuel and practices in connection with the handling of coal at tidewater points, lake coal, private and freight cars, the spotting of cars at industries and construction and maintenance of sidings for shippers.

Hearings will be held at times and places to be announced later, with Commissioners Eastman, McManamy and Lee presiding.

Action Is Independent.

The commission, in announcing the investigation, said it was proceeding under its own motion. It ordered copies of the order served on all railroads subject to the interstate commerce act.

The danger that many millions of dollars of rail securities will become ineligible for life insurance, savings bank and other investment was impressed on the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday by two security holders' committees, who urged that the railroads be granted their requested 15 per cent increase in freight rates.

The two committees—one representing the bulk of the life insurance and savings bank interests, and the other, trust companies, fire insurance companies and institutions—emphasized the decrease in rail earnings, from the five-year average of 2.12 times fixed earnings to a predicted 1.27 times fixed earnings in 1931.

Savings Bank Requirements.

Bonds which do not earn 1.5 times fixed charges are ineligible for savings bank investment in New York State, and, the committees warned, will automatically be stricken from the eligible lists early in 1932, unless a marked appreciation develops, or unless the legal requirements are modified.

The life insurance companies and savings banks, which hold about $4,700,000,000 in rail bonds, say 20 of the 67 largest railroads probably will not earn their fixed charges in 1931, and 22 will earn then less than the legal 1.5 times. While other States do not have regulation so stringent as New York's, the impairment of the values that would follow the bonds' ineligibility in New York would greatly restrict their investment availability.

The committee representing other rail security holders pointed to decline in stock prices, and warned that investment in rail stocks would become virtually impossible unless rail earnings were increased.

Pacific Plane Back in Seattle.

ARMS PARLEY DATE CHANGE DISCUSSED

Question Is Raised Whether Events Will Permit February Session.

Paris, July 13 (A.P.).—The advisability of maintaining next February as the date fixed for the general disarmament conference was expected today to be discussed by Foreign Minister Briand, Secretary of State Stimson and Foreign Secretary Henderson of Great Britain.

A foreign office spokesman, questioned regarding a report from Rome that France will ask for postponement to June, said France would take no initiative leading to postponement but would see no inconvenience in adjournment.

It was the official view that the political situation in Europe has been changed since February was fixed for the conference. Beginning with the move toward an Austro-German economic union, political developments in Germany have brought another period in European politics. If this continues, the question is raised by France whether a disarmament conference in February would lead to profitable results.

The French disarmament memorandum passed on by the last cabinet minister, however, was expected to be handed to the British foreign secretary, as president of the disarmament conference, next Wednesday.

Rome, July 13 (A.P.).—Secretary of State Stimson had an informal talk over teacups at the American Embassy today with the British, French and German Ambassadors to Italy, who visited him to pay their respects.

The trips that Mr. Stimson will make to London, Berlin and Paris were discussed. The social gathering also afforded the Secretary of State an opportunity to tell the ambassadors about the political talks he has had in Italy. Tomorrow afternoon Mr. Stimson will leave for Paris.

Jury Is Selected To Try Diamond

Defense of Gangster Will Be Alibi, Counsel Says; Case Outlined.

Troy, N. Y., July 13 (A.P.).—The jury which will try Jack Diamond on a charge that he beat and tortured a Catskill Mountain truck driver was completed tonight. The last six were chosen at the night session ordered by Justice James C. Cropsey in an effort to fill the jury box on the first day of the trial. Sixty-one were called to select the twelve.

It had been expected that two to three days would be required to complete the jury, but the presiding justice, famous for his speedy trials, kept the business of the court moving at the double-quick, and when a long afternoon session was not enough promptly ordered a night session. Less than half the panel was called to fill the jury box.

Diamond stands charged with assault and gun carrying in the beating and torture of Grover Parks, truck driver. Immediately the jury was completed, opposing counsel swung into the outlines of the case for the jurors. Daniel H. Prior, chief defense counsel, revealed that the gangster's defense would be an alibi. He told the jury Diamond was not near Cairo, N. Y., the night Grover Parks said he was assaulted and tortured by Diamond.

Legs of Bathers Started Stoning

Purported Letter From One of Manila Mob Gives Reason.

Manila, July 13 (A.P.).—The Manila Bulletin today published a letter from a reputed member of a mob which yesterday stoned Americans gathered about an outdoor swimming pool, saying the Filipinos meant no harm and were attracted by the "white, pretty legs of the bathers."

Stone-throwing, in which several Americans were slightly injured, began after the Filipinos were ordered to leave the grounds of the Army and Navy Club. "We boys, numbering about 200, gathered in that place because we were interested with the white, pretty legs of the bathers," the purported letter said.

Despite this explanation, some Americans blamed the trouble on revival of Philippine independence agitation and a parade of 50,000 Filipinos held yesterday. The demonstration was reviewed by United States Senators Hawes, Missouri, and Pittman, Nevada. It admittedly was held in an attempt to further convince the senators of the desire of the islands for complete independence.

Both senators addressed the throng, saying they just had witnessed most convincing proof of the desire of the citizenry.

Vallee and Brother Win Race to Mother's Bedside

Radio Star, in Maine Homestead Without Bride, Says He Has Suspended All Engagements; Little Hope Held for Parent.

Westbrook, Me., July 13 (A.P.).—By plane and automobile, Rudy Vallee tonight reached the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Charles Vallee, who physicians believed might not live through the night.

Accompanied by his brother, William, in planes from New York and Boston, the radio crooner was rushed by automobile from Portland to the Vallee home here, behind a squad of motorcycle police.

He met his father on the porch, gripped his hand and asked:

"How is mother?"

The elderly woman had regained consciousness after a spinal operation only five minutes before her sons arrived.

They went immediately to her room where physicians were in constant attendance.

"Do you know them, mother?" the senior Vallee asked.

"Yes, it's Hubert and William," Mrs. Vallee answered slowly.

The radio star was quiet and spoke seldom during the trip from Boston, the pilot said. To newspapermen who asked him about his bride of a week whom he left in New York he answered that the condition of his mother wholly occupied his attention at the moment.

Later tonight he said that in deference to his mother's request he had suspended his radio and other engagements, including rehearsals for a new revue in New York, to remain home for the present.

He said the health of his wife, the former Fay Webb, prevented her from making the trip here either by plane or train. "She's got to go back to California soon, I fear," he said, explaining the Eastern climate was inimical to her.

METHODS TO SPEED RECOVERY OFFERED

MacMillan Committee Treats Plan for Corporation to Back World Loans.

London, July 13 (A.P.).—Methods to hasten world economic recovery were recommended today in a voluminous report of the MacMillan committee which for two years has been investigating world economics generally and British business specifically.

The report, issued in the form of a blue book, recommended that there be no tampering with the sterling gold standard, and that methods of compiling monthly and year-end bank statements be revised. It also discussed a proposal for a huge finance corporation to underwrite international and domestic flotations with the view of broadening channels in which easier credits might be used to expand industry.

Without making recommendations, the report also discussed means of giving the world industrial impetus such as increased exports, the patronage of home as against foreign manufacturers, increased domestic investments and reduction in salaries.

The report bears the signatures of the majority of the committee, but Lord Bradbury declined to sign. All the other members, with the exception of the chairman, Lord MacMillan, noted disagreement in one or more comparatively minor points.

Listing of Job-Seekers To Precede Work Drive

Enrollment of job seekers will precede the midsummer job campaign which will begin July 20 and terminate August 15, according to an announcement yesterday. This is to enable those who are not on the list of any public employment agency to be given a chance for work.

The enrollment will take place in the old St. James Hotel Building at Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, from 9 to 4 o'clock tomorrow, Thursday and Friday. The announcement emphasized that the enrollment will not take place at the committee rooms in the District Building.

Probation Plea Denied, Man Sentenced in Theft

Denying a plea for probation, Justice Peyton Gordon yesterday sentenced Harvey A. Lee to three years in the penitentiary because he entered a store with a duplicate key and stole $80 from the cash register.

Lee was employed at the Standard Automotive Supply Company, 1800 Fourteenth street northwest. On the night of June 14 he entered after the store had closed and took money he found in the cash register. He plead guilty and asked that he be placed on probation.

Straw Hat Saves Sleuth From Hurt

Man Throws Half-Gallon Jar at Rosenberg; Arrested Later.

Detective I. Rosenberg had a narrow escape from serious injury last night when a colored man, fleeing up a dark alley to escape arrest, threw a half-gallon jar at his head. A sailor straw hat broke the bottle's force and the policeman was not hurt. The hat was a total loss.

Rosenberg and his partner, Detective R. McNeil, had gone to an address in Johnson Court to await the delivery of liquor, as arranged by telephone. Becoming suspicious a moment after he entered the alley, their man took to his heels with the detectives in pursuit.

Leroy Morrison, 31, was captured about 50 feet from the spot where he allegedly tossed the jar at Rosenberg and taken to the station to be charged with illegal possession, breaking glass in the street and assault. The prisoner said he lives at 2048 E street northwest.

Oil Man Accused Of Fraud by Mail

Bodyguard and Accountant Also Held in Sale of Stock.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 13 (A. P.).—C. C. Julian, spectacular California and midcontinent oil operator, was arrested late today on a warrant charging fraudulent use of the mails.

Arrested with Julian were C. C. (Tex) Boren associate and personal bodyguard for Julian, and H. D. Topp, accountant for the C. C. Julian Oil & Royalties Co., the affairs of which recently figured in Federal and District court cases here.

The complaints on which they were arrested, signed by Roy St. Lewis, United States attorney, charged mail fraud in connection with six oil companies promoted here by Julian, alleging that more than $2,000,000 was obtained through the sale of trust certificates in the companies.

Julian's bail was fixed at $50,000 by George J. Eacock, United States commissioner and bonds for Topp and Boren were fixed at $10,000 each.

Two Capital Men Held in Robbery

One Says He Is Former G. W. Student, Stole to Avoid Starvation.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, July 13.—Alfred Vaughan, 38, who said he was a former student at George Washington University, in Washington, D. C., and his companion, Jack Allen, 22, of Los Angeles, were held today for grand jury action after they were arrested when they said they held up a cafeteria to "keep from starving."

Vaughan told police who arrested the two yesterday that he had looked for work three days without results, and that he robbed the restaurant to keep from starving. The men were arraigned before Magistrate Brodsky in West Side Court yesterday, when Vaughan said he had worked for a hotel in the Capital while attending school.

"Now, I'll have plenty of time to finish that law course at Sing Sing," he said when he was committed without bail to Tombs City Prison.

Boston Port Aid Accuses New York

McCoubrey Says Manhattan Takes Freight With Lower Rates.

New York, July 13 (A.P.).—W. W. McCoubrey, of the Boston Port Authority, testified today, as hearings in the New Jersey lighterage case were resumed before examiners of the Interstate Commerce Commission, that since April several cargoes of vegetable oils that previously would have been shipped through Boston were diverted to New York.

Equalization of freight rates, bringing the rate from New York to Canada down to the level of the rate from Boston to Canada, and unloading allowances made by the railroads for the benefit of the shipper in the port of New York were responsible for this, he said.

Mr. McCoubrey appeared as a witness for the Port of Boston, which with the State of New Jersey, is a complainant in the case. His testimony was finally heard after repeated objections from attorneys for the city and State of New York and the 70 railroads and steamship lines, which are defendants in both actions.

RECALL IS ISSUED MONTGOMERY JURY

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

The Montgomery County petit jury was recalled in an order issued yesterday by Judge Robert B. Peter in Circuit Court at Rockville. The jury will be recalled on July 27 to hear condemnation cases, according to the order.

The judge stated that several important condemnation cases require prompt attention for the public good. The petit jury is the one impaneled for the March term of court.

The major condemnation cases pending are three filed on behalf of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, in connection with the development of the Sligo Creek Parkway by J. Bond Smith, counsel for the planning commission. They relate to property owned by R. N. Baggott, Frank Heath and J. N. Holland, at the junction of Flower avenue and Sligo Creek in the J. H. Cissel addition to Silver Spring. They are the three remaining parcels necessary for the completion of the second section of the Sligo Creek Parkway.

The owners have refused the offers made by the park and planning commission and the commission has had recourse in the condemnation proceedings, which were authorized, where an amicable agreement could not be reached, by the State Legislature.

William A. Kingsbury, 3921 Morrison street northwest, Washington contractor, failed to appear in Police Court at Rockville yesterday to answer charges of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and his collateral of $102.50 was ordered forfeited by Judge Charles W. Woodward.

Kingsbury was arrested by Sergt. Guy L. Jones, of the Silver Spring Substation, Montgomery County police, after Irving C. Root, chief engineer of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, had risked his life to bring the careening car of the contractor to a halt, police said. Mr. Root drove in front of the Kingsbury car and gradually slowed down, forcing him to halt only after he had been bumped three times.

The executive and advisory committee of the Montgomery County Civic Federation will meet tomorrow night at 6 o'clock at the National Press Club to consider the request of the Montgomery County commissioners that a list of twelve competent, nationally known public accountant firms be compiled by the committee and presented.

The civic federation list and a similar one to be prepared by a committee of county bank presidents will be used by the commissioners in the selection of an accountancy firm to audit the accounts of the county for the past sixteen years. This move is to restore public confidence in the integrity of the county officials and records, which have been attacked in a relentless war by members of the opposing factions in the county.

George H. Hunter, president of the Montgomery County National Bank, at Rockville, is making inquiries among the bankers to determine a date suitable to all of the group for a meeting at which the list will be discussed. There is no county banking organization and the banker group represents practically every bank in the country.

Surveyors for the Maryland State Roads Commission yesterday started work on the survey of Rockville Pike in preparation for the widening of the main artery of Montgomery county to the west to 30 feet, as authorized by the commission last week. Five-foot-wide shoulders of concrete will be constructed on each side of the present 20-foot road and the center will be filled in with bituminous material.

Another survey party is working on the section which will be needed in laying sidewalks along Wisconsin avenue between Bradley Lane and the District Line. The county commissioners plan early construction of the Wisconsin avenue improvements.

Surfacing of Cedar Lane from Old Georgetown road to the Baptist Home has been completed and the road is now open to traffic, according to County Commissioner Robert D. Hagner, in charge of the western suburban district. It has been straightened in several places and surfaced with cinders.

A joint meeting of the Epworth Leagues of the Methodist Episcopal Churches at Damascus, Washington Grove and Gaithersburg was held Sunday night at the Epworth M. E. Church, Gaithersburg, with the Gaithersburg group as hosts. This is the second of a series of joint meetings, the first having been held at Washington Grove.

The visitors were welcomed by Miss Elizabeth Virts, president of the Gaithersburg League. The principal speaker was Gordon Barnes, of the District of Columbia League. The meeting closed with group prayers.

Robbers early yesterday attempted to enter the Bealle Filling Station at Ashton, but were frightened away by a burglar alarm. A door had been forced, but nothing was missing.

Samuel Harriss, colored, of Halpine, was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon yesterday by Judge Charles W. Woodward in county police court at Rockville. Harriss was arrested Saturday by Rockville police after Wallace Simms, colored, of Halpine, swore out a warrant alleging that he had fired a shot at him from a revolver.

Funeral services for Floyd F. Graves, 14 years old, of Sligo avenue, Silver Spring, who was killed Friday in an automobile accident on the road between Four Corners and Seeks Corner, were held yesterday at the funeral home of W. W. Chambers. Burial was in Bethel Cemetery, Alexandria, Va., beside his mother, who was buried about three weeks ago.

Robert Tyler, also of Silver Spring, who was the driver of the car, is in Georgetown Hospital recovering from concussion of the brain and is expected to leave the hospital in about a week. He will face charges of reckless driving.

The Montgomery County Commissioners today will open bids on an issue of $1,500,000 in county bonds authorized by the last session of the State Legislature to finance a program of school and road building.

The bonds will be dated August 1, 1931, bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent, and are payable as follows: $20,000 each year from 1933 to 1937, both inclusive; $25,000 each year from 1938 to 1940, both inclusive; $90,000 1938 to 1940, both inclusive; $30,000 clusive; $50,000 each year from 1951 to 1960, both inclusive, and $40,000 in 1961 and 1962 each.

POSTOFFICE RETIRES AID IN CHEVY CHASE

Frank Byram Is Paid Honor by Fellow Workers; Presented With Chair.

Frank Byram, for 43 years an employe of the Postoffice Department and for the past 18 years assistant postmaster at Chevy Chase, Md., yesterday was retired from service. He will be 67 years old Friday.

Mr. Byram, who lives at 3413 Holmead place northwest, was given a farewell reception in the Chevy Chase Library yesterday morning and was presented with a Cogswell chair by his associates. The presentation was made by Charles Hurley, postmaster, with whom Mr. Byram opened the postoffice 18 years ago.

Mrs. Carrie Byram, his wife, who is director of music at Eastern High School, was taken to the surprise party and played the accompaniment for Miss Beatrice Goodwin, who sang several solos. A bouquet was presented to Mrs. Byram.

Charles Knockley and Arthur Dean, station examiners of the Postoffice Department, also were present, as well as were all of the 20 mail carriers of the office.

Capital Legion Plans Convention

Veterans Start Sessions August 5 With 24 Posts Attending.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the annual convention of the District of Columbia Department of the American Legion, which will be held in the auditorium of the Buchanan School, Thirteenth and E streets southeast, August 5, 6 and 7. The convention will be composed of approximately 250 delegates and alternates from the 24 American Legion posts in the District of Columbia.

The American Legion parade to be held in conjunction with the convention will start August 5 at 7 p. m. at New Jersey avenue and B street southeast.

A special feature of the program will be a block dance held under the auspices of the Southeast Business Men's Association, this feature to be open to members of the community, the delegates and alternates to the convention and their guests. Prizes will be awarded both by the legion and the Southeast Business Men's Association for the best marching units, drum corps and floats. Floats will also be entered in the parade by a number of business firms in the Southeast section.

Front Royal Man Shoots Self, Dies

Special to The Washington Post.

Front Royal, Va., July 13.—David Moloney died early Monday morning in the Winchester Memorial Hospital, from a self-inflicted wound sustained at his home here on Manor avenue Sunday afternoon. No reason can be attributed for the act. He is said to have gone upstairs to get his pistol and then into the garden, where he shot himself below the heart. He was given first aid treatment by Dr. E. L. Grubbs and sent to the hospital.

Mr. Moloney was 30 years of age and had been employed at the Front Royal remount depot as horse trainer for the past fifteen years.

He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Elizabeth Wilson, and one small son, seven sisters and three brothers.

No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The name of Hugh Reid, member of the House of Delegates, who seeks reelection at the coming November election, will not appear on the Democratic primary ballot in August, according to announcement yesterday of William L. Bragg, county Democratic chairman. Mr. Reid is unopposed.

Chairman Bragg stated that inasmuch as Mr. Reid has no opposition, all that is necessary is to declare him the party's nominee. He will be opposed at the general election by J. Foster Hagan, Republican. Reports from Prince William and Arlington counties and the city of Alexandria indicate that Charles T. Jesse is in the lead over his opponent, John Rust, of Fairfax County, for the State Senate. It is said the race in Fairfax County, home of Mr. Rust, will be close.

Of the possible 6,000 vote in November it is predicted the vote in the primary will not exceed 2,500.

Amid the blazing of hundreds of colored electric lights, the annual carnival of the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department opened last night on the grounds adjacent to its firehouse. The affair will continue all week.

The grounds are filled by attractive booths.

Chief A. C. Scheffel is general chairman in charge of the arrangements, with Mrs. George F. Cook, president of the ladies' auxiliary, chairman in charge of the ladies' stands. They are assisted by the following assistant chairmen: Charles Snoots, Carl Scheffel, Thomas Snoots, Daniel Ritnour, Elmer Blackmer, William McAtee, Mrs. Elmer Blackmer and Mrs. John E. Bamforth.

Newly elected officers of Arlington Lodge, No. 193, I. O. O. F., will be installed tonight at a meeting in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon by Claude W. Crossman, district deputy grand master of Odd Fellows in Virginia, assisted by his staff.

Those to be installed are Walter B. Huffman, noble grand; R. P. Tucker, vice grand; J. W. Myers, treasurer, and C. P. Heines, financial secretary.

The Arlington-Fairfax Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will hold its July meeting tonight at the Arlington Fire Department's firehouse. Chief A. C. Scheffel is chairman of the committee on arrangements for the meeting for the Arlington Department. The ladies' Auxiliary will serve refreshments.

The county board of supervisors will meet at the courthouse tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Capt. Crandal Mackey, former Commonwealth's attorney for Arlington County, will appear before the board to ask that the board file suit in the Circuit Court of Arlington County to test the constitutionality of the act of the General Assembly at its 1930 session providing for a new form of government for the county.

Capt. Mackey contends the stitution of the State provides fo ds of supervisors and magisto s- tricts and that the act as pa by the General Assembly does not have the power to abolish either the boards of supervisors or magisterial districts.

Pleading guilty to a charge of voluntary manslaughter, William Dockery, alias William Fox, colored, was sentenced to serve five years in the State Penitentiary at Richmond, by Circuit Court Judge Walter T. McCarthy.

Dockery was indicted by the grand jury at the June term for the murder of Dallas Irving.

Henry Williams, colored, pleading guilty to mayhem, was sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary by Judge McCarthy. Williams was indicted at the June term for attacking McKinley Walker, also colored, with a dangerous weapon.

Thomas Phillips, of the law firm of Jesse, Phillips & Klinge, who attended the recent annual international convention of Rotary International at Vienna, Austria, returned to Arlington yesterday.

Mr. Phillips attended the convention as the delegate from both the Arlington County and Alexandria City Rotary Clubs.

The Arlington County Kiwanis Club will meet tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock at Windsor Arms on Glebe road.

FIRE AUXILIARY PLAN TO COVER MARYLAND

Hyattsville Woman Head to Seek Membership In Every County.

Letters are being sent by the temporary State-wide auxiliary to the Maryland Volunteer Firemen's Association in an effort to have local auxiliaries formed in every county of the State, according to Mrs. John J. Painter, of Hyattsville. At present, only four counties, Prince Georges, Cecil, Worcester and Montgomery, have women's auxiliaries to county associations.

The temporary State auxiliary was formed last week at the annual firemen's convention in Ocean City. It was decided to form local groups in each county in the State before setting up a closely organized State auxiliary. Mrs. John J. Painter, president of the women's auxiliary of the Hyattsville department, is president of the State organization, and Mrs. Geneva Stewart, of the Riverdale Heights Auxiliary, is secretary of the temporary group.

The campaign being inaugurated under direction of Mrs. Painter is intended to have the county auxiliaries formed before the 1932 convention in Frostburg, when it is planned to organize the State group and close the charter membership. It is planned that later a chairman will be appointed in each county to direct organization work.

The State auxiliary will include in its program the raising of money to send firemen to the fire-fighting school at the University of Maryland and the organization of relief and first-aid groups.

In announcing the organization plans, Mrs. Painter pointed out that her auxiliary hopes to send three, and possibly four, members of the Hyattsville department to the firemen's school. She also stated that reports that entrants in the school are required to have certain educational requirements are untrue. Any fireman who is sent to the school may take the course, which consists wholly of practical instruction in fire fighting and prevention, she said.

W. W. James, Jr., son of Councilman James, of Mount Rainier, will appear in Hyattsville Police Court tomorrow to face charges of speeding at more than 25 miles an hour, and other charges that he went home at a rate higher than 60 miles an hour after being released on collateral on the first count.

According to police at the Hyattsville substation, James was arrested by Constable Howard Slater while in Hyattsville. Slater charged him with a speed over 25 miles an hour and driving without license or registration card, and he posted collateral of $25.

Although policemen say they warned James not to drive his car until he procured the necessary credentials, he is alleged to have gotten into it outside the police station and driven it home. Slater and Policeman Ralph Brown pursued him to his home, arresting him again as he reached his garage. He was then taken before Judge Robert E. Joyce and charged with speeding in excess of 60 miles per hour, reckless driving and driving without license or registration card. He was released on bond furnished by his father.

First report of Brice Bowie since he took office as treasurer of Prince Georges County shows that residents are paying their taxes more promptly this year than they did last, with a total of $252,164.50 in county taxes already collected.

The bulk of this sum, $243,064.30, was collected on account of the 1931 general levy, while only $582.12 was collected on the current levy on stocks and bonds. Rolling stock brought in only $3,984.83, while domestic corporation taxes brought in 15 cents.

The Edmonston road tax No. 1 accounted for $654.14, while tax No. 2 produced $1,094.71. Back collections were $74.28 for 1929, $2.35 for 1927, $33.93 for 1928, and $674.73 for 1930. Interest on these sums was $52.96.

This report, for the quarter ending June 30, did not include sums collected in State taxes or amounts collected for the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission and the National Capitol Park and Planning Commission.

Work of laying water mains along the Marlboro pike to District Heights, under an extension of the sanitary commission's district granted by the recent legislature, has been completed, removing fears of another water shortage in a number of developments in this vicinity.

Prior to extension of water to District Heights, residents of this community were limited to what water they could draw in a daily fifteen-minute period, as both a well and spring which had supplied water to this system had failed. Both District Heights and Greater Capitol Heights now have the water, and service will soon be extended to Boulevard Heights and Bradbury Heights.

T. Howard Duckett, chairman of the Sanitary Commission, said that pressure in the new mains is being maintained by a pump for the time being. In time, however, a regular pumping station and standpipe will be installed.

Extension of the commission's district was won by efforts of citizens of District Heights, whose water supply was curtailed in last summer's drought. Their delegation called on Prince Georges members of the House of Delegates and succeeded in having th extension authorized.

Possibility of a lockup for the town of Mount Rainier is seen, following instructions issued to Corporation Counsel Bird H. Dolby and the purchasing committee of the Town Council to investigate the possibility of buying some cells from abandoned police stations in Washington.

Suggestion that the purchase of cells be considered was made by Mayor John H. Beall, who also suggested the unused station's equipment. Several councilmen, however, doubt the need for a town jail, pointing out that very few criminals under town ordinances would be imprisoned.

Conference on Finances Of U. S. Lines Recesses

New York, July 13 (A.P.).—An all-day conference between members of the United States Shipping Board, executives of the United States Lines and other lines in which the Government is interested, was adjourned today without reaching a definite decision on the financial state of the United States Lines.

The conference will be resumed tomorrow.

TRUCK TURNS OVER, DRIVER NOT INJURED

Falls Church Man Escapes Hurts as Brakes Fail to Stop Machine.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

Gardner Brown, 25, of Falls Church, narrowly escaped injury yesterday morning when the truck he was driving turned over twice. According to Deputy Sheriff Henry Magarity, who investigated the accident, Brown was driving the 3-ton truck loaded with building stone along the Lee highway in the town of Falls Church near Columbia street when the brakes failed to work as he started down the hill toward East Falls Church. Brown attempted to stop the truck by pulling into the curb, and when it failed to stop, and to avoid hitting a passenger car in his path, Brown pulled the truck toward a field on the opposite side of the road. As the truck left the paved highway it collided with several telephone poles which were laying along the right-of-way and, combined with the soft dirt, caused the truck to overturn and demolishing it. Witnesses rushed to the scene expecting to find Brown dead, but were surprised to see him crawl from the wreckage unhurt. He refused medical treatment. The truck he was driving belonged to his father, who prevailed on Brown to submit to an examination by a doctor.

William Able was appointed conservator of the peace of the Protestant Episcopal Theological Seminary in Falls Church magisterial district yesterday by Judge Walter T. McCarthy, of the Fairfax County Circuit Court.

Eight motorists yesterday were fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Harry Shepherd, at Accotink, on a charge of reckless driving preferred by Fairfax County Policeman Arthur W. Mills. The arrests occurred on the Washington-Richmond highway, between Groveton and Woodbridge. The motorists fined were J. T. Murnane, of Baltimore; Emerson W. Giles, of Berwyn, Md.; R. O. Simmons, of Baltimore; C. Sanderson, of Philadelphia; Marvin Johnston, of Washington; Bird Tyree, of Alexandria; C. E. Parsons, of Washington, and B. U. Elliott, of Norfolk, Va. W. R. Arrington, of Agnesville, Va., was fined $5 and costs for driving on the wrong side of a white line.

J. R. Davis, of Earlyville, Va., was arrested by Policeman Mills on a charge of reckless driving and colliding when the car he was driving sideswiped the car of Norman Grimsley, of Mount Vernon, on the Washington-Richmond highway at Engleside. Davis was fined $10 and costs by Justice Shepherd.

Mack E. Green, of 17 D street southeast, Washington, was fined $15 and costs by Justice of the Peace John T Moling, at Falls Church, after he had been arrested by Fairfax County Policeman Carl McIntosh, on the Lee highway, near Merrifield, for reckless driving and cutting in and out of traffic at a high rate of speed.

William Spicer, of Baltimore, was arrested by Capt. Haywood J. Durrer, of the county police, for reckless driving. Spicer was taken before Justice Shepherd and fined $9 and costs on the charge. The offense took place on the Washington-Richmond highway, near Engleside.

The Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the Franklin Sherman High School at McLean. Secretary C. C. Carr has mailed notices to all members urging them to attend the meeting, as special business will be brought to the attention of the chamber for action.

District Deputy Grand Master Clark Crossman and a degree team from the Falls Church Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, installed the new officers of Accotink Lodge, No. 75, I. O. O. F., at a recent meeting. The official visitation of Grand Masters Frederick L. Flynn, of Alexandria, was made at this time. The officers installed include: Edward Stevenson, past grand; H. K. Hasle, noble grand; Frank Akin, vice grand, and J. S. Pettit, treasurer.

The Baptist Young People's Union, at McLean, has elected Haydn Davis, president; Miss Mary Cline, vice president; Arthur Cline, secretary; Miss Ruth Ramey, corresponding secretary, and C. A. Grubb, treasurer. Mrs. W. P. Davis was made Bible reader quiz leader, Mrs. R. C. Cline, pianist, and Chance Gensler, chorister. The local union will send delegates to Del Ray this evening to the executive meeting of the Eastern Potomac Baptist Young People's Union.

T. Howard Duckett, chairman of the Sanitary Commission, said that pressure in the new mains is being maintained by a pump for the time being. In time, however, a regular pumping station and standpipe will be installed.

The ten-day revival services, which were reported would be held in the Southern Methodist Church at Fairfax will be held in the Methodist Church at Centerville by the Rev. Royal A. Rice, of Fairfax. Services will be held each evening in the Centerville Church.

The Fairfax Town Council has ordered the grading and graveling of Payne street, between the sidewalk and the present paved surface of the Chain Bridge road. Cedar street, from the railroad tracks to the fair grounds, will also receive the grading and graveling treatments.

AIRING FAILS TO END RAIL TRACKS BATTLE

Discussion on Line Between Alexandria and Capital to Be Held Today.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

William B. McGroarty and J. William May represented the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce and Carl Budwesky, city attorney, represented the City of Alexandria at a meeting yesterday afternoon of Robert L. May, owner of the electric railway line between this city and Washington, and Treasury officials, held in Washington, to consider the removal of the railway tracks and abandonment of the trolley line as a means of communication between the two cities.

The matter will be taken up again today, and indications are that each of the District authorities is looking at the case from the angle it most deeply affects his particular case, and some common ground will have to be met to arrive at any solution of the traffic problem.

The Treasury Department is interested in getting the triangle cleared for the building program; the District Commissioners are endeavoring to have tracks cleared in the neighborhood of Water street, or improved if they are to remain, and R. L. May, owner of the line, is interested in having the Treasury Department arrange some plan to have Congress pay him for the trackage to be removed in the triangle, so that he may improve other lines of tracks and still give adequate commutation service between Alexandria and Washington.

Committees from the chamber of commerce and the city officials will make a concerted effort to get sufficient people interested to present a petition to the Public Utilities Commission that the tracks be permitted to cross Pennsylvania avenue and have a terminal at Eleventh and E streets, as the place proposed by them, Constitution avenue and Fourteenth street, will seriously interfere with the patronage of the road.

Announcement by a representative of the Treasury Department that all sides to the controversy regarding disposition of the tracks were "much nearer" a final agreement was made after the conference.

After the meeting yesterday attorneys and officials of the electric railroad held a conference in the former's offices at which valuation matters, besides the encounter with the Treasury officials were discussed.

Present at yesterday's meeting also were: Assistant Secretary Ferry K. Heath and E. R. Whitman, of the supervising architect's office, for the Government, and William R. Roberts, of the Public Utilities Commission.

A fire alarm about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon was caused by the burning of an outbuilding at Rose Hill, several miles out of the city limits on Telegraph road, and Fire Co. No. 4 responded. The building was destroyed, with damage of about $2,000, but the fire was prevented from spreading to other buildings.

Rose Hill is owned by Peter A. Drury, of Washington, and was formerly known as the West place.

The meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, to have been held tonight, has been postponed to Tuesday, July 21, at the home of Mrs. Tyson Jenney, in Russell road, at 8 o'clock that evening.

The funeral of Mrs. Bertha Cox, wife of Robert H. Cox, who died on Friday last, was held yesterday afternoon from the home, 1908 King street, conducted by the Rev. Pierce S. Elliam, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and burial was in Ivy Hill Cemetery. Active pallbearers were members of the Valiant Knights Bible Class, of which Sergt. Cox is teacher, and were Joseph Rodgers, Wilson Davis, Ervin Brooks, Archie Millan, Elmer Moore, Preston Lawhorne, George Bartlett, David Bayliss, jr., George Peyton and Arnolf Groves. Other 52 members of the class served as honorary pallbearers.

Fred C. Goodnow, president of the Rotary Club, will preside at the luncheon meeting of the club at 12:30 o'clock today, at George Mason Hotel.

Newly elected officers of Liberty Rebekah Lodge of Odd Fellows will be installed tonight in Odd Fellows Hall, North Columbus street, by District Deputy Mrs. Viola Hudson. Mrs. Lily V. Cunningham, recently elected State president, will pay her official visit to the lodge.

Joe Smith, colored, a convict working on a road camp near Manassas, attempted to escape yesterday and was shot by a guard at the camp and brought to the Alexandria Hospital for treatment. Dr. S. B. Moore treated the man for wounds in his head and neck.

SENTENCE OF FALL TO BE FIXED TODAY

Justice Bailey Will Decide About Suggested Addition of One Day.

(Associated Press.)

A decision on the proposed addition of a day to the one-year sentence of Albert B. Fall is to be rendered today by Justice Jennings Bailey of the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

The case came up yesterday and, after a conference with attorneys, Justice Bailey postponed action. The change was suggested so that Fall, now old and sick, may serve his term in a climate more conducive to health than that of Washington.

Fall, Secretary of the Interior under President Harding, was convicted in 1929 of having accepted a bribe of $100,000 from Edward L. Doheny in connection with the famous lease of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve to a Doheny company. In addition to the jail sentence, a fine of $100,000, not yet paid, was imposed.

No reason was given for yesterday's delay. Justice Bailey talked with Frank Hogan, Fall's attorney, and with District Attorney Leo A. Rover and then announced the postponement.

Department of Justice officials would not comment on a suggestion that the delay might have been caused by the absence of Attorney General Mitchell, who will designate the prison where Fall will serve. Mitchell is expected to return tomorrow from St. Paul.

Fall's personal physician has suggested that the New Mexico Penitentiary be chosen, instead of the El Paso, Tex., jail, which has been mentioned as a possible place for confinement.

Fall's home is in Three Rivers, N. Mex., but he has been in El Paso for several weeks.

Sante Fe, N. Mex., July 13 (A.P.).—Warden Ed Swope of the New Mexico Penitentiary, today telegraphed A. B. Bennett, at the Department of Justice in Washington, that he is willing to accept Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, as a prisoner.

"Will you be willing to accept A. B. Fall as prisoner? Usual terms. Reply at once." read an earlier telegram to Warden Swope from Bennett.

The usual terms referred to consist of $1 a day paid by the Government for keep of Federal prisoners. The money includes clothing, food and lodging.

'Trader Horn' Star Wins Alien Fight

(Associated Press.)

Duncan Renaldo, film actor, who rose to stardom in "Trader Horn," has won the right to stay in the United States unless the Labor Department can find conclusive proof he is an alien.

A warrant of arrest issued some time ago for him has been quashed, officials said last night, because the Government could not prove its original charge that he was a Roumanian.

The film star, officials said, contended he was born an American in Camden, N. J., and taken to Roumania when very small. He said he came to the United States in 1923 as a seaman, leaving in 1929 on an American passport to Africa to make "Trader Horn."

Following the challenging of his citizenship, an inquiry in Roumania disclosed a birth certificate for a man of similar history but a different name.

Clarendon Youth Is Struck by Auto

Bicyclist Escapes Serious Injury; Man Nabbed on Rum Charge.

Dante Benedette, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benedette, of Clarendon, narrowly escaped serious injury when struck by an automobile said to have been operated by Shelton F. Davis, 49 years old, of Villa road, Aurora Heights, Arlington County, early last night.

Davis, who allegedly left the scene of the accident, later was arrested at his home by Officer Vernon Wilt, of the Arlington County police force. He was taken to the county jail where he was charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor and hit and run.

Preacher in Louisiana Passes 24-Hour Mark

Cotton Valley, La., July 13 (A.P.).—The Rev. E. A. Sandifer, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, passed the 24-hour mark at 11 o'clock today in his attempt to set an endurance record for preaching, and was still going strong.

Beginning at the regular Sunday morning service, he started preaching on "The Books of Paul" and has not ceased talking since.

At 7 a. m. he surpassed the record of a Los Angeles, Calif., minister who preached for more than twenty hours. At that hour Mr. Sandifer did not even pause for breath.

ANNAPOLIS RENAMES QUENSTEDT MAYOR

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., July 13.—Mayor Walter E. Quenstedt, Republican, was reelected in today's municipal election over Col. John DeP. Douw, Democrat, by a majority of 3 votes. The result did not come as a decided surprise except perhaps to the most dyed-in-the-wool Democrats, but the big upset came in the defeat of George B. Woelfel, Democrat, for city counselor, the final returns giving his Republican opponent, Roscoe C. Rowe, a majority of 26.

Though losing the head of their ticket, the Democrats will continue in control of the county, the complexion of which will be six Democrats, against four Republicans. The Democrats elected their aldermanic candidates, two from each the First, Second and Third Wards, while the Republicans reelected their two councilmen from the Fourth Ward or "black belt."

When the final count was announced and Mayor Quenstedt was apprised that he had pulled through by a margin of 3, he was quick to remark that he will ever have abiding faith in the "hoodoo number," recalling that the election was held on the thirteenth of the month, and that when he voted he drew ballot 94, the two digits added making 13.

The total vote of the rival candidates for mayor was Quenstdet, 1,219; Douw, 1,216 and for counselor, Rowe, 1,195, Woelfel, 1,169. Two years ago Quenstedt was elected on the early returns by a majority of 23, but his defeated Democratic opponent demanded a recount and the majority was reduced to a lone vote.

Washington Man Held As Kind-Hearted Thief

Roselle Park, N. J., July 13 (A.P.).—Thomas Stanton, alias Thomas B. Davis, who said he was born in Washington, D. C., is being questioned by police here as the bandit who was too kind-hearted to take $18 in small change from a lunch wagon at 4:30 o'clock this morning.

The robber was impressed by the hard-luck story of the night cook and returned the money. He was caught at Carwood on a telegraph alarm.

COAL CONFERENCE OUTLOOK DARKENS

(Associated Press.)

Representatives of the United Mine Workers of America importuned two Cabinet members yesterday for a Government-called conference on the bituminous coal industry's troubles.

No conclusions were reached however, at the three-hour meeting.

Another conference will be held this afternoon.

Neither Secretary Doak nor John L. Lewis, president of the mine workers, would give the slightest sign of optimism as they adjourned. Secretary Lamont, the other Government official, would not comment.

Representatives of the mine operators conferred last week with Lamont and Doak, but said they could see no benefits to be accomplished by a general meeting of various elements in the industry.

"The situation is desperate," Lewis said yesterday, "and it is steadily getting worse. We have publicly asked the President to call a conference and we think that the misery from the human standpoint alone demands it. Further than that I don't care to say until this session is over. Then I may say something."

Besides the Cabinet members and Mr. Lewis, those taking part in the conference were Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers; Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer; Van A. Bittner, special representative of the mine workers for northern West Virginia; James Marks and P. T. Fagan, presidents of two Pennsylvania districts; William Houston, international representative for southern West Virginia; William Turnblazer, president of District 19, East Kentucky and Tennessee; Ed Morgan, special representative for west Kentucky; Lee Hall, president of District 6, Ohio, and Percy Tetlow, of the same district; David McDonald, assistant to the vice president of the United Mine Workers, and K. C. Adams.

Duke Trusts Exempted By Tax Appeals Board

(Associated Press.)

Two trusts aggregating $36,834,000, created by the late James B. Duke for his daughter, Doris Duke, today were held exempt from Federal estate taxes by the Board of Tax Appeals.

The board overruled the Commissioner of Internal Revenue who included the trusts in Duke's gross estate and sought to collect a $9,040,000 deficiency tax. It allowed a deficiency of $500,000, which was admitted by the executors of Duke's will. Duke died in October, 1925, leaving an estate valued for tax purposes at $101,806,000, exclusive of the trusts established for his daughter in 1917.

Pantages Is Freed In Girl Slave Case

Immorality Charges Are Dropped; Still Faces Assault Retrial.

San Diego, Calif., July 13 (A.P.).—Alexander Pantages, theater magnate, walked out of Superior Judge L. N. Turrentine's Court today smiling happily and free from the "girl market" charges.

District Attorney Tom Whelan made the motion which resulted in the dismissal of the conspiracy and morals complaints against the multimillionaire and three codefendants and closed another chapter of the colorful life story of the Greek immigrant boy who made good in the show business.

Pantages was accused, with three others, of bringing Lydia Nitto, a minor, to a hotel party here for immoral purposes.

They were tried once, but the jurors were deadlocked, 9 to 3, the majority favoring acquittal, and a retrial was ordered.

The multimillionaire faces retrial in Los Angeles on a charge of criminally assaulting Eunice Pringle, a young dancer. He was convicted on the charge late in 1929, but won a new trial on appeal.

6,833,000 Gallons Of 'Drinks' Seized

Federal Agents' Activity in Last Fiscal Year Told in Report.

The seizure by Federal dry agents of more than 1,833,000 gallons of illicit liquor and 5,000,000 gallons of beer during the last fiscal year was announced yesterday by the Prohibition Bureau.

The figures showed that from July 1, 1930, to June 30, 1931, there were approximately 70,000 dry law cases in which arrests were made. From these cases were imposed 35,650 fines aggregating $5,511,000. In addition, 29,470 violators were sentenced to jail for a total of more than 18,383 years. Incidental in the effort was the seizure of 21,375 distilleries and stills, more than 27,800 beer fermenters and 8,260 automobiles.

The Prohibition Bureau also made public the record of Federal dry law enforcement during June. Nearly 2,000 stills and distilleries were seized, along with nearly 500,000 gallons of beer and 157,000 gallons of illicit liquor. Sentences were imposed on 2,719 violators and 2,934 others were fined.

APPROACHING THE CRISIS.

The German crisis is moving toward a rapid climax. Conditions approaching panic are reported from Berlin. Germany must have outside aid to prevent a financial and possibly a political collapse. Confidence is at a low ebb. But powerful forces have been marshaled to aid Germany through this crucial period. It does not seem possible that the governments of Europe would allow the German republic to fall.

France has offered to lend money to Germany under conditions which the Bruening cabinet has not seen fit to accept. The fact that money is in sight if Germany wishes to make guarantees to France suggests that a way out of these difficulties will be found. Would Chancellor Bruening risk a collapse of the government rather than submit to the demands of the French? It is true that he is between the devil and the deep blue sea. The Hitlerites stand ready to take advantage of any concessions the government might make to France. If Chancellor Bruening could not command the support of the German people for his program, it would be idle for him to consider the French offer further.

On the other hand, there is ground for belief that the German government is holding out as long as it is possible against further concessions, and that it will yield rather than to plunge the country in chaos. Germany's insistence on the right to build a battleship in this critical period is particularly unreasonable. When the very life of the republic is imperiled, construction of a battleship seems trivial. Germany is disarmed under any circumstances. This one vessel would add little to the national security. It does not seem possible that the German people would use a concession on this point as an excuse to overturn the government.

Likewise the proposed Austro-German customs union is of small consequence beside the fate of the German republic. Chancellor Bruening is too shrewd a statesman to risk a collapse of his government on issues of this character. Either the opposition at home, which is demanding that Germany stand firm against further concessions, is more formidable than it appears, or else the government must be holding out against compromise in the hope of bringing France to better terms. In that event Germany can be expected to yield before approaching too close to the brink of disaster.

No one could gain by Germany's collapse. In that event the Hitlerites would probably take over the national authority after a struggle with the Communists. Europe would have a new Germany to deal with. The Fascists aim to revise the treaty of Versailles and to end reparations. All Europe would be upset if they should obtain the helm of the German government. Germany itself would take a plunge toward chaos, probably resulting in deeper depression.

In view of this fact it seems unreasonable to suppose that European governments will allow the financial crisis to materialize. Each government appears to be willing to help. The United States stands ready to give assistance when European financial institutions point the way. When such stupendous forces are at play situations may be changed overnight. Conditions do not warrant loss of confidence that Germany will be saved.

CARRYING DOLLARS ABROAD.

Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, and his able actuaries have made a serious study of the balance of international payments, bringing to light many interesting facts. For instance, the balance of trade is sometimes tilted by the outpouring of invisible wealth in the hands of tourists—money spent for such intangible commodities as people purchase on holidays or vacations.

So far as the Department of Commerce is able to ascertain, foreign countries last year realized about $811,000,000 out of the Americans who journeyed into other lands. Americans are more generous spenders than any other people. Foreigners who came to this country in 1930 spent only $171,000,000. There is a difference of $640,000,000 in favor of foreign countries. Such a heavy balance in their favor compensates for a good many American automobiles, sewing machines, electric toasters, vacuum cleaners and other bulk articles or trifles that foreigners deem advisable to buy from the United States.

Of that vast total—$811,000,000—spent abroad by tourists last year, $489,000,000 went to Europe and the West Indies. Mexico got $56,000,000. Canada reaped a harvest of $266,000,000. Expenditures of American tourists in Canada are especially interesting. Back in pre-Volstead days the onrush to Canada was mild. Something like a stampede has taken place since. In 1922 Americans spent $76,000,000 in Canada, the largest total up to that time. An increase of more than threefold was shown in eight years.

To give some idea of the vast army of Americans who trekked over the Canadian border last year, Dr. Klein compares the entourage to an automobile caravan. A total of 5,409,458 American cars went over the border. Had they been in a line the procession would have been 15,300 miles long. Even in a period of depression, the multitudes scampering to Canada shewed an increase of 20 per cent last year. No two countries in the world witness such extensive tourist travel. The growth of this traffic has no parallel in the history of international touring.

Money carried in the pockets of tourists as cash, letters of credit and travelers' checks keeps the scales of foreign trade from sinking too heavily in favor of the United States. American purchases of articles that come in bales and boxes may lag, especially in a year of depression, but so long as the people journey overseas with their pockets full of money there is no danger that too many American dollars will stay at home indefinitely.

FACTS VS. BALLYHOO.

Governor General Davis, of the Philippine Islands, has quietly pricked the independence bubble which has been unduly inflated by the visit of Senator Hawes, of Missouri, to the islands. Release of Gov. Davis' annual report while Manila was conducting a gigantic demonstration for the benefit of senators who are "investigating" the Philippine situation may have been a coincidence, but it is certainly an effective reply to the ballyhoo of Senator Hawes.

"There is no question," says Gov. Davis, "that the one thing which saved the Philippine Islands from a major economic disaster was the free access to the enormous American market." Philippine trade with all other countries fell off. Exports to other countries were 32 per cent below the previous year, but trade with the United States was only 15 per cent less. When price declines are taken into account it is quite probable that the actual volume of Philippine exports to this country increased last year. Seventy-two per cent of all Philippine trade was with the United States as compared with 70 per cent in 1929. The balance of trade, amounting to 55,318,000 pesos, was in favor of the islands.

It is evident that the Filipinos are losing grounds in other foreign markets and gaining in the American market. That they would be in a decidedly serious situation if their trade with the United States were subject to the tariff is an inescapable conclusion. Economic chaos always leads to political upheavals in new countries. Chances that the Filipinos could maintain a stable government independent of the United States at the present time are negligible.

One other factor in Gov. Davis' report should be given attention. Communists are at work in the islands. Agitators, he reports, make no secret of the fact that they receive instructions and financial assistance from the Soviet government at Moscow. Regardless of how they may change their program in Russia, the Bolshevists are losing no opportunity to stir up revolution elsewhere. A communist uprising in the Philippines would be a strategic blow at the United States. No doubt Bolshevists count on turning the Filipinos to communism if the islands should be cut loose from the United States. Considering the emotional nature of the Filipino people and the economic chaos that would be certain to follow independence under present conditions, that might not be difficult. This is a new and powerful argument against launching a Filipino state at this critical period.

These problems make no impression on Senator Hawes, who is "investigating" conditions in the islands. Instead of facing realities, he is trotting about the islands preaching to the natives that they must renew their drive for independence. The chief result of the parade which he inspired was an outburst of sentiment against the United States, which prompted enthusiasts to throw stones at American officers. The Hawes campaign can only turn the Filipinos away from the actual problems involved in independence, increase unrest in the islands, and postpone the day when a practical solution can be evolved.

SHUTTING OFF OIL.

Overproduction of oil in the midcontinent fields, which has caused an unprecedented demoralization of prices, finally has resulted in drastic action by producers to avoid further waste of output at less than the cost of production. Owners of more than 22,000 small wells in Kansas suspended operations last week and this has been followed by a decision to close down the important Oklahoma City fields.

A majority of the operators and royalty owners of the Oklahoma district not only favored entire suspension, but have called upon public officials and oil operators of other oil-producing States to take similar action in a concerted effort to restore more normal conditions to the distracted industry. The Oklahoma City operators favored shutting down until oil goes back to $1 a barrel, even if suspension for ten months should be necessary.

The chief offender in this orgy of oil is the new east Texas field that last week produced 2,565,000 barrels and that for months has been dumping oil on the market until prices have fallen to the ruinous figure of 8 and 10 cents a barrel. So far efforts to effect voluntary curtailment and proration among the operators of this field have failed and the demoralizing effect of these cheaply drilled wells has spread to all sections. West Texas is approaching a standstill.

A special session of the Texas Legislature has been called in the hope that emergency legislation can be passed to give greater authority to controlling agencies. Heretofore in every State the voluntary cooperation of operators has made it possible to keep production within reasonable bounds, but the east Texas situation requires a law with teeth. Suspension of output in the Oklahoma district awaits ratification by officials of the big company interests involved, but sentiment is becoming very general in favor of shutting down production as long as may be necessary to avoid economic waste and until a fair and reasonable price can be obtained.

JAPAN'S NEW TEXTBOOKS.

The school books of primary grades in Japan are to be revised, according to the minister of education in Tokyo. The revision of histories is of especial interest to the outside world because of the commendable attitude and foresight displayed by the ministry in the preparation of these books. Authorities believe that too much stress has been laid on the sensational side of wars in children's history books, and, therefore, are going to give a more prominent place to the cultural aspects of old Japan, bringing the records of her national life down to the present with emphasis on peace-time achievements.

It is hoped that the new attitude will make peace predominate in the national mind. Heretofore the textbooks have offered extravagant accounts of the expedition against the Ainu, the Russo-Japanese war, and of the important national feuds such as the Genji-Heike conflict that resulted in the virtual extinction of the Heike clan. The authorities believe that these thrilling stories served the purpose of arousing a strong national sentiment and assisted in creating the military spirit of Japan when it was needed. It is now found more desirable to foster a pacific attitude which will advance the country along industrial and cultural lines.

Revision of textbooks in other subjects also reflects the progressive tendencies of the minister of education. Measurements in the new books on mathematics will be given in the metric system instead of the old Japanese standards which are difficult and confusing. Courses in sewing will use books illustrating the modern foreign styles of dress. This procedure with regard to education offers further evidence of the liberal thought and advancement that have influenced many lines of endeavor in the progressive island kingdom.

FAST SHIPBUILDING.

The building of a modern ship is comparable to the construction of a steel skyscraper. When the foundation of a skyscraper is ready the superstructure has also largely been built and is ready to be assembled. The similar process of constructing steel ships was illustrated to guests who assembled to see the keel laid for the first of the new ships for the Grace Line's Panama mail service.

When this operation, generally considered by the uninitiated as the beginning of work on a vessel, took place the ship was approximately 40 per cent completed. The experts in the mold loft and the shops that turn out plates and angles had been busy long before, just as steel workers prepare the skeleton of a skyscraper.

Skilled, fast production in American shipyards now turns out a 16,000-ton unit in less than fourteen months. American yards today have kept pace with the efficiency found in all lines of construction and production. Their output ranks with the best of the world, as is constantly being demonstrated by their ability to rival the ships of any maritime nation.

ACROSS AFRICA BY RAIL

From the London Times.

It is 75 years since David Livingstone completed the first journey made by a white man across Africa, and that journey had taken two years. Now, following broadly Livingstone's track from Angola to Mozambique, a very different transcontinental journey is being made. The first train to cross Africa from ocean to ocean leaves Lobito today for Beira, a distance of 2,949 miles by the route of the railway. The journey has been rendered possible by, and is in celebration of, the completion of the western section of the route, that from Lobito Bay by the Benguela Railway and its continuation through the Belgian Congo to the Katanga copper field—a field which extends into the adjacent regions of northern Rhodesia. The change that has come over this land in a single generation is remarkable. As diamonds drew the railway from the Cape to Kimberley, and as gold drew the railway on to the Rand, so copper has drawn the railway to the heart of South Central Africa. Katanga, but yesterday a thousand miles from anywhere, almost unknown to the white man, is now the most highly developed province of the Belgian Congo. It has a considerable white population; its mines have already exported copper to the value of £52,000,000; and in Elisabetnville it has an attractive capital, which at the moment is indulging in its first international exhibition. Across the border, in northern Rhodesia, there is promise of an almost equal development. And whether in Portuguese, Belgian or British territory the great change has been brought about mainly by British enterprise and with British capital.

This is as it should be, for the opening up of the whole region originated with the British. If to the courage and persistence of one man in particular, Sir Robert Williams, this change is due, then Livingstone was the true pioneer. It was Livingstone who first kept open the road to the north, and it was the reading of entries in Livingstone's journal that guided Williams, as he has himself said, to his discovery of the immense mineral wealth along the Congo-Zambezi divide. Williams was an early associate of Cecil Rhodes and an ardent believer in the Cape-to-Cairo railway scheme. But neither he nor Rhodes was foolish enough to suppose that a railway from the Cape to Cairo was an economic proposition in itself. The Cape-to-Cairo line was meant as a backbone from which ribs would extend on either side. Two years before his death Rhodes wrote, "The junctions to the east and west coasts, which will occur in the future, will be outlets for the traffic obtained along the route of the line as it passes through the center of Africa." That was written in 1900, the year in which Williams got his first mineral concession in Katanga. Today two great "junction" lines are complete and, as Rhodes foresaw, they are taking to the markets of the world "the traffic obtained along the route of the (main Cape-to-Cairo) line." They are also opening up lands rich in agricultural and mineral possibilities.

"SOME" COIN.

Some people do not care to receive one of our rapidly vanishing 5-shilling pieces on the ground that they are far too heavy and cumbersome for modern purses or pockets, says the Manchester Guardian. What would they think about the $4 "coin" issued by Frederick of Hesse-Cassel just 200 years ago, an example of which has been sold in London this week for £3 15s? This pleasant little survival from 1731 was made of copper, was worth about 12 shillings—and weighed (and still weighs) 6½ English pounds.

The Man Who Encourages a Criminal Becomes Party to the Crime.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

PEOPLE may be tempted to do wrong, but they never are tempted to endure punishment.

A man may be tempted to kick the house cat, but he never is tempted to kick a strange bulldog.

If people knew beyond any doubt that wrongdoing would be followed by immediate and dreadful punishment, wrong-doers would be few and far between.

Consider, for example, the men who serve as postmasters, mail carriers and postal clerks. They are a select body of men, above the average in intelligence, but there is no reason to believe them possessed of greater integrity than other men who handle public and private funds. Yet the "embezzlement" of money trusted to postal employes is the rarest of crimes.

These men aren't tempted as men in private life are. They aren't tempted because they know that theft will lead promptly and inevitably to the penitentiary.

The certainty of punishment is the greatest aid to virtue yet devised by man.

You know these things are true. Do you also know why punishment has become so uncertain?

Because public opinion no longer requires punishment.

Because the people as a whole no longer are shocked by crime.

The movies, novels, magazine stories and news reports have given crime a glamour of romance.

The criminal no longer seems a plug-ugly brute or a vicious sneak or a despicable and honorless renegade, but a clever rebel no worse than clever financiers or a restless boy in search of adventure or, at worst—thanks to the rubbish of "science"—a poor unfortunate who might be a splendid citizen if his glands worked right.

Public indifference acquits the criminal.

Crime will flourish so long as the criminal has a reasonable hope of escaping punishment, and he will have that hope so long as public sentiment is tolerant of crime.

The greatest force on earth is public sentiment.

Your sentiment is part of the greatest force on earth.

Your opinions, boldly and freely spoken, will determine the future of America.

Crime can't flourish with public sentiment against it—any more than dueling could, or a war, or an unpopular law.

And if you aren't against the enemy, you are for him.

Disinterested Voters.

Minneapolis Journal.

In the view of Dr. Raymond Moley, of Barnard College, highly regarded among political theorists, votes cast by persons who have to be prodded to the polls contribute to unintelligent decisions. He would prefer to leave the electoral process to those who really have opinions. He goes on:

"An election in which only those vote who are genuinely interested is more in line with an intelligent measuring of those forces in the community which are really purposive and informed, and consequently more representative of what ought to be true in government. The form of democracy is satisfactory only insofar as it permits those who want to participate to do so. If we stretch the word democracy to mean that the ignorance and indifference of the world is to be roused to activity as well as the active selfishness and altruism, we are simply inviting the expression of opinion by people whose opinions can never be based on anything except frivolous, irrelevant or inconsequential things."

New York Herald-Tribune.

The remarkably frank and cordial support offered by Premier Mussolini to the coming conference on the limitation of armaments will be a source of profound gratification in this country. That Mr. Hoover is laying an increasing emphasis on arms limitation as an integral part of American policy is sufficiently evident. In his statement announcing the moratorium accord he was careful to end with a reference to the importance of the arms problem. Mr. Stimson's trip abroad is frequently spoken of as if it were an unofficial preparation for the 1932 conference, and there is ample evidence to support that idea. The United States is apparently being committed to very positive action toward a general lessening of the burden of armaments.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Occasionally I poke more or less good-natured fun at Calvin Coolidge's perturbing imperturbability; but I think that his cold-bloodedness is mostly temperamental; at any rate, he is a man of integrity, and that is the secret of his hold upon the people when he was President.

I read Mr. Coolidge's little pieces in your paper, and I think he occasionally reads mine—a high honor, of which I am duly appreciative—for why should King David notice the dead dog, Shimei?

Mr. Coolidge seldom says anything that stirs feeling or provokes thought; but a few days ago he really said something when he extolled the moderate-sized farm that produces diversified crops above the huge ranch that employs much machinery in producing some single staple crop.

I welcome the present back-to-the-farm movement. Good luck to it! For years farm lads have been going to the city to get rich. They left the farm calf for the golden calf, and were lucky if they got fried calf liver. A farm boy I once knew had more common sense. He said, "When a man is out of work in the city he can't get bread from the stones of the street; but he can always get food from the soil."

Pride, "keeping up with the Joneses," is one of the curses of America. A little capital and a few simple farm implements will enable a man to make a living from a few acres of good farm land if he be satisfied with "high thinking and plain living." But he must use brains and plenty of elbow grease. He mustn't say, "Let the hen do it." He must work harder than the hen—if he wants eggs. Diversified farming—fruit trees, small fruits, garden truck, poultry, cows, bees, &c.—is better than raising a single crop, for in diversified farming a man doesn't "put all his eggs in one basket." Some farmers loudly bewail their lose on one crop, but keep silent about the profits they make on their other crops and farm produce. Practically all farmers make a living; but this can not be said of city or town people. CHARLES HOOPER.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It was with great surprise that I read the letter addressed to you in this morning's Post regarding the removal of the statue of Alexander P. Shepherd from Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue.

It is unthinkable and unbelievable that such a thought would entad one's mind. Gov. Shepherd was in reality the Father of the District and through his keenness and foresightedness was able to point a course to make this city the most beautiful in the world.

To those who remember Gov. Shepherd this statue will always bring back tender memories of this great man. I for one, as an old citizen of the District, enter my protest against the removal of this landmark.

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: The Post on Sunday contained a suggestion that I was the author of an anonymous book, "The Mirrors of 1932." I crave a few lines of your valuable space in which to deny this. I can not do so more effectively than in a telegram I sent to the papers I represent, the Philadelphia Ledger and the New York Evening Post, as follows:

"Some newspapers are guessing that I wrote the book published anonymously, 'Mirrors of 1932.' I neither wrote it nor contributed to it. And I had nothing to do with the other anonymous book, 'The Merry-go-round of Washington.' Will you kindly publish this?"

CLINTON W. GILBERT.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

INVESTMENTS IN SPIRIT.

Add up the books again. Five years ago
We thought we had a fortune tucked away.
We bought a lot of stuff at prices low
We could have sold for profits any day.
We held the farm at ninety thousand flat
We couldn't sell it now for half of that.

In days when money had us by the throat
The books made pleasant reading you'll recall.
'Twas nice to add the figures and to gloat
That we had earned the sum and owned it all.
Those stocks aren't worth a third of what they cost.
On everything which seemed so sure we've lost.

Now close the books and let us read the years
And see if any ventures we have made
Wherein no lessening worth today appears.
There must be some investments which have paid.
Let's count our friends. Does not the thought occur?
Thank God, today they're still worth all they were.

They have not lost their value! They remain
Faithful and true to comfort and to cheer.
In what endures I think we've made a gain,
Love holds its place despite a panic year.
Add up the soul investments and you'll find
The lasting gains which make for peace of mind.

NAVY WILL ASK BIDS ON NEW DESTROYERS

To Advertise Tomorrow First Time Since War; Eleven Vessels to Be Built.

(Associated Press.)

For the first time since the war, the Navy will advertise tomorrow for bids on a group of new destroyers.

Specifications virtually completed yesterday for eleven new vessels, the first of this class the navy has undertaken since 1918, call for a bigger, more rugged ship with heavier armament and a higher sustained sea speed than the present destroyer.

The new craft will be of 1,500 tons displacement, the limit under the London treaty, compared to 1,200 tons for the present destroyers which were designed in 1916.

The construction of these eleven destroyers is the first sizable step taken by the United States since the signing of the London treaty to build up to its terms. As most of the present American destroyers were built during the war and sixteen years is the life of this type of craft, Navy officials pointed out that other replacements will be necessary shortly in the destroyer class to maintain treaty strength.

Moonlight River Trips Revised by Wilson Line

Moonlight cruises down the Potomac on the Wilson Line steamer City of Washington will be afforded week-end nights as well as during the week for the rest of summer, it was announced yesterday.

Previously the boat has been occupied on Saturdays and Sundays with cruises to Colonial Beach, Va., but a rearrangement of its schedule has been made by the steamship company. The boat will leave the dock at Seventh and N streets southwest every morning except Monday at 9 o'clock for Chapel Point, Md. On Wednesdays, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, it will continue on to the Virginia resort, returning to its pier here in time to take care of the "moonlight" crowds.

Northwestern University Plans Huge Expansion

Evanston, Ill., July 13 (U.P.).—An $89,000,000 expansion program for Northwestern University was outlined at a recent banquet by President Walter Dill Scott.

"Within the next ten years the Evanston campus probably will be extended into Lake Michigan for a quarter or a half mile, with a lagoon east of the campus and beyond the lagoon a public park, landing field for airplanes and a boulevard," Scott said.

He also announced plans for establishing a school for aeronautical and radio instruction.

Lawyer Proposes Population Control

League of Nations Requested to Order National Limit.

Paris, July 13 (U.P.).—Jesse Quitman, prominent American lawyer and member of the Chicago Bar, has just proposed to the League of Nations at Geneva that it institute a bill declaring over-population in a nation illegal, and that the limit of population of a country be determined by a survey of its economic resources, the quotient of the standard of living into the totality of economic resources shall constitute the permissible number of people.

There shall be a minimum standard of living established which shall be that of a country having the highest standard of living. Population control centers, acording to Mr. Quitman's suggestion, shall be established throughout its land, by each nation, the function of which shall be to disseminate to the population scientific methods of population limitation. It is the American lawyer's idea also, that the bureau to make the survey indicated be established by the League of Nations itself.

135,000,000 Fish Planted by Uncle Sam

(Associated Press.)

To keep fishermen of the country from outnumbering fish the forest service has planted over 135,000,000 fish in national forest waters in the last four years.

Fish cans on the backs of horses or of men are used to transport the young fry or fingerlings long distances, sometimes over rough mountain trails, says Assistant Forester L. F. Kneipp. The fish are introduced to their new home waters gently and carefully so that mortality will be reduced to a minimum.

Banker's Will Requests Wait on Value Recovery

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., July 13.—The will of H. O. Kerns, Danville banker, who died here recently, was probated today. It disposed of an estate valued at $75,000, and was distinguished by a clause directing the two executors to maintain the estate intact for one year in the hope that securities and stocks would increase in value with the passing of depression.

The estate was divided among his ten children, there being one bequest of $2,500 to Kerns' Memorial Church, which he established years ago in Pittsylvania County.

Barn, Other Buildings Are Burned in Maryland

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., July 13.—Fire of unknown origin today razed a barn and outbuildings, including two garages, wagon shed, corn house and two hog pens, on the property of Leslie Masscer, near Shookstown. The flames spread to the home of Oscar Shultz, across the road and to the Masser home, but both were saved by neighbors who formed a bucket brigade.

Live stock in the barn was removed, but a quantity of wheat and hay and farming implements went up in smoke.

Foulois, Army's First Flier, Named Chief of Air Corps

Wrights Taught General How to Fly, Partly "By Mail."

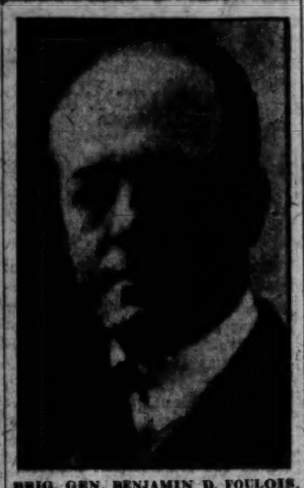
(Associated Press.)

The longest flying career in the Army will reach a climax next December when Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois becomes chief of the air corps. The War Department yesterday announced his promotion, effective December 20, to succeed Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet.

One of the pioneers in the development of aviation through association with the Wright brothers, Foulois is almost the father of the Army air service. He flew the first airplane and the first dirigible balloon purchased for the Army and in 1910 when the appropriation for the air service was only $150 he contributed $300 from his own pay to make up a deficit.

At that time he was serving on the Mexican border and virtually took a correspondence course in aviation from the Wright brothers. When something went wrong he would write to the Wrights and they would advise him by mail what changes to make in the plane or the operation of it.

Foulois was detailed to the Signal Corps in 1908 and immediately began specializing in aviation work. He was assigned to take a course in flying from the Wright brothers in 1908 and during that year participated as an observer with Orville Wright in the first cross-country flight in America. They flew 10 miles, averaging 42 miles an hour at an altitude of 800 feet, establishing three world's records.



BRIG. GEN. BENJAMIN D. FOULOIS.

One of the reasons for the selection of Foulois for this work was his small stature. In those days men weighing more than 150 pounds were virtually barred from the air.

LIST OF PROMOTIONS LONGEST SINCE WAR

Six Major Generals and Five Brigadiers are Named by Army Order.

The greatest promotion of general officers announced by the War Department since the World War was made yesterday when Secretary of War Hurley announced the appointment of six major generals and five brigadier generals.

Those appointed major generals are Hugh A. Drum, Edward L. King, Stuart Heintzelman, Campbell King and Benjamin Foulois, all now brigadier generals, and John F. Preston, a colonel, who was appointed inspector general with the rank of major general, succeeding Gen. Drum.

Those appointed to the rank of brigadier generals are Cols. Thomas L. Darrah, John H. Hughes, Charles S. Lincoln, Ernest D. Scott and Matthew A. Delaney.

Other newly created major generals will be appointed to command various Army corps areas throughout the country to succeed officers who are retiring.

Col. Delaney will take the post of assistant surgeon general, succeeding Brig. Gen. Carl R. Darnell, who retires on the date of the appointments.

Gen. Drum will succeed Maj. Gen. Ely, Second Corps Area; Gen. Edward L. King in place of Maj. Gen. Lassiter, Hawaiian Department; Gen. Heintzelman to Third Corps Area in place of Maj. Gen. Sladen; Gen. Campbell King to command West Point, now under Maj. Gen. Smith.

The brigadier generals will take the following posts: Gen. Darrah to command Fort Lewis, Gen. Hughes to replace Brig. Gen. Edward L. King, Gen. Lincoln to replace Gen. Drum, and Gen. Scott to take the place of Gen. Heintzelman.

Pulpwood Total Is Off in Virginia

378,421 Cords Consumed in 1930; Decrease Over U. S. Shown.

Richmond, Va., July 13 (A.P.).—The Bureau of the Census announced here today that, according to data collected in 1931 in cooperation with the Forest Service, Department of Agriculture, the total Virginia consumption of pulpwood in 1930 amounted to 378,421 cords, while the total production of the State was 216,365 tons.

The Virginia consumption figure in 1929 was 375,179 cords, and the production in that year was 208,050 tons.

The 1930 consumption figure for the United States was 7,155,588 cords, reported by 197 mills, representing a decrease of 6.4, as compared with the 1929 figure set at 7,645,011 cords, reported by 208 mills.

M'DONALD'S LETTER URGED ON ZIONISTS

Political Commission Sees Document as Basis for New Negotiations.

Basel, Switzerland, July 13 (A.P.).—The political commission of the World Zionist Congress tonight adopted a resolution recommending that the congress accept, with many reservations, the letter of Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain to Dr. Chaim Weismann, whoch interpreted the British white paper of October, 1930, as a basis for future negotiations between the Jewish agency and the British government.

The resolution will be submitted to a vote of the congress tomorrow morning.

The letter contained assurances and definitions, the resolution declared, which "indicate a desire on the part of the mandatory government to meet the just demands of the Jewish people." It also contained, according to the resolution, "restrictions and principles which afford ground for justified apprehension and omits reference to a number of important questions that were dealt with in the October white paper."

Fifty-one of the 52 revisionists, who quit the hall today when the congress refused to permit their minority resolution on the ultimate aims of Zionism to be put to a vote, were back in their places tonight.

Only Vladimir Jabotinsky, revisionist chieftain, was absent.

The presidium of the World Zionist Congress tonight announced it would keep the plenary session sitting through the early hours of the morning in order to conclude its labors before the meeting of the council of the Jewish Agency convenes at 2 p. m. The plenary session has been sitting since 5 o'clock this afternoon.

American Foundation Now Self-Supporting

Paris, July 13 (U.P.).—The American Foundation of the Cite Universitaire is now on a self-supporting basis, according to Mr. J. R. Bacher, director of the council of administration.

The American building opened last year on April 28, just before the school year, and so ran a deficit for the first few months. It began to pay expenses thereafter and is now entirely on its own. The operating expenses are all taken care of by the income from the newly founded institution. The American students living in the Foundation Building at the present time come from 128 American colleges and universities and represent nearly every State in the Union.

Cabinet Group High Fliers; Some Even Handle Planes

Only Three Members and President and Vice President Have Never Been Up Into Sky; Hurley Leads Associates in Space Eating.

(Associated Press.)

The question "how far and how high does officialdom fly?" is being answered in an ever-mounting curve.

It's getting so an aviator has to be a wing-walker to outclass a Secretary of War, and an aerial photographer has to think fast to call his cities-from-above ahead of a Postmaster General.

Known to have flown a ship himself, at 12,000 feet, with a 60-mile tail wind to add zest to the trip, Mr. Hurley's laurels do not have to rest on his transcontinental tours of Army posts nor on dashing out to see the folks in Oklahoma. The Army may fly Hurley out and the Navy bring him in. Or he'll hop a commercial plane. It makes no difference to him.

However, when air experiences are the topic, the quiet Bostonian Secretary of the Navy doesn't have to subside into silence before the colorful Army Secretary from the West.

Secretary Adams has flown in an autogiro, latest addition to the Nation's airships. He also has piloted the dirigible Los Angeles, his quiet comment being that it was almost as much fun as sailing his own yacht. He won fame and cups with that.

"My appeal to you who have not tried it is to fly," he said. "If fly not as a stunt, not because I think it is my duty to fly. I fly because it is the most convenient, expeditious, cleanly, delightful form of transportation that I know anything about.

"I used to think sailing a boat was the most delightful way to travel, but it is a little too slow. Your plane, without any effort at all, carries you wherever you want to go. It makes its own road, and gives you the most beautiful picture of the country imaginable as it goes along."

Attorney General Mitchell once flew to Florida for a brief breathing space without giving even his own secretary his forwarding address. Thus he goes in the record as the Cabinet member with the acumen to see the airplane as a means of getting away as well as a means of getting there.

With a parachute strapped to his back, Army-style, Secretary of State Stimson made a spectacular start on his trip to Europe. The parachute puzzled him a bit—he had become so nonchalant about flying in his many trips to Manhattan.

Secretaries Lamont, of Commerce, and Hyde, of Agriculture, also "have been up," but on point-to-point travel they usually take the train.

If Secretaries Mellon, Wilbur, and Doak are sky-jaunters, those who have opportunity to observe them haven't found it out.

President Hoover does not fly, and neither does Vice President Curtis. They are kept so busy congratulating ocean hoppers, globe circlers, and the autogiro pilots who come down on a spot the size of a dime they couldn't work a fight in edgewise.

BIG PLANE TO TRAIN FLIERS FOR SEA HOP

40-Passenger Seaplane Will Go to Caribbean Duty; To Be Real Test.

New York, July 13 (A.P.).—In about three weeks a new 40-passenger flying boat will take the air in Connecticut and so another great stride will be taken toward the nearing day of regular transatlantic air travel.

For this plane is to go into the Caribbean service of Pan-American Airways, which is the testing ground for commercial transatlantic flights.

The new plane, the largest commercial plane ever built, will fly between Miami and Baranquilla, Colombia, a distance of 1,350 miles, only 50 of which is over land. The hop from Jamaica to Baranquilla is approximately the same distance as from the Atlantic seaboard to Bermuda, the conditions are about the same, and almost all the way the pilot is out of sight of land.

Training for Atlantic Hops.

The men who fly this course are training for the day when they will shift their scene of operations to the Atlantic, and that day, in the opinion of many experts, is not more than two years off.

Pan-American Airways is very definitely interested in participating in an Atlantic line, and it looks on its Caribbean department as a practice ground on which to learn the lessons necessary to successful operation of a cross-ocean service.

The new giant flying boat, and a sister ship already begun, are constructed with an eye directly on Atlantic flying. They are built with a range of 1,000 miles, which can easily be extended by sacrificing a small portion of the passenger space. And they are equipped as luxuriously as any ocean liner with a view to comfort of passengers on the long hops necessary on Atlantic crossings.

May Be Operated Jointly.

When an Atlantic line is inaugurated it will probably be operated jointly by American, English and French companies, though the American company will very likely operate over the greater part because of better equipment and longer experience.

Pan-American Airways will certainly operate the leg from the Eastern seaboard to Bermuda. Imperial Airways of Great Britain has flying monopolies at Bermuda and Aero Postale of France at the Azores, but because of its experience in the Caribbean school and its large over-water equipment Pan-American will probably also operate from Bermuda to the Azores. From the latter point Imperial Airways will probably run a line to London and Aero Postale, another to France.

It is expected that the three companies will pool incomes, Pan-American its Government mail guarantee and the others subsidiary of equal amount, in one operating company and then pay each individual company according to the mileage over which it operates.

Built for Emergencies.

The two new giants of the air, the one almost finished and the other but well begun, are built with an eye to all possible emergencies during ocean flight. Not only are the cabins constructed to withstand the buffeting of high seas in case of forced landings in the ocean, but arrangements have been made to sail them along the surface.

Each of the four great engines has a canvas cover removed during flight and these can be quickly attached between the top of the cabin and the under side of the wing so that joined together they form a broad sail. As in the water the rear of the ship rises like a boat's prow the planes would be sailed backward.

Extensive tests of this manner of emergency travel have already been made in the Caribbean and there are now many pilots well trained to handle planes on a transatlantic line both in the air and on the water.

North Carolina Bank Forced to Shut Doors

Garner, N. C., July 13 (U.P.).—Although its cashier declared that the institution has "more than the legal reserve required," the Garner Banking & Trust Co., with $60,000 on deposit, failed to open for business here today. General business conditions and "inability to make satisfactory credit connections" were responsible for the action, Cashier J. T. Broughton said. He expressed the belief that depositors would be paid in full.

Following the order for closure the State banking department took charge.

Pluto Will Scorn Sun For 58 Years to Come

North Scituate, R. I., July 13 (U.P.). It will be more than 58 years before the infant planet Pluto makes another of its "closest approaches" to the sun, and at that time the planet will be about 2,694,100,000 miles from Sol, Frank E. Seagrave, Boston astronomer, who has an observatory here, has estimated.

Seagrave believes Pluto is a very cold object, due to its great distance from the sun and its comparatively small size—it being only slightly larger than the earth.

Daisy Devoe Reenters Jail to Serve Term

Los Angeles, July 13 (U.P.)—Daisy Devoe, blonde and 20 pounds heavier than when she was convicted of stealing $825 while acting as secretary to Clara Bow, film star, re-entered the county jail today to resume serving her interrupted term.

She had been at liberty under $5,000 bail during a series of unsuccessful attempts to obtain a new trial. Miss Devoe must serve the remaining 17 months of her 18 months sentence, imposed as a condition of five years' probation.

Boy, 10, Struck by Car While Crossing Street

Alfonso Rivera, 10, was struck by an automobile and slightly injured yesterday afternoon while, with his hand clasped in his mother's, he was crossing Eighteenth street near Kalorama road northwest. The child was bruised on the body and knee.

According to police, Arthur L. Barber, 48, colored, of 71 R street northwest, was driving the car which struck Alfonso. The child was taken to a physician's office nearby and treated.

Navy Buys Sound Units Helped by Air in Talks

(Associated Press.)

Purchase of two sound system units which project the voice long distances by means of compressed air was announced yesterday by the Navy. They will be used for experimental communication purposes.

In recent tests at the Lakehurst, N. J., Naval Air Station the apparatus transmitted a message to the dirigible Los Angeles while it was more than a half mile in the air with engines running. A message to a plane at an altitude of 800 feet also was heard. In another test a speech was transmitted 8 miles against a 30-mile wind and 18 miles with the wind.

World Dairy Congress Opens in Copenhagen

King Christian cordially welcomed the more than 1,000 delegates, some of whom are Americans. The Americans said they were impressed that Denmark has been able to keep her economic rank without the assistance of tariff walls.

Ethel Barrymore Signs For Midwestern Tour

Los Angeles, July 13 (U.P.).—Ethel Barrymore, long a ranking actress of the American stage, has signed for a tour of "one-night stands" in motion picture theaters west of the Mississippi River, it was announced tonight by Fox West Coast Theaters.

For nine weeks she will present one of her most important successes, "The School for Scandal," with no days of rest between towns. Motion pictures will be withdrawn from the theaters on the nights of her appearance and prices will be increased. She will play in only the smaller towns.

Harvey Bundy Takes State Department Post

Harvey H. Bundy, Boston lawyer who recently was appointed Assistant Secretary of State to succeed William R. Castle, Jr., assumed his duties yesterday. Mr. Castle succeeded Joseph P. Cotton, who died recently, as Undersecretary of State.

Mr. Bundy was born in Grand Rapids, Mich., March 30, 1888, and was graduated from Yale University in 1909. After receiving his degree from the law school there, he was secretary for a year to Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes. He served as assistant counsel of the food administration for two years.

China Hears Wong Named As Minister

Legation Here Without Confirmation of Selection, However.

LIKE the incomplete returns on election night are the unconfirmed reports of the appointment of a new minister to the United States from China, the announcement emanating Saturday from the Chinese trade bureau in this country that Mr. Wang Chia-cheng, present administrative vice minister of foreign affairs in the cabinet of the Chinese Nanking government, had been named to the Washington post.

While Chinese newspapers persistently publish accounts of the appointment, the reports having circulated throughout China for a fortnight, Mr. Yung Kwai, counselor of the Chinese Legation, and at present charge d'affaires, declares that the legation here knows of no definite appointment of any one to succeed Dr. Chao-Chu Wu, recently resigned.

The alleged new minister has been closely attached to Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, of Manchuria, and is a friend of President Chiang Kai-shek. He has just skimmed the border line of 30 and received his education in Japan. A diplomat of some experience, having formerly served as a member of the Chinese Legation in Tokyo, he later was appointed secretary in charge of foreign relations at the headquarters of the commander of the northeastern border defense force in Manchuria. Subsequently he was named to the post of section chief of the ministry of foreign affairs.

Should Mr. Wang Chia-cheng come to Washington he will step into a well-established household, one which for 40 years has responded to the administrative touch, direct and indirect, of Mr. Yung Kwai, charge d'affaires, and Washington's oldest diplomat. More than a score of times has Mr. Yung Kwai filled the exacting position of charge d'affaires since he first joined the staff in 1889. America and its ways are the ways of the revered statesman who years ago was graduated from Yale and who married an American woman and educated his children in America.

Although a representative of the old China the present charge d'affaires has watched, unmoved, the recurring political changes in China and, like the veteran diplomat that he is, would subscribe with ease to any policy adopted by a new regime in the event that Mr. Wang Chia-cheng proves to be the chosen envoy to Washington.

Forty-five members of the cathedral official staff were entertained at a buffet supper Sunday evening by Canon and Mrs. Anson Phelps Stokes, in their home on Massachusetts avenue.

The guest of honor was former Senator George Wharton Pepper, chairman of the executive committee for the cathedral, who spoke informally.

Maj. and Mrs. Fabian L. Pratt will be hosts to a party this evening at the dinner dance on the Shoreham terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman returned late last week from Atlantic City, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Sullivan, at the Traymore. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Tuckerman had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. L. Warrington Cottman, of Greyhouse, Baltimore, whom they entertained at luncheon at the Women's National Country Club.

Mrs. Cloman Guest Of Mr. and Mrs. Marye.

Mrs. Sydney is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Marye at their home in Burlingame, Calif. Mrs. Wilson Pichett, of Philadelphia, and her niece, Miss Natalie Keeney, who have been visiting Mrs. Cloman, will close her house on Kalorama road and will leave Washington, July 21, to join Mrs. Cloman in California for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstead Peter 3d have gone to their summer home at Dobbs Ferry-on-Hudson to spend the summer. Their beautiful old Georgetown home, Tudor Place, is closed for the season.

Capt. and Mrs. Boone Go to New England.

Mrs. Joel T. Boone, wife of the physician to the President, Capt. Boone, and their young daughter, have left to pass the summer in New England.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney C. Kaufman with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Furman, will said from New York tomorrow to spend five weeks abroad.

Dr. and Mrs. James Herbert Freile, of Ridgewood, N. J., left yesterday for Lake George, N. Y., where they will spend the summer. They were accompanied by their daughters, Miss Margaret Freile and Miss Ruth Freile.

Sunday evening Mr. George A. Hastings, administrative assistant to President Hoover, entertained at dinner in New York for Dr. and Mrs. Freile, in celebration of their silver wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clifford and their daughter, Miss Helen Clifford, will move this week from their home 3033 N street to 3130 P street. Later in the month they plan a trip for the remainder of the summer.

Gov. Merriam's Widow Will Visit Her Son.

Mrs. William R. Merriam, widow of the former governor of Minnesota and mother of Mrs. James F. Curtis, will pass several weeks with her son and daughter-in-law, Capt. John H. Merriam, U. S. N., and Mrs. Merriam, at Newport, R. I.

Mrs. John L. Cassin has gone to New York whence she will sail on Thursday on the Lafayette for Europe. She will be absent until mid-September.

Summering in Maine

Underwood & Underwood.

MISS MARY CATHERINE WARNER,

Lieut. Delaney Of Navy Weds Capital Girl

Mrs. Sullivan Will Announce Event This Evening.

Mrs. John D. Sullivan will be at home informally this evening at her home on Thirty-first street, Georgetown, to announce the marriage of her daughter, Florence Loretta, to Lieut. Adrian Joseph Delaney, Medical Corps, U. S. N.

The marriage of Miss Sullivan and Dr. Delaney took place April 6 at Chapel Point, Md., the Rev. Hugh S. Dalton, S. J., former pastor of Trinity Church, Georgetown, performing the ceremony in the presence of members of the family.

The bride is a native of Washington, the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Thornburg Sullivan and the late John D. Sullivan. She attended school at the Georgetown Visitation Convent.

Dr. Delaney is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Delaney, of New York. After receiving his degree from Columbia he entered Georgetown Medical School from which he graduated with honors last year. He recently received his appointment to the Medical Corps of the United States Navy and has been assigned to the Naval Hospital here.

Dr. and Mrs. Delaney are now at home at 1519 Thirty-first street, Georgetown.

Mrs. Neal Halpin will leave Washington tomorrow to visit relatives in Plymouth, Pa. Accompanied by her sons, Neal, jr., and Jack, she will sail for Brussels August 14 to join her husband, who is stationed there as a representative of the Tariff Commission.

The Acting Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Ogden L. Mills, has returned from Westbury, Long Island, where he passed the week-end with Mrs. Mills at their home there.

Senator Hiram Bingham was among the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Phillip Hill, who entertained at supper Sunday evening at the Beach and Tennis Club, Annapolis.

Brig. Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Mrs. Vanderbilt entertained at a large dinner Sunday evening at Beaulieu, their Newport estate, for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goelet, who have been their week-end guests. Among the guests at the dinner were Prince and Princess Svasti, of Siam, parents of Queen Rambaibarui, of Siam, and their two sons, who arrived on Saturday in Newport from Boston and New York, and were the guests of Gen. and Mrs. Vanderbilt.

Yesterday morning Gen. Vanderbilt sailed from Newport for New York in his yacht Winchester, on which Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and her daughter, Paulina, were passengers. There were a number of other guests in the yachting party. Next week Gen. Vanderbilt will begin his annual tour of duty with the National Guard.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Crorey have opened their home in Cleveland Park and will be established in Washington after an absence of two years in the West. During their sojourn on the West Coast Mr. and Mrs. Crorey spent some time in California, although they made their headquarters at Vancouver. On the return trip, which was made by motor, they traveled leisurely for seven weeks, stopping at Lake Louise, Winnipeg and Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Copenhaver, of Rittenhouse street, will leave at the end of the week for a tour of New England and Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Robert R. Hitt has left for Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where she will be through the season, having leased the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Fullerton, of New York. Mr. and Mrs. William F. R. Hitt also will be in Saratoga for the racing season from their Middleburg, Va., home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie R. Nixdorf, formerly of Washington, but now of Cincinnati, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Smith, on Minnesota avenue.

Mrs. Blodgett And Sister Go To Bay State

Lake Placid, Mackinac Are Also to Be Visited.

Mrs. Delos A. Blodgett and her sister, Mrs. Charles Matthews, will leave next week by motor for Marthas Vineyard, where they will pass a few days with the former's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parsons Erwin, who are established there for the summer. From there Mrs. Blodgett and Mrs. Matthews will go to Lake Placid to visit Mr. and Mrs. Delos Blodgett, jr., and will then proceed to Mackinac Island on Lake Michigan, where they will be for the remainder of the summer. Mr. and Mrs. David St. Pierre Gaillard, another son-in-law and daughter of Mrs. Blodgett, have gone to the Michigan resort with their children.

Mr. Erwin, who has been in Washington for several days, will return to Marthas Vineyard today.

Mr. and Mrs Lloyd Parker Scott, of St. Clair, Mich., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs W. L. A. Strawbridge at their Wisconsin avenue home. Mr. and Mrs. Scott formerly lived in Washington and are renewing a number of former acquaintances. They motored here from Michigan, first visiting Harrisonburg, Va., the girlhood home of Mrs. Scott, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Carroll McMillan.

Sacasas Host To Observer For Election

Maj. Price and Wife Soon Will Depart for Nicaragua.

The Minister of Nicaragua and Senora Sacasa entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Maj. Charles F. B. Price, U. S. M. C., and Mrs. Price, who will leave tomorrow for Nicaragua. The guests included the Minister of Guatemala and Senora de Recinos, the former United States Minister to Nicaragua, Mr. Arthur H. Geossler; the Naval Attache of the Spanish Embassy, Commander Federico Monreal y Pilon; the Counselor of the Nicaraguan Legation, Senor Dr. Don Evaristo Carazo; Miss Price and Mr. Price, daughter and son of Maj. and Mrs. Price; Senorita Maria Hortensia Diez de Medina, daughter of the Minister of Bolivia and Senora de Diez de Medina; Mr. Waverly Taylor, and Senorita Maria Sacasa.

Maj. Price has been appointed American observer of the municipal elections which will take place in Nicaragua in October. Maj. Price and his family will establish themselves in the southern republic for the next few months, that the former may prepare himself for his duties.

Mrs. Herbert C. Lummis entertained a small group of friends at dinner on the Shoreham terrace last evening in honor of Miss Elaine Rabinoff, of Chicago, who is the guest of Mrs. Lummis and her daughter, Miss Frances Lummis.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

WHEN the beautiful Swedish towhead, Anna Q. Nilsson, hied herself quietly some 12 miles northward from Hollywood to a 2-mile stretch of isolated and perfect seaside strand, she started something—Malibu Beach, to be specific about it.

At that time Malibu was something less than primitive. Now, however, it has reached a point of development where the ubiquitous gate crasher is one of its major problems. Most of the movie stars that are stars summer there, for purposes of quiet and rest, sun-tan and the simple pleasures of the temperamentally high-strung.

The electric light has come to Malibu, a policeman guards the gate and a ballroom is being built in order that a Mayfair Ball may be held without getting the feet wet.

Warner Baxter is the present chief of the fire department, a job that carries with it as minor emoluments the privilege of serving also as mayor, dog catcher, city council, judge and extra man for any bridge game that happens to be short-handed. Herbert Brenon was his predecessor.

The annual tennis tournament is about to be held, to share honors with the Mayfair Ball as one of the two important events of the season. David Butler won the singles championship last year, with Buddy DeSylva, the song writer, runner-up.

As you no doubt have heard before, the property along the 2-mile frontage of Malibu Beach can not be purchased, but is merely leased for a term of six years—with a five-year renewal privilege—to the individual resident, all improvements to revert to the owners of the land when the leaseholds expire.

If the movie people ever do have to evacuate this favored spot, it will be a famous group of refugees who will trek southward, among them:

Conrad Nagel, Marie Prevost, Louise Fazenda, Richard Barthelmess, Winifred Westover Hart, Finis Fox, John Boles, Ronald Colman, Dolores Del Rio, Leila Hyams, Constance Bennett, Barbara Stanwyck, Frank Fay, Evelyn Brent, Bert Wheeler, Clara Bow, Al Rockett, Alice Joyce, Nell Hamilton, Tod Browning, Alan Dwan, Grant Withers and many others.

From all I am able to gather, Malibu is even superior to Hains Point!

Despite the fact that Washington's theatricals are in the doldrums—and, personally, I still wouldn't know a doldrum if it came right up and slapped me in the face—the Capital is to have its midsummer show.

It is the present plan of the Fox Theater management in this city to stage a revue with an entirely local cast and chorus the week of August 21. This will not be presented as a substitute for the Fanchon and Marco "Hollywood Collegiates" idea, but in addition to it.

Auditions will be held at the Fox beginning at 9 a. m., Monday, July 13, for those who feel that they are qualified for a place either among the principals or in the chorus of line girls and are ambitious to launch a professional career.

While no promises are made, it is not unlikely that if conspicuously talented performers are discovered, they will be attractively propositioned by the Fanchon & Marco scouts. It is the present plan to start rehearsals on Friday, August 7, two weeks ahead of the proposed opening date. If the revue is a hit, it is possible that it will be continued at the Fox longer than the single week.

On July 24, the Fox is inaugurating another innovation. On that date a Western serial, "The Vanishing Legion," will take its place on the bill as a regular program feature. The presentation of this series of two-reel dramalets, in which Harry Carey and Edwina Booth, stars of "Trader Horn," are featured, and Rex, the wild horse, plays an important part, will, of course, be akin to the showings of Bobby Jones' "How I Play Golf," at the Earle, and the "Adventures in Africa" series, just coming to a conclusion at the Metropolitan.

The Warner Bros. have signed Eddie Foy jr., to star in one of the twelve "Big Stars," two-reel comedies scheduled for production and release by Vitaphone during the coming season. In this connection it is interesting to recall that Bryan Foy, eldest son of the late Eddie Foy, one of the stage's most famous and most beloved buffoons, directed the first all-talking picture ever made—Warner's "Lights of New York."

It has been many a long day since you have seen as clever a male character impersonator as Eddie Garr, now at the Earle. He gets off to a pretty terrible start, to be sure, but once he gets into the business of being somebody else, he succeeds not only in sounding like the subject of the imitation, but also looking like him. Many can do one or the other, but few both.

Lily Damita, who has demonstrated her versatility by appearing successfully as costar of a Broadwayy musical comedy hit—with the late Jack Donohue in "Sons o' Guns"—and as both character comedienne and competent leading woman on the screen, sailed last Saturday on the Ile de France for a vacation in her native country.

Miss Damita recently was loaned by Samuel Goldwyn to RKO for two pictures—"The Woman Between" and "The Sphinx Has Spoken"—both about ready for release, and it is rumored that upon her return from France she is to be starred in a non-musical Broadway production, scheduled for a premiere in September.

And I wonder what the new costume to startle the ships news reporters will be when she comes back this time?

Something in Jersey, Lily?

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph. D.

THE family name "Strauss" is of German origin. It means "crest" and "tuft" and was first given as a nickname to persons whose head or hair presented an unusual appearance. However, it has also been observed that "Strauss" has sometimes been given as a nickname derived from the Old High German "struz," meaning "ostrich."

The family name "Beethoven" is of Germanic origin and means "the beet garden" or "turnip garden." It is one of the many names which indicates an original place of residence.

The family name "Massenet" is of French origin. It is one of the many variations of the personal name "Thomas" and therefore means "the twin." A few other variations of "Thomas" which have become family names in France are "Mas," "Masset" and "Massillon." Finally, from "Massillon" has been derived the rather common name "Sillon," which preserves only the final letter of the original name "Thomas."

The family name "Brahms" is a modern shortened form of the German "Abrahamsohn," which means "the son of Abraham." "Abraham" is ultimately of Hebrew origin and means "the father of multitudes."

The family name "Mozart" is a modern variation of the Old Germanic personal name "Modhas," meaning "eager desire," "courage" and "wrath." A certain Stoffel Motzhart is mentioned in a German document of the year 1551.

The family name "Mendelssohn" means "the son of Immanuel." The personal name "Immanuel" is of Hebrew origin and means "God with us."

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

WHEN MEN RIDE AWAY.

ARE you one of the women who have suddenly been left to wonder, and to wait because some man decided that you deserved more than he could give you? Do you consider such a man a hero? Or do you consider that a real man would at least state his case to the woman and let her decide what things meant the most to her? The man whose letter follows, states the case for himself and other men. Do you discern—as I do—a distinct flavor of apple sauce?

Dear Frances McDonald: Your challenge of recent date will surely not go unanswered. You censure the man who wrote you of dropping the girl he loved because he felt there were other men better qualified to supply the things to which she was entitled. You by inference condemn his attitude. Why? What right has a man to enslave a woman because he finds that he can arouse her emotions to a point where she can not judge for her own best interests? The young woman in question is in no fit state to decide her own affairs. If consulted by the man, nine women out of ten would tell him that they would wait forever, or do without the things that make life worth living. All because their emotions were aroused. The man knowing this, takes the decision out of the woman's hands. The only way to do this is to drop out of her life without consulting her. There is nothing cowardly in this if no declaration has taken place.

Twelve years ago it was my unhappy lot to have to decide such a matter. And I decided as Pete did. I passed out of the picture. The girl was pretty broken up. Which was unfortunate but nothing to what she would have known of hardship if I had permitted her to tie up her life with mine the past twelve years. Easy street now, yes. But what about the two or three years I have known when I could not be sure of next week or the next? What man has a right to make declarations when he does not know beyond any doubt that he can provide for a woman and her children?

Marriage is not the sole and only consideration on earth. I dropped a woman who loved me and whom I loved. I affirm I was no coward in so doing. As recently as three years ago I had not $1 to my name. What if at that time I had had a wife in the hospital? Then I would have felt a coward, indeed. I will never love again. The girl was the one and only. Could she wait twelve years? Hardly. She is a beautiful mother of four children. She is surrounded with every comfort that money can supply. Presumably she loves the father of these children. Why not? Most women recover from disappointed emotional upheavals. BACH.

What is your opinion? Should the woman be consulted? Or should she be regarded as a mere creature of emotional upheavals who can not think for herself? How would you wish to be regarded by a man you loved?

We want your honest opinion. Would you rather marry a second choice than wait for the one you want?

Jane Interprets the Mode

New York, July 13.

SURELY the wave of depression has its bright edges when we consider some of the things that have been brought about by it in the world of fashion. For instance, we'd probably never have found the miracles we could work with a few jackets and skirts; we'd never have knownn the delights of evening frocks that transform themselves into clothes for other occasions by a simple touch or two, and we'd never have paid attention to the wonderful things that fine hand work can accomplish in our wardrobe.

And speaking of hand work, have you seen the hand-knitted sweaters that do their part in lending smart charm and variety to our own and sports suits this season? These hand-knitted sweaters are extremely smart, and utterly new and different. I'll describe a few of them that I saw at a recent collection.

One was a sweater made of rather heavy wool in light beige. This was done "plain knitting" for the body part, but had a hip yoke and cuffs done by "purling," or knitting upside down as one of my little friends called it, and a purled border around the V neck. This was worn over a beige and brown trouser skirt and was part of a very smart golf outfit. Another was a very short, double-breatsed sleeveless sweater of dark-green lisle, buttoned with square galalith buttons and worn over a short-sleeved lighter green batiste blouse. The third sweater of white angora with short sleeves and a dee V-neck, accented by knitted stripes of lemon yellow, aple green and black. And while the last sweater wasn't really a sweater, but a blouse, and wasn't really knitted, but was crocheted, it was very lovely, of coral silk, crocheted in a very lacy pattern.

So, don't be afraid to click a knitting needle in your spare moments! The smart young things are doing it nowadays—not the grandmothers.

• • • •

O-o-o-h, but some of today's evening gowns are dreams of loveliness—and feeling just like sketching a dream of loveliness for you this very moment. I'll show you one from Agnes-Drecoll-Beer! Isn't this altogether charming and sophisticated, this gown of azure blue crepe Francoise. The odd and lovely decolletage is bordered with tiny blue pearls, and much of the grace and distinction of the gown comes from the use of fan pleating, that is stitched in low over the hip. A loose pleated section forms asashlike loop as the waist line, and the surplice line at the front of the bodice is extremely becoming.

• • • •

'N' this dress isn't only very lovely, my deahs, but it answers our plea for beauty during this hot weather, without fussiness. It's the total absence of the little irrelevant details that makes summer formal clothing so refreshingly new.

• • • •

My, but there's a tremendous tide of scarves sweeping in! They're for every possible sort of occasion, of every lovely material you ever heard of—and nearly all of them are integral parts of the frocks and gowns they adorn! For instance—a scarf that's not only a decolletage as well—a fur cape-scarf that's a pppium if you want ti to be o-h, and lots of other surprising things that I haven't space to tell you about! But you will find out all about them if you send your stamped, self-addressed envelope right off to the Dare Department of The Washington Post. Because the quicker you find out how to make these lovely things, the smarter your whole wardrobe will be!

Au revoir!

Culbertson on Contract

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

WHEN DEFEAT IMPENDS ATTACK.

DEFENSIVE overbidding is one of the fundamentals of winning Contract. The value of a game is at least 400 points; hence it follows that when the making of a game is prevented at the cost of 400 points in penalities there has been no loss; when the price of game saving is lower, there has been a gain. This is not written in justification of wild overbidding, of which there is entirely too much at the Contract table, but when it is certain that opponents have a game at their preferred make, then the cost of preventing such game should be considered and if the price does not exceed 3 tricks, not vulnerable, it is a point-saving course to take the loss above the line rather than in the invisible, but no less actual, score which accompanies the making of a game by the opponents.

After a game has been won, overbidding must be very carefully calculated. Except to save a slam, an overbid of more than 1 trick is rarely justified as through unusual distribution the expected set of 1 trick may possibly increase to 2 and an anticipated loss of 2 tricks might quite easily be 3 or 4, due to the dangers of navigation on the seas of distribution, which are strewn with many perils.

North-South vulnerable
East-West not vulnerable
West—Dealer

	♠ A 10 7 4 ♥ 10 9 8 4 ♦ 3 ♣ A Q 3 2
♠ K Q 5 ♥ K J 7 6 5 ♦ Q 8 ♣ 10 5 4	N W E S	♠ J 9 6 3 2 ♥ A Q 3 2 ♦ A 7 ♣ J 6
	♠ 8 ♥ — ♦ K J 10 9 6 5 4 2 ♣ K 9 8 7

The bidding at Table No. 1:

West	North	East	South
1♥ (1)	Pass	3♥	Pass (2)
4♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—West here wisely takes advantage of the fact that his side is not vulnerable and his opponents are, to shade the requirements for an Opening bid slightly. His hand does not contain 2-½ honor-tricks, but in Contract, as in war, attack is the best defense and when one side is vulnerable and the other not, waiting tactics are usually losing tactics.

2—Contract set 2 tricks. This is a very fine result, not vulnerable, as the opponents can make six diamonds if they make a correct guess in trumps. South can hardly be blamed, however, for not bidding four diamonds, vulnerable, on what to him must look like an almost hopeless holding. West, who is rather conservative on Opening bids, this time made a successful "psychic" Opening.

The bidding at Table No. 2:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1♠	2♦
2♠	2NT	Pass	3♦
3♥ (?) (1)	Pass	Pass	4♦
Pass	5♦ (!) (2)	Pass	Pass
Pass

1—It is my opinion that had West passed the bid of three diamonds, the contract would not have been carried any further by the opponents. His second Raise gave South the opportunity to rebid.

2—A very bold and brilliant bid which received its due reward.

Today's Pointer.

All Opening suit bids of one show about 4 playing-tricks (2-½ honor-tricks and at least 1 long-suit-trick). Therefore:

If partner raises bid suit: Each additional playing-trick (whether an honor or long-suit-trick) held in excess of 4 justifies another bid.

(Copyright, 1931.)

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of The Washington Post, INCLOSING A TWO-CENT STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE.

Helping the Homemaker

By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER

Menu for Dinner

Chilled Cantaloupe
Cold Sliced Tongue
Buttered Potatoes
Creamed Beans
Bread Butter
Fruit Salad Salad Dressing
Apricot Ice Lemon Filled Cake
Coffee

Salad Dressing
(For fruit salads)

4 egg yolks
5 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons flour
½ cup vinegar
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup water
5 tablespoons cream

Beat egg yolks and add dry ingredients. Mix well and add vinegar and water. Cook in double boiler until thick and creamy. Stir frequently. When done, beat two minutes and cool. Add cream. Mix well and chill.

Apricot Ice

3 cups sugar
3 cups water
2 cups crushed apricots
⅔ cup lemon juice
1 cup orange juice
3 egg whites, beaten

Boil sugar and water 2 minutes. Cool and add all the rest of the ingredients. Freeze until still. Serve in glass cups.

Cake

½ cup fat
1 cup sugar
⅓ cup cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups pastry flour
2 teaspoons baking powder

Cream fat and sugar. Add rest of the ingredients and beat for 3 minutes. Bake in 2 layers. Add filling.

Filling

½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1-8 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons grated rind
½ cup water
1 egg
1 tablespoon butter

Blend sugar and flour. Add rest of ingredients. Cook until creamy. Stir constantly. Cool. Use as filling between the cake layers. Frost with any desired white icing.

The hand below is a beautiful example of successful defensive overbidding. It was played in the recent match between an American team, the members of which were Mrs. Culbertson and myself, Mr. Waldemar von Zedtwitz and Mr. Theodore A. Lightner, and a British team, representing Crockford's Club, on which played Col. H. M. Beasley, Sir Guy Domville, Capt. Kenneth Hogg and Mr. George Norris.

NOTHING GIVES SO MUCH FOR SO LITTLE

What Today Means to You

"CANCER."

IF July 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m., and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger hours are from 7 a. m. to 8:35 a. m., and from 2 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Scientists and professional men will have every factor in their favor on July 14, and much more progress will be made than under ordinary astrological influences. It is not a favorable time for love affairs, marriage or close personal associations. Worry about family affairs!

Children born on this July 14 will have a merry, humorous nature and will be inclined to take life easily. They will have pronounced talents, which should be cultivated, but they will be below par as students in general.

Born on July 14, you take your responsibilities all too seriously. You have an inborn presentiment that you, and you alone, can perform each task in the way it should be done. You impose tasks upon yourself with a morbid delight, over which you need never bother your head. Your mind from morning to night is continually fretting over pettifogging details, which could creditably look after themselves. You never take a holiday from worry.

You are not a restful or interesting companion, as it is difficult for you to ever relax so as to enjoy the moments of the present. Your tired mind can not stay in focus for long at a time, and it flits from the past, through the present and on to the future, almost in the same breath. There is no one who desires affection and understanding more than you do, and it is a pity that your attitude toward life is found boring to the average person. You are too much of a machine to be intensely human. Your moral integrity and your honesty are above reproach. You never shirk but you do sometimes whine. Less time in self-pity, and more time spent in self-analysis, would inure to your benefit. You could not help, as a woman, becoming a slavish and nagging wife and mother. As a man, you can not help being irritable and exacting.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

Please tell me if sodium nitrate is a good food for tomatoes.

JOSEPH R. W.

Tomato plants may be given a side dressing of sodium nitrate or ammonium sulphate, just as they begin to set fruit, but be careful that these fertilizers do not come in contact with the vines.

Can seeds of columbine or perennial lupines be sown successfully in July?

JANET K. R.

After the middle of the month is a good time to sow these seeds.

I have a number of climbing roses and five bush roses. Do they require much care at this time? I mean is there anything that I should do for them in midsummer?

MRS. HOWARD M.

Yes. Cut back the old, hard canes of rambler roses when their blooming period is over; prune your hybrid perpetuals and feed and mulch your teas for autumn bloom.

JENNIE F. T.

Yes. Make a small incision in the under part of the stem and bury it two inches underground.

I have some trillium clumps which I think should be divided. Please tell me how to do it. MRS. F. P. L.

Wait until after they have finished flowering, then lift them carefully, so as to break as few of the roots as possible. Then divide the roots with a sharp knife and plant them in a partially shaded location. Since flowering clumps will not mature for three or four years they should be set in a light, well-drained soil.

Is it true that you can sow delphinium seed as soon as it is ripe?

MABEL G. P.

Yes. Seed sown at this time should make flowering plants for next summer.

I recently moved to a property where I found a most beautiful but neglected lilac bush which had twelve instead of dozens of blooms on it. Now I want to give the bush such care that it will flower next spring. What shall I do? THOMAS L. B.

Cut out all dead wood at this time and again in the early spring. Remove all dead flowers at this time. The lilac blooms only on the topmost branches. Keep the bush well watered all summer and in March spray with Bordeaux mixture. Give it bonemeal now and again in September. If you can secure well-rotted manure, it would be well to mulch the bush in the late fall. This fertilizer can be turned under with a digging fork in the early spring.

My lawn is infested with weeds. What do you advise? F. W. N.

Better apply a commercial weed destroyer. Where they have such a foothold it is useless to try uprooting each individual weed. Of course, you can always dig up your entire grass plot, but if you apply a reliable weed destroyer this will not be necessary.

Can you tell me why out of a large collection of iris only a few bloom? These plants have been in the ground three years. I have given them some bonemeal. Also, is a talisman rose hard to grow and would it require winter protection in Maine?

M. N. S.

Your iris may be crowded or they may be planted in shade. If you care to write again telling me whether your plants are of the Japanese, Siberian, German or Spanish types, I can perhaps help you. You see, these varieties are treated quite differently. A talisman rose is of easy culture, but would require some winter protection as far north as Maine.

MURRAY LEAVES OIL SHUTDOWN TO TEXAS

Oklahoman Promises Order If Lone Star State Will Give Its Support.

Oklahoma City, July 13 (A.P.).—Gov. Murray promised today an executive order for shutting down Oklahoma's oil fields as a step toward higher prices if Texas will join in the movement.

He took the position an Oklahoma shutdown would be useless if the great east Texas fields remain open.

The Texas Legislature, two-thirds of its members pledged to vote for oil proration, will convene in special session tomorrow. Optimistic views of the Texas situation were taken both by the Oklahoma Governor and Cicero Murray, chairman of the oil States advisory committee.

Meanwhile, the Standish Oil Co., buying agent of the Phillips Petroleum Co., announced its intention of retaining prices of 37 cents for 40-gravity oil and above in the face of recent 15-cent reductions. The Standish minimum is 25 cents per barrel for below 29-gravity oil in Kansas and Oklahoma.

Cicero Murray expressed the belief that if the Texas Legislature effects an oil curtailment law Gov. Sterling might be persuaded to issue an executive order for a shutdown.

"If he acts I will join him in it," said Gov. Murray. He expressed the belief, however, that shutdown of small stripper wells might ruin them and said he would seek information on what wells should be closed.

In the Oklahoma City field today Phillips Petroleum had but two wells open; T. B. Slick interests had one working over and slopping crude; Anderson-Pritchard had all wells shut in and numerous other producers were closed down.

Member of Academy Succumbs in Sweden

Stockholm, July 13 (A.P.).—The death of Tor Hedberg, author and critic and member of the Swedish Academy, which awards the Nobel Prize for literature, was announced today.

This was the second loss to the academy within two days, Archbishop Nathan Soederblom, winner of the 1930 Nobel Peace Prize, having died yesterday. Three of the academy's eighteen seats now are vacant.

Fargo, N. Dak., July 13 (A.P.).—Bishop J. P. Tyler, of the Episcopal Church in North Dakota, 69, died today after a short illness.

He was a grand-nephew of President John Tyler, and was born in Hanover County, Va.

JOHN W. BULLA EXPIRES.

Former Postoffice Worker Here Dies in Miami Beach.

Word has been received here of the death at a Miami Beach, Fla., hospital of John W. Bulla, who lived here for many years. He was 72 years old at the time of his death, which was the indirect result of an automobile accident.

Mr. Bulla, a native of Greensboro, N. C., was connected with the Postoffice Department for nearly 50 years. He was first in the railway mail service and later was appointed a Postoffice Department inspector. From 1924 to 1926 he was assigned from office duty here to a position as Assistant to the Postmaster at Miami. He retired in 1926.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. M. Bulla, and a daughter, Miss Beatrice Bulla, who live at 519 Seward Square southeast, this city. A son, Walter F. Bulla, died in 1924. Two sisters, Mrs. H. L. Brower, Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Nannie Bulla, of Ashboro, N. C., and a brother, Louis D. Bulla, of Ashboro, also survive.

G. P. VANDEGRIFT RITES.

Elevator Victim Will Be Buried in Maryland; Services Here.

Mitchell Booher, 50-year-old carpenter, who was killed when an elevator crushed him while working in the elevator shaft at the Westchester Apartments on Saturday last, will be buried today at Smithville, Md. Services will be held at the home of his son, Charles B. Booher, 5710 Georgia avenue, before the body is taken to the Maryland town.

Mr. Booher was a widower and had made his home while here at the Georgia avenue address. The services will be at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Noted German Historian Dies.

Berlin, July 13 (A.P.).—Prof. Friedrich Gundolf, pioneer German literary historian and professor of German literary history at Heidelberg University, died today. He was 51 years old. Prof. Gundolf was the author of several books and made a number of German translations of Shakespeare's plays.

JACK RABBITS ARE B. Y. P. U. SYMBOL

Arthur Ellis, Post Staff Photographer.

These three members of the B. Y. P. U., Francis Rizzari (left), Herbert McQuery and William Radcliffe, started back home yesterday in the dilapidated flivver which brought them nearly 2,000 miles from their home in Golden, Colo., to attend the convention which closed Sunday night. Leaving home the night of June 30 they arrived here the morning the convention opened, July 8, in this flivver, mounted on both sides by large figures of jack rabbits, symbol of the Colorado Union.

ATTORNEY GENERAL TOLD TO INDICT LEA

Tennesseean Is Given Until Monday to Act or New Man Will Be Named.

Nashville, Tenn., July 13 (U.P.).—Attorney General Richard Atkinson was given until Monday by Judge Charles Gilbert today to bring indictments against Col. Luke Lea, local publisher, and his son, Luke Lea, jr., for alleged illegal transaction in connection with the defunct Liberty Bank & Trust Co. here. An attorney general pro tem will be appointed if indictments are not brought, Gilbert said.

Atkinson replied that he had already examined persons whom the court demanded he question as witnesses, but said he would examine them again.

The attorney general said further that the granting of "wholesale immunity" to subordinates of the Liberty Bank during their examination by a legislative investigating committee had tied his hands. He stated that no person had come to his office with a complaint or information regarding illegal practices at the Liberty Bank, and declared he had been forced to do every sort of work on the case alone. "I want information from any living human being," he told Judge Gilbert.

When Gilbert was asked what witnesses he wanted examined in preparation for indictments against the Leas he named State Banking Superintendent D. D. Robertson, W. S. Chappell, cashier of the closed bank; Cecil Sims, a lawyer who represented the bank receiver, and W. O Briley, accountant for the State highway department. It was these witnesses whom Atkinson said he would reexamine.

Pie-Shaped Rooms feature of Rectory

North Attleboro, Mass., July 13 (U.P.).—The "Roundhouse," local landmark, is one of the most extraordinary dwellings in America.

Built some 75 years ago by Albert Tifft, a silversmith, it now serves as a home for the Rev. Patrick E. McGhee, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, and two curates.

The parish house, as its name implies, is round. It is shaped like a three-layer wedding cake. All of its eight rooms are shaped like wedges of pie. A steel-encased spiral stairway winds up from the center of the hall on the first floor to the glass-enclosed cupola atop the strange structure.

On the ground floor are a bedroom, study, reception room, dining room and kitchen, and on the second floor, two bedrooms, a living-room and bath.

Until 40 years ago, when the present St. Mary's Church was erected, an octangular-shaped brick barn stood at the rear of "The Roundhouse" and was used as a place of worship.

Suing Spouse Charges Deprivation of Football

Los Angeles, July 13 (U.P.).—When Notre Dame played the University of Southern California in football here last December Mrs. Esther F. Gerneaux's husband told her he had a ticket for her. When game time came, however, Gerneaux failed to appear. Mrs. Gerneaux learned he had taken some one else to the game.

Today there is an entry on the books of Los Angeles County to show that Mrs. Gerneaux has divorced Carnie A. Gerneaux.

"He promised to take me to the Notre Dame game and bought a ticket," she explained to a judge. "Then he took some one else and I didn't get to see the game."

JOHN H. ELDRIDGE DEAD.

Roads Bureau Engineer Succumbs While in Tuscon, Ariz.

Word was received here yesterday of the death last Friday in Tucson, Ariz., of John H. Eldridge, 49, 4917 Battery lane, Bethesda, Md. Mr. Eldridge was a highway maintenance engineer for the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and was a brother of Assistant Traffic Director M. O. Eldridge.

He went to Arizona about four months ago on business for the roads bureau, of which he was the oldest staff member, having begun his connection there in 1900. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gladys D. Eldridge; two sons, John H., jr., 20, and Thomas L., 10; two sisters, Mrs. C. B. Roberts and Mrs. F. A. Weiss, both of Knoxville, Tenn.

No definite funeral arrangements had been made early last night, but it was expected that Mr. Eldridge's body would arrive here early this week and that burial would probably take place in Rockville.

SHRINE FUN SNARLS CLEVELAND TRAFFIC

Bands Toot in Parades as Gayly-Fezzed Lodge Members Arrive.

Cleveland, July 13 (A.P.).—The Shrine brought its big show to town today and made Cleveland an Oriental oasis of parades, concerts, ceremonials and fun-making.

Delegates were arriving by the thousands, by special trains, by automobile, by plane and by boat, and tomorrow between 60,000 and 100,000 nobles are expected here for the fifty-seventh annual convention of the Ancient and Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of North America.

Today was listed on the program as all-Ohio day, with 750 members of the six Ohio temples initiated into the order, but the arrival of delegations from all parts of the country came in for equal attention.

One thousand members of Medinah Temple, of Chicago, the largest in the order, arrived in spectacular fashion on the lake steamer Seeandbee. The Chicagoans, bedecked in red, green and yellow uniforms and bright red fezzes, paraded from the dock behind Al Koran Patrol of Cleveland. They tied up downtown traffic for half an hour.

Medinah sent a brass band, an Oriental band, chanters, 500 uniformed men and a headquarters company from its 23,000 members. This year a Chicago man, Thomas J. Houston, is to be elected imperial potentate and the Windy City is a contender for the 1932 convention.

Lulu Temple, of Philadelphia, sent the next largest delegation—900—and presented a quarter-mile-long march of sound and color. Moolah Temple, St. Louis, with 500 nobles, arrived on the steamer Eastern States, while Iram Temple, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., also came by boat via Buffalo.

Abu Bekr, Sioux City, attracted attention with its white Arabian mounted patrol of 30 pure-white horses. Syria Temple, Pittsburgh, was represented by 700 nobles campaigning for the election of J. Milton Ryall for outer guard.

Band concerts, a lake cruise to Put-in-Bay, patrol drills and the annual meetings of the recorders and the Royal Order of Jesters, composed of men high in Shrinedom, completed the day's program. Tonight was given over to a mardi gras and carnival, with Lakeside avenue roped off for the merrymakers.

Rare Glass Exhibit Planned by Society

Early American Product Will Be Featured at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, July 13 (U.P.).—Nearly 3,000 pieces of rare examples of early American glass with a collection of old Philadelphia made Chippendale furniture will be exhibited by the Pennsylvania Society of Colonial Dames.

The glass, mostly Stiegal, was originally collected by Leslie Buswell and recently purchased by Mrs. William G. Walker.

The majority of early American glass is the product of one of two well known glass centers; Stiegal's, at Manheim among the Pennsylvania Germans, or Wister's and other south Jersey plants.

The distinctive features of the Stiegal output are the more or less sophisticated treatment and form, while the glass from the Wister and south Jersey factories was usually of a cruder design.

Wisterberg glass was frequently made with several colors to obtain the desired decorative effects.

Excavations Bring Light On Ancient Bohemians

Prague, July 13 (U.P.).—Excavations which throw light on the cave dwellers of northern Bohemia of 2500 B. C. have been made near Maerisch-Neustadt in North Mahren.

Well-preserved caves have been uncovered. They show a comparatively comfortable standard of living. Stone fireplace with cooking utensils of clay, knives, forks, spoons of bronze and tools of bronze, stone and iron, were found.

SOVIET SHIFTS PLAN OF PAYING FARMERS

Amount Is to Be Based on Quantity and Quality of Work Performed.

Moscow, July 13 (A.P.).—As a further detail in the system of reimbursing farm labor according to individual needs, the people's commissariat for agriculture decreed today that payment now shall be made only on the bases of quantity and quality of work performed.

Aimed at increasing the "material interestedness" of the farmers, thus enlarging production, the decree was another concrete result of the new Soviet industrial policy and a departure from the doctrine "from each according to his capacity; to each according to his needs."

Part-Payment Plan.

Heretofore collective farmers have been paid partly in money and from farm earnings and partly in produce according to the size and needs of their families, many taking their share of produce at the outset of the harvest. These factors, combined with inadequate organization and management of farms, were cited in the decree as responsible for a break in labor discipline and consequent losses from the harvest.

"We must not repeat last year's mistakes," the decree said, adding, "proper distribution is impossible without an account system in labor."

Hereafter every member of a collective farm will be placed on a basis of individual effort, to be paid only according to the days devoted to work and the quality of his labor.

Distribution of Produce.

The system of produce distribution also was changed to compel farms to fulfill contracts to supply the government with its quota first. This was expected to provide an incentive to the farmers to make the most of the harvest in order to obtain a larger share of the remainder for themselves.

The system whereby monetary advances have been made to individual farmers and deducted after the harvest profits were counted will be continued, but the decree provides that those farms failing to produce their proper quotas will receive no advances.

The new system already is in force on a number of collective farms, but the decree makes it mandatory throughout the Soviet union. Collective farms had planted more than 50 per cent of the entire cultivated area last spring and the decree was issued just as harvesting was beginning.

20 Years Longer Life Given to Average Tooth

Chicago, July 13 (A.P.).—The life expectancy of the average American tooth is 20 years greater now than it was in 1885, says the Chicago Dental Society.

Advancement in the sciences of oral hygiene and of preventive and corrective dentistry, the society says, has increased the life of the average human tooth in this country from 8 to 28 years. The society also declares that American teeth are more healthy and more beautiful than those of any other civilized people.

Cause of Epilepsy Traced to Protein

Large Amounts of Waste Chemical Are Found in Patients.

Columbia, Mo., July 13 (A.P.).—Dr. M. M. Ellis and Dr. M. Pinson Neal, professors in the University of Missouri school of medicine studying the cause of epilepsy, have found abnormally large amounts of guanidine in the blood of patients suffering from the disease.

Guanidine is a chemical derived from the splitting up of protein. It is constantly found in very small amounts in normal blood and other of the body tissues, and is generally considered one of the waste products of the body.

Within certain limits it apparently produces no harm; beyond the normal amount it has undesirable effects.

The average amount of guanidine found in epileptics was two to four times the amount found in the blood of normal persons.

Mrs. Yutz's Body to Be Sent West.

The body of Mrs. Della Yutz, 29, who died Sunday at Providence Hospital after a brief illness, will be sent to her home town, Moberly, Mo., today at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Yutz was the wife of Torpedoman Harold M. Yutz, stationed at the navy yard, who is engaged in experimental diving work.

Italians Will Bid For Opera Singers

Four of Largest Houses to Attempt to Defeat U. S. in Plans.

Rome, July 13 (A.P.).—American opera companies that lure Italian singers with cash are to be combatted by four of Italy's largest opera houses, which have just completed a working agreement at the suggestion of the government.

These four—La Scala, of Milan; the Royal Opera House, of Rome; the San Carlo, of Naples, and the Carlo Felice, of Genoa—have virtually pooled their resources.

This opera combine hopes to bargain on more equal terms with American opera houses for the singers of Italy. Hitherto these singers have flocked to America and when the Metropolitan and Chicago companies were on vacation they came home in glory and sang at a few benefit concerts.

Colored Dentists Of 9 States Meet

Colored dentists from nine States yesterday opened sessions of the eighteenth annual convention of the Interstate Dental Association in auditorium of Howard University Dental College. Dr. Ellwood Downing, of Roanoke, Va., president, addressed the association. Clinics were conducted during an afternoon session by Dr. Adolphus Walton and Dr. Eugene Mayritte.

Visiting dentists were entertained last night at a smoker at the Musolit Club, where Dr. Charles H. Wesley, professor of history at Howard University, spoke.

The social committee of the convention has arranged a bridge party for visiting women at the Musolit from 2 to 5 o'clock this afternoon, with Mrs. Inez Pearson as chairman.

P.A. and Sport Shoes Go Together . . .

THINK of those times last Summer when you went places where others wore sport shoes and flannels. True, you weren't the only one—but you did feel a little self-conscious, didn't you? Don't go through that again this year. Consider your Personal Appearance first. It's the biggest asset you possess.

FLAG ENVOYS DANCE AT FRENCH PALACE

Special to The Washington Post.

Paris, July 13.—American boys taught the French girls the intricacies of the "shag" while dapper French youths were instructing the American girls in the steps of the tango at a beautiful tea dance, given this afternoon at the lovely home of the Marquise De Chambrun in honor of the "Envoys of Friendship," the group of boys and girls visiting France on a goodwill mission under the auspices of The United States Flag Association. The dance was one of the most appreciated events in the busy program of the "envoys" so far.

Immediately upon the arrival of the "envoys" in France the Marquise, who is a first cousin of the late Speaker Nicholas Longworth, invited them to make a place in their program for an afternoon reception and dance at her beautiful home. Owing to the many official engagements of the group, which included an audience with the president of France and a reception and tea by President Doumer and the "First Lady of France" at the Palace Elysees, the "envoys" were unable to accept the invitation until today.

The Marquise had invited a number of French boys and girls to the dance and both groups of young people immediately manifested the utmost interest in each other. The group of French boys and girls which has been accompanying the Americans, acting as guides and interpreters, was also present and brought about immediate understandings among the several groups. The American boys and girls danced together at first and the French boys and girls were greatly intrigued at some of the American steps. The tea soon resolved itself into a series of dancing classes with each group trying to learn the steps of the other.

During the afternoon the mission of the "envoys" was explained to the French children and adults present, and made a profound impression. Col. James A. Moss, president general of the United States Flag Association, explained how, after being graduated from West Point and serving in three wars, he had conceived, with officials of the United States Flag Association, a plan for bringing about future permanent peace through the establishment of lasting friendships among the children of the world today, who will be in charge of its policies tomorrow.

Both French children and adults asked many questions about the plan, and showed a decided interest in the statement of President Doumer that he would like to see a similar group of French children sent to the United States next year. This statement, published in the leading newspapers here, has attracted much attention and favorable comment.

Every minute of the time of the "envoys" is taken up with some activity, and their program for the remainder of their stay in France is so filled that they have been obliged to decline all further invitations.

Monument Light Bids To Be Opened

Two Searchlights Planned to Illuminate Tip of Great Shaft.

Bids will be opened Thursday by the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks for the provision of two incandescent searchlights, which will be used to light the tip of the Washington Monument. A fund of $15,000 was made available July 1, last, for the lighting of the shaft by flood lights and searchlights.

One of the searchlights is to be placed on the east end of the Navy Department, while the other is to go on top of the auditor's building in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing group.

Specifications are also being drawn for the flood lights, for which bids will be asked in about ten days. Three lamps of 1,500-watt intensity and two lights of 1,000 watts each will probably be placed on each of the four sides of the monument. They are to be placed underground. A special bench will hide them in the daytime.

Summer Schools' Enrollment 3,955

Upper Grades Draw Most Students in Six-Week Short Term.

Washington's summer school enrolment of children is 3,955, it was announced yesterday by E. J. Lockwood, director in charge of summer schools.

Of this number 1,400 are enrolled at grade schools, 627 in the junior high and 1,826 in the senior high schools. Summer terms opened a week ago and will continue five weeks.

Mr. Lockwood points out that children go to summer school for three reasons: Because they have failed in some subjects during the past year, because they with to strengthen their work and, in the cases of some pupils who are brilliant, to make up enough work in the brief summer course so they can skip a grade when schools reopen.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

258

Curiously enough a youthful feeling usually accompanies a dress with a capelet collar. And it's practical and smart, too, when the capelet falls sufficiently over the arms to take the place of sleeves as does today's pretty model.

The skirt displays slimness in low-flared skirt flounce and smooth fitting hip sections.

And how simple it is to make it! Just try it in a printed crepe silk. You'll want to make another in a sheer printed cotton as batiste or lawn. Linen prints and eyelet embroidered batiste make up lovely.

Style No. 258 may be had in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch material.

The northeastern disturbance is moving slowly northeastward with center near Belle Isle, 29.64 inches, while the northwestern disturbance has remained practically stationary, Churchill, 29.62 inches, but pressure is low and falling over practically all sections west of the Mississippi River, Boise, Idaho, 29.56 inches, and Bismarck, N. Dak., 29.80 inches. Pressure is high off the Atlantic Coast, Bermuda, 30.12 inches, and is relatively high over Hudson Strait, Hopes Advance, 30.06 inches. Local showers have occured in the Southern States, and rather general showers from northern Missouri northeastward to Michigan and western New York, while the weather has remained fair in practically all other sections. The temperature has risen almost generally from the plateau region eastward to New England and the interior the Middle Atlantic States, and it is now considerably above normal over the greater part of the United States. Both Phoenix and Yuma, Ariz., report a maximum of 112 degrees, and Sheridan, Wyo., 100 degrees.

Boating - Bathing - Fishing

All lovers of these favorite summer sports will find them at their best at WOODLAND BEACH. Swimming in the sparkling waters of South River is made absolutely safe by the sheltered coves. Fishing and boating may be enjoyed under ideal conditions.

A Real Investment Opportunity

In offering WOODLAND BEACH to its readers THE WASHINGTON POST has not taken into consideration land values in the vicinity. For years property in the neighborhood has been selling at much higher prices. Therefore, in addition to its many other advantages, WOODLAND BEACH gives you a chance to make a shrewd investment.

Clubhouse

In keeping with its policy of doing everything to make WOODLAND BEACH the perfect place for its readers to spend the summer, we have erected and equipped an attractive colonial clubhouse which will be turned over free for the exclusive use of property owners.

How to Get There

WOODLAND BEACH is only 32 miles from Washington and 30 miles from Baltimore. It is reached from Washington via the Defense Highway (U. S. No. 50) to Camp Parole, then south across South River Bridge to Mayo Road and follow signs direct to property.

QUIET IS RETURNING AFTER MILL RIOTS

Pawtucket, R. I., July 13 (A.P.).—Prodding night sticks in the hands of city police today kept Pawtucket streets clear of anticipated demonstrations of striking textile workers which, it was feared, might result in a repetition of recent mob excesses in Central Falls.

Meanwhile, an announcement by the Royal Weaving Co., where a strike is in progress, that it would open one of its mill departments tomorrow caused authorities to plan protection for any workers who might attempt to return to work.

Squads of police armed with riot guns and night sticks surrounded the properties of the weaving company throughout the day as a result of a heralded plan of the strikers to provide a demonstration there.

Early in the day police thwarted an attempt of several hundred men and women to hold a mass meeting on a vacant lot near the mill and forced them to march fully a half mile from the property.

Then, throughout the day, they forced all pedestrians to walk on the side of the street farthest from the mill and to keep moving. Every effort to gather or to loiter was broken without serious consequences, although ten men and women were arrested charged mostly with minor infractions of the law involving failure to obey the order of a police officer.

The adjacent city of Central Falls where mobs three times last week charged police guarding the General Fabrics Corporation properities, necessitating the use of tear gas grenades and fire hose to disperse them, enjoyed comparative quiet today.

Nevada Is Branded Disgrace to Nation

Endeavor Society Leaders Say Reno Is Blot on Civilization.

San Francisco, Cal., July 13 (A.P.).—Leaders of the International Christian Endeavor Society in convention here today labeled Reno, Nev., a "blot on civilization" and discussed a formal resolution on the subject.

The Rev. Mark Matthews of Seattle, attacking the "wide open" Nevada metropolis, declared, "Nevada has repudiated its State's rights in the American Commonwealth. The state is a disgrace to the nation, both in its divorce and gambling phases."

President Daniel A. Poling of the society said a formal resolution against Reno's wide openness would be considered, although he declared "we ordinarily confine our stands to principles only."

Police Scout Tale Keller Was Slain

Man Says He Saw Pair Push Graft Probe Witness Under Train.

New York, July 13 (A.P.).—Police tonight were inclined to doubt Robert Hulsert, who waited three days to come forward with a story that he had seen two men push Traugott F. Keller, chief engineer of the dock department, under a subway train Friday.

Keller's death, which occurred shortly before he was to have testified in the dock department bribery scandal, had been listed as suicide.

Hulsert, who detectives said has a police record, signed an affidavit in which he claimed to have been an eyewitness of the killing of Keller. The authorities said they had found discrepancies in Hulsert's story and had received conflicting testimony from two other witnesses.

Denmark Pays Tribute To Late U. S. Diplomat

Copenhagen, Denmark, July 13 (A.P.).—A memorial service for Ralph H. Booth, late United States Ambassador to Denmark, was conducted here today in Saint Alban's Church.

King Christian was represented at the service by the lord chamberlain. North Winship, charge d'affaires, represented the legation and the Booth family.

Others who attended included the Princes Axel and Eric, the Princesses Eric and Viggo, Count Moltke, former foreign minister; countess Moltke, the Danish foreign office personnel, the Diplomatic Corps and the American colony.

9 Mohammedans Die, Scores Hurt in India

Serinagur, Kashmir, India, July 13 (A.P.).—Nine Mohammedans were killed and scores wounded in an attempt to rescue one of their number from jail.

The prisoner was charged with delivering an inflammatory speech against Hindus alleged to have desecrated the Koran.

Workers Fight Through Fire As $250,000 Plant Burns

Nashville, Tenn., July 13 (U.P.).—Eighteen women and a number of male employes of Eisele & Co. here fought their way through smoke and flames today when fire swept the plant at a loss of $250,000. Thirteen women and two men were injured in fighting their way through blazing corridors and stairways, or in leaping from second-story windows.

Concussions rocked the plant after a case of thermometers on the first floor exploded and flames spread upward to the third story. The company manufacturers hospital and physicians' supplies.

Women on the upper floors began to run through exits screaming, while two jumped from second-story windows, and a panic resulted in the women's dressing room on the first floor.

M. A. Kidwell, who was eating his lunch near the thermometers when they exploded, snatched up a fire extinguisher and played its small stream on the roaring flames until his arms and neck were badly burned. Employes of the Tennessee Power Co. began to give emergency treatment to the injured plant employes with hospital equipment which they had on hand.

It was not known whether all employes of the company had been able to escape from the building, although a check-up and search was being conducted this afternoon.

During the height of the conflagration spectators' lives were saved by the coolness of George Lewis, a power company lineman, who had mounted a pole to cut wires leading into the Eisele plant. Just as he servered the stranda the decayed pole snapped at its base.

U. S. Refunds Fine Paid for Smoke

$35 Out of School Aid's Pocket Year Ago Returned to Him.

The $35 that was paid more than a year ago by Jere J. Crane, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, on a charge of violating the smoke ordinance of the District, was returned to him yesterday by the Government.

Mr. Crane paid the fine and fee out of his own pocket, after being fined in Police Court for alleged excessive emission of smoke from the chimneys of Wilson Teachers College in March, 1930. The charge was preferred by Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer.

When Representative Robert G. Simmons, of Nebraska, chairman of the District appropriation committee, learned that Mr. Crane had paid the money out of his own funds, he ordered an item included in the 1932 appropriation act reimbursing the school officer. Mr. Crane received his check yesterday.

Taxicab Company Gets Permit for New Route

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday authorized the Try-Me Taxicab Co. to operate a bus service between the Lincoln Theater, 1215 U street northwest, and Surburban Gardens, a colored resort, Fiftieth and Hayes streets northeast.

The Blue Ribbon De Luxe Motor Bus Co., which formerly operated over this route, has moved its terminal to Tenth and U streets northwest.

Connection with Fatal Bombing in Birmingham Is Seen.

Birmingham, Ala., July 13 (A.P.).—Police investigation of dairy plant and barber shop bombing here Friday night that caused the death of two persons was given impetus today with reports that an ambulance company had been threatened with violence unless it increased its charges.

The inquiry proceeded on the theory that hoodlums, attempting to establish various "rackets" in Birmingham, were responsible for the bombings and the threats.

Paul Cole, chief of detectives, said he received a report the ambulance operator was warned in a telephone message last night that hereafter an increase of $1 for transporting persons from their homes to hospitals must be charged.

Eldridge McCord, former city fireman, arrested Saturday for questioning in connection with the dairy bombing, remained in custody today.

WATER AND WOODS POST BEACH LURES

Getting in the Swim Is Literal With Lot Owners on South River.

"Getting in the swim" has long been used as an expression where a great response is being made to some particular idea or proposition. "Getting in the swim" at Woodland Beach has a double meaning, for those who join the list of Woodland Beach lot owners are literally "in the swim."

Water, always sought in the summer months in climates like that of Washington, predominates at this Maryland resort on the South River. All told, 4½ miles of waterfront stretch along the coves and river banks included in the Beach property, offering every buyer the opportunity to build close to the world's playground—water.

Water is not the only feature of Woodland Beach, which appeals to Capital residents, however. The Beach is ideally located 32 miles away, far enough to give the site a rural atmosphere and yet close enough to town to enable summer dwellers to commute if that is necessary.

Then, too, the Beach has sections of woods and cool shade trees; it has boat landings where sportsmen may shove off for a day of boating or fishing; it has diving boards for those who like to perform in the water; it has shallow water where children may wade and splash in safety; it has other amusement devices for the boys and girls and it has a community clubhouse of modern design which will be turned over to lot owners when the community is ready to organize.

All these things combine to make Woodland Beach one of the most attractive propositions offered in years in this section of the country. And still the price asked is reasonable beyond question. All lots at this garden spot are priced at $93. To obtain a lot and start building a summer home it is necessary only to pay $9 in cash plus the cost of a subscription to The Washington Post. The remainder may then be paid in monthly installments of $3.50.

Within a short time a new $750,000 concrete bridge will replace the wooden structure across the South River. Improvements are being made all through the section and Woodland Beach property will improve likewise. Buy now and become a part of this growing summer community.

Smoking of Woman On Streets Is Upheld

New York, July 13 (U.P.).—Women have the right to smoke on New York streets, Magistrate George B. Deluca ruled today. He fined a man $25 for slapping a cigarette from a woman's mouth on Park avenue.

Mrs. Pearl Barton yelled for a policeman after Michael Kelleher had knocked a cigarette from her mouth. It was testified in court that Kelleher stamped on Mrs. Barton's feet and spoiled her hat and dress while she was hanging on to him awaiting the arrival of the law.

Harding Associate Goes Under Knife

Hoke Donithen Long Has Been Active in Ohio Politics.

Columbus, Ohio, July 13 (A.P.).—Hoke Donithen, 57, Marion attorney and life-long friend and close political associate of the late President Harding, was in a serious condition at Grant Hospital today. He entered the hospital Friday for observation and an emergency operation was performed when his condition suddenly became worse.

Donithen headed the Harding Memorial Association at Marion and prepared all plans for the dedication of the marble memorial last month by President Hoover and former President Calvin Coolidge.

He took his part in Ohio politics as manager of the late President Harding's campaign for governor in 1910. In 1914 he successfully managed Harding's campaign for the Senate, the first to be held under the Ohio primary election system.

Following Harding's death Donithen continued to be active in Republican politics, and in 1924 managed the preprimary campaign for former President Coolidge in Ohio.

Studebaker Free Wheeling makes me want to go places and do things

MOTORING was almost becoming commonplace.

Some men were saying: "I don't care anything about automobiling; I buy a car for transportation!"

Then Studebaker gave us Free Wheeling and put the thrill back into motoring (and a 15% to 20% saving in oil and gas). Now adults get the same joy out of driving a car that children get out of tobogganing, skating or chuting the chutes.

Motoring is again an OUTDOOR SPORT.

Now that you can buy a Free Wheeling Studebaker for $845, it's perfectly sil to buy a car without it—aren't I right?

This $845 Studebaker, by the way, is the lowest priced Six with Free Wheeling as standard equipment—engineered from tip to tail to give you the fullest benefits of Free Wheeling in its finest form.

Exchange Delays Judgment on German News; Turnover Is Large.

New York, July 13 (A.P.).—Wall street quietly studied the news from Europe today, but did not care to pass final judgment until all the evidence was in.

Financial markets were lower, although with the exception of German bonds trading in securities and commodities was light, and afternoon recoveries from the day's lows were the rule in all directions.

Stocks have made their poorest showing at the outset. Week-end selling orders were rather heavy—United States Steel was off 3½ points on the first sale—but bearishly inclined professionals failed to show much aggressiveness, perhaps because of rumors that banking interests had propped the market against anything more than a routine decline.

Prices Recover Slowly.

Prices recovered slowly from the early lows; they did not close at the top, but they were well above the bottom in most important issues. The net loss of a point in Steel common measured the average extent of the final losses, and the turnover of only 1,300,000 shares attested the absence of important activity.

Foreign exchanges and German bonds were frankly weak. Obligations of the Reich government dropped heavily, touching new lows under heavy liquidation. The plight of the mark, aggravated by further heavy demands on the Richsbank and the crisis confronting private banks, became more acute and most dealers here considered quotations as nominal. The final rate posted was around 22, or about 1½ cents lower.

Although banking circles here remained in close touch with the situation, including, presumably, the progress of the long meeting at Basel, it was said no formal conferences had been held save a regular meeting at the Federal Reserve. It was apparent the large local banking institutions had taken the attitude that Germany should try strenuously to help herself through further rationing of credit and controling foreign exchanges.

Aid to German Bank.

The Federal Reserve Bank, it was believed, would not take the lead toward providing the credit sought by Dr. Luther, the Reichsbank president, although it was pointed out that the Reserve might be expected to participate in any large credit approved by the Bank for International Settlements. It was taken for granted that the $100,000,000 one-month accommodation, expiring on Thursday, would be extended for at least three months.

A report from London said a $300,000,000 credit had been arranged, but this quickly proved to be unauthentic. The trading hours here passed without an announcement as to what was going on at the Basel meeting, and it was apparent that nothing would be done in this country without the initiative of the International Bank's directorate.

Domestic news was of little moment marketwise. The savings banks and insurance companies came to the aid of the railroads' freight rate case with supporting petitions which again called attention to the threatening situation hanging over railroad investments if relief is not granted. The copper market weakened a little and some second-hand metal was reported sold at 7¾ cents.

Decline in Domestics.

Declines in numerous domestic stocks were cut to fractions, so that at the close Bethlehem Steel, Radio, General Electric, Anaconda, Standard of New Jersey, American Telephone, Southern Pacific and Allied Chemical were off rather nominally. American Can finished unchanged whereas it had been about 2 points lower in the early selling. National Biscuit and General Motors firmed, the former rising a point net.

Maximum losses in foreign exchanges were reduced. Sterling Cables closed at $4.86, for cables, up nearly a cent from the low, but off 11-16 from last Saturday.

Cotton, after breaking more than $1.50 a bale for some positions, pared its losses to 70 cents to $1 a bale. Wheat was still under pressure, reflecting in part an increased visible supply and weak Northwest markets. Final prices were ⅝ to 1¾ lower. Corn eased ½ to 1 cent, influenced by continued favorable weather.

$15,000,000 Bonds Sold.

Chicago, July 13 (A.P.).—The Peoples Gas Light & Coke Co. of Chicago has sold to Halsey, Stuart & Co. $15,000,000 of first mortgage 4 per cent bonds to be offered shortly at 94, yielding about 4.29 per cent. The proceeds will be used chiefly to retire at 105 and accrued interest $13,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds issued in 1928, when the Peoples company took over the Chicago By-Product Coke Co.

FOX AGAIN RECHOSEN FIRE COMPANY HEAD

National Union Insurance Here Reelects President for 30th Time.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Albert F. Fox was reelected president of National Union Fire Insurance Co., of Washington, for the thirtieth consecutive year at the annual meeting of stockholders of that company held yesterday. Two vacancies on the board of directors caused by death have been filled, it was announced. John Saul, of the B. F. Saul Co., succeeds his father, the late B. F. Saul, and James P. Schick, president of National Mortgage & Investment Corporation, succeeds the late Holcombe G. Johnson.

As the late Mr. Saul was one of two vice presidents of the company, Walter S. Pratt, jr., was elected to serve as a vice president, John B. Larner, president of the Washington Loan & Trust Co., being reelected as the other vice president. William E. Somervell was reelected secretary of the company and William H. Marbury, assistant secretary.

Other directors reelected were the following: Charles R. Brown, Floyd E. Davis, Albert F. Fox, C. E. Galliher, J. Leo Kolb, John B. Larner, Walter S. Pratt, jr., F. L. Sandoz. The charter of the company bears the signatures of Abraham Lincoln and William H. Seward, having been organized in 1865.

President Is 86.

Mr. Fox, the president, is 86 years old. He was born in York County, Pa., near the place now called Freysville on December 22, 1845. He attended the public schools, rarely missing a day, all through his youth. In those times, there was but one term of school a year and it lasted 80 days. It began the first Monday in November and closed near March 4.

Mr. Fox completed all of his education in his native town in 1863, and soon afterward obtained a position in a drug store, at York, Pa. He worked there for a time and coming to Washington, entered the employ of the real estate office of the late Joseph F. Kelley. He remained with that firm until June 30, 1876.

He next opened an office of his own at 920 F street northwest, becoming associated with the late Louis P. Shoemaker. He was next elected to the presidency of Columbia National Bank and served that institution faithfully for 25 years, resigning on account of his advancing years. He then transferred his business office to the National Union Fire Insurance Co. Building.

Experts Will Speak.

A group of nationally known advertising and merchandising experts from several of the leading radio manufacturing organizations are to address employes of the Potomac Electric Power Co., Potomac Electric Appliance Co. and Washington Railway & Electric Co. Thursday at 3 p. m. in the auditorium of the Potomac Electric Power Co Building.

The sales meeting, sponsored by the radio division of Potomac Electric Appliance Co., will have George W. Riley, radio manager, as chairman. Guest speakers include Ben C. Bowe, manager of the radio division of General Electric Co.; H. J Francis, manager of the merchandising department, General Electric Co.; Sayre M. Ransdell, sales promotion manager of the Philadelphia Storage Battery Co.; J. McCoy, manager of the sales statistical department, Atwater Kent Co.; Harold A. Brooks, president of Potomac Electric Appliance Co., and C. Melvin Sharpe, executive assistant to the president, Potomac Electric Power Co., will also speak.

GERMAN BONDS DROP HEAVILY IN SELLING

Effect Weakens Market on $8,695,000 Turnover; Other Trading Quiet.

New York, July 13 (A.P.).—Heavy liquidation of German government issues and smaller offerings of other obligations originating in Germany weakened the bond market today. Activity with few exceptions, however, was more or less nominal, and the day's business aggregated only $8,695,000, par value.

The German 7s, which closed last Saturday at 98⅛, broke to 89¼, while the so-called Young plan 5½s slumped to 62⅜. In both instances there was some recovery in the later dealings, the former bond finished at 90, off 8⅜, and the latter at 63½, off 5½. Volume in the 5½s exceeded $600,000 principal amount, while the turnover of the 7s was more than $500,000.

Losses were larger in numerous other German obligations. Berlin City Electric 6s of 1955 had the dizziest drop, 15½ points, and closed at the bottom, 50. Declines of 9 to 12 points elsewhere in the German group were rather frequent.

This weakness, which of course had its impetus in the gloomy state of the Reich's financial affairs, communicated to a lesser degree to other foreign bonds, particularly Latin Americans. The domestic investment list, susceptible to the heaviness of the stock market, averaged lower, although many of the highest rated obligations gave little if any ground. Second grade rails weer noticeably soft and some "legals" yielded good-sized fractions. Rock Island 4s, St. Paul adjustment 5s, Missouri Pacific general 4s and convertible 5½s and Frisco 4s and 4½s were off at least a point. Cotton Belt first 4s lost more than 3.

Trading in industrials and utilities tended to stagnate. Weak spots included Container Corporation 5s, Goodyear 5s, International Telephone 4½s and convertible 4½s, Vanadium 5s and American & Foreign Power 5s.

The United States Government group was quiet and slightly irregular.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Ray Sensabaugh

YAHOO

IN "GULLIVER'S TRAVELS" SWIFT TELLS OF A COUNTRY OF EDUCATED HORSES WHO RULED A DEGRADED RACE OF HUMAN BEINGS, WHO WERE CALLED YAHOOS. THAT NAME IS NOW OFTEN APPLIED TO STUPID PEOPLE.

THE GUEST BOOK

IN ANCIENT EGYPT ALL IMPORTANT GUESTS HAD THEIR NAMES OR SYMBOLS CARVED ON A GUEST WALL. LATER RACES USED SCROLLS. THESE WERE THE ORIGIN OF THE FASHIONABLE GUEST BOOKS USED AT MODERN AFFAIRS.

TO BLOW UP

WHEN OUR GRANDFATHERS WERE BOYS THEY PLAYED WITH INFLATED PIGS' BLADDERS. THESE BLADDERS SOMETIMES BURST. FROM THIS OUR ANCESTORS DREW THE EXPRESSION "TO BLOW UP" REFERRING TO PERSONS OR THINGS THAT HAVE GONE TO PIECES.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

THE COOLER FOR SUNSTROKE.

THE Anglo-Persian Oil Co., is making use of a hospital with a refrigerated ward. Regardless of the conditions of the outside air, the temperature in this ward never goes above 65 degrees, and it is always dry. Sick people in this hospital are given just exactly the temperature and the humidity which is best for them.

Here is one group of people for whom the ventilation engineer does a job that is up to standards which he reaches when he is planning to keep oranges, fruit, eggs, meat and other foodstuffs under the best conditions. The places where silk and cotton and certain chemicals are manufactured are no better ventilated than is this hospital. The processes of manufacture have nothing on these sick people.

That part of Persia where this oil company is found is hotter than the hinges. It is not easy to get labor to live and work there. A great many of the employes are overcome by heat. Heat stroke, sunstroke, and heat cramps make up a great part of the problem of the physicians employed by this great oil company. In the treatment of this group of disorders this refrigerated ward finds its field.

Most of the men who get sunstroke are working in the open, and a long way from these refrigerated hospitals. To meet this need, every electric plant has an ice-making attachment and every ice-making outfit has a cold-storage room. When a man topples over from sunstroke he is carried into the nearest ice plant cold-storage room as quickly as possible. There he remains until midnight. (In Persia the air is cold from midnight until 5 in the morning, regardless of the heat of the day.)

Soon after that the sufferer from sunstroke is removed from the cold-storage room, put in a comfortable ambulance, and hurried away to a refrigerated hospital. He must be in this institution before the day advances far enough to become hot.

Dr. Frank Marsh reports that under this treatment the death rate from sunstroke has been markedly diminished, and violent headaches, mental disturbances and other after-effects of sunstroke have been almost wiped out. Very little treatment other than this refrigeration has been given.

The method of construction and the means of keeping the air cool and dry have been described in detail.

IT DOES NO HARM.

Mrs. R. H. F. writes: Last June we had a Persian cat. In July my daughter had a spot appear on her eyelid. She now has many, and on different parts of her body. The spots are white, colorless, and about 1 inch across. They do not itch or burn and are not sore. It has been called ringworm and eczema.

1. Is it creeping eruption?
2. Did she catch it from the cat?
3. What is it?
4. What can be done about it?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. No.
3. My guess is that it is vitiligo.
4. If that guess is correct I know of no cure. The white spots can be stained to the color of the surrounding skin. Except for the change in appearance this skin disease does not harm and does not lead to any important disorder.

CAUSE OF BOWLEGS.

J. C. K. writes:

1. What causes bowlegs?
2. Would an operation on a person past 20 by a well-known plastic surgeon be dangerous?
3. Can bowlegs be cured by exercises?

REPLY.

1. Rickets.
2. Not very.
3. Not in a person 20 years old.

Farm Wages Lowest For Last 15 Years

(Associated Press.)

The Agriculture Department said yesterday that farm wages on July 1 were at the lowest level of the last 15 years. The index was 123 per cent of pre-war as compared with 127 on April 1, 160 a year ago and 112 in 1916.

The supply of workers on July 1 was 111.1 per cent of normal as compared to 99 per cent a year ago. The demand for farm labor wes 73.4 per cent of normal in contrast to 84.8 on July 1, 1930.

Dr. James F. Baldwin, 81, with 17,000 successful abdominal operations to his credit, is still active in his duties as dean of the staff of Grant Hospital at Columbus, Ohio.

BUCK ROGERS, 2431 A. D. — Routs Maharajah — More strange adventures in a full color page every Sunday. — By Phil Nowlan and Dick Calkins

WE HAD BEATEN OFF THE BANDITS IN KIRON PASS—AND CAPTURED THE MAHARAJAH'S AGENT, WHO SOUGHT TO STEAL WILMA FOR THE POTENTATE'S HAREM—BUT SUDDENLY A TERRIBLE FIGURE—THE MAHARAJAH HIMSELF—CONFRONTED US!
HIS SCIMITAR WHISTLED THROUGH THE AIR—BUT I HIT IT WITH MY ENERGY RAY AND—ATTABOY, BUCK!
EXCUSE ME—DID YOU LOSE YOUR SLICER?
INFIDEL DOG!
MAGIC! TRICKERY!
AND THEN—
OH BUCK—AREN'T YOU JUST AWFUL!
HOP ALONG THERE NOW, RAJJY—AND DON'T COME BACK!
STOP! STOP! I TELL YOU! STOP IT!
HE'S MAKING A MONKEY OF THE MAHARAJAH!
WHEN WE WERE RID OF THE MAHARAJAH—
NOW YOU BE GOOD AND WE WON'T HURT YOU.
WE'RE TRYING TO FIND OLD GHINDI, THE SCIENTIST, THROUGH HIS NEPHEW, UTTAR BHOUR SO THAT—
B-B-B-BUT I AM UTTAR BHOUR AND I CAN TELL YOU—

NATS TURN BACK MACKS, 6-4, AFTER 12-7 DEFEAT

Title Retained By Mangan, Considine

Yeomans and Markey Bow in Doubles by 7-5, 9-7, 6-4.

District Champions Retire Dumbarton Trophies.

FOR the third time in succession the team of Bob Considine and Tom Mangan yesterday won the doubles championship of the District of Columbia, and with it, permanent possession of the Dumbarton Doubles Trophies, placed in competition in 1928 and won, that year, by Maurice O'Neil and Hal Fowler.

Considine and Mangan topped their final hurdle by beating Eddie Yeomans, newly crowned singles champion, and Bud Markey in straight sets, 7—5, 9—7, 6—4 in a match made interesting by the fact that the eventual winners gained big leads in each of the three sets, only to see their rivals draw abreast with sensational play, and then drop behind in the face of reactivated play on the part of Considine and Mangan.

It was a stiffly contested match from the opening gong down to the final match point. In the final summation Considine and Mangan won on the errors of their opponents, with Yeomans being the more guilty one on his side. Mangan's overhead smashing and his low volleying, coupled with his always consistent forehand driving returns of service stamped him as the most valuable man on the court.

Mangan Bears Brunt Of Play.

Mangan bore the brunt of the play, and once more proved to foe and friend alike that the days of his weak network are, to all appearances, things of the past. Considine, for the greater part, aided him, kept the ball in play fairly consistently and lambasted overheads, sometimes a yard out, sometimes safely within the lines, but his shots that went in did so at crucial moments of the match.

Lashing the ball crosscourt off service and volleying like two fresh players, Markey and Yoemans, after trailing, 2—4, in the first set, tied up the score and threatened until Considine held his service to win the set at 7—5.

Some indefinable friction rose between Mangan and Yeomans at the start of the second set, brought on by Yeomans' inadvertently serving while a ball boy was still on the court. From then on the gallery of 300 was treated to his first really clappable tennis of the whole tournament. Cracking the ball at each other with all their strength, Mangan and Yeo-

Gov. Pinchot Lands 157-Pound Swordfish

Block Island, R. I., July 13 (A.P.).—Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania performed an unusual feat today when he caught a 157-pound swordfish with rod and line.

Lone Upset Recorded In Brookline Tennis

Arthur W. Ham, of Toronto, former Canadian Davis Cup player, was the only seeded performer defeated today in the first two rounds of the annual Longwood Bowl singles tennis tournament. The Canadian, after getting past the first round on a default, clashed with Harry Moore, 19-year-old New York youngster, in the next bracket and bowed to this University of Arizona freshman in an overtime match, 6—3, 4—6, 6—1.

Ham was seeded second and last on the foreign list topped by Jan Kozeluh, brother of the famous Czechoslovakian professional. Jan drew a tartar in his second-round match and had a difficult time gaining the third round with a 9—7, 13—11 victory over Jake Hess, of Houston, Tex.

The six seeded stars on the American list met with little opposition, and they, headed by champion Johnny Doeg, moved into the third round, which will be settled on a best three out of five basis.

Borotra Sees Loss of Cup By France

French Tennis Team Not in Condition for Davis Cup Play.

Cochet and Lacoste Unfit, Says Only Sound Defender.

PARIS, July 13 (A.P.).—Jean Borotra, the only able-bodied member of France's three tennis musketeers, is afraid France is doomed to lose the Davis Cup. At Biarritz today, Borotra said he believed the French team would be in no shape to wage a successful defense of the international trophy which he, Henri Cochet and Rene Lacoste won from the United States in 1927.

The time is too short, Borotra said, for either Cochet or Lacoste to get in fit playing condition.

Cochet is still at Montrevard, resting his ailing shoulder and awaiting the arrival of Christian Boussus, who has gone down to practice with him. Lacoste, while accepting the captaincy of the team, is not expected to play.

The United States, which meets England Friday, Saturday and Sunday for the right to challenge France, had a long workout today.

It is planned to play a series of informal matches with the English Team the next two days and the American youngsters were making good use of the last chance to sharpen up their strokes.

The injured knee of Frank Shields, who is the main reliance of the United States in the quest of the cup, is all right again. The other members of the team—Sidney B. Wood, jr., George Lott, jr., and John Van Ryn—all are in good condition after their rest from Wimbledon.

Samuel Hardy, nonplaying captain of the American side, still views the prospects of winning from England with a fearful eye.

"The test will be a real one," he said, "as the Englishmen are in fine fettle, as proven by their quick win over Czechoslovakia in the European zone finals."

Hagen Choice Today In Canadian Play-Off

Toronto, Ontario, July 13 (U.P.).—Walter Hagen, Detroit veteran, who has been without a major title since 1929, will meet Percy Alliss, Englishman from Berlin, in a 36-hole playoff tomorrow to decide the 1931 Canadian open golf championship.

The Detroit star is favorite in the betting. Alliss and Hagen will collect $500 and $300 for first and second money.

Southern Tennis Again Delayed by Wet Court

Birmingham, Ala., July 13 (A.P.).—After an all-day wait for the sun to break through and dry off the courts, the men's and mixed doubles, final events of the Southern Tennis Tournament, were postponed a second time today.

The matches were rained out yesterday after the men's doubles started between Donald and Kendall Cram, Nashville and Judge L. Beaver, Gainesville, Ga., and Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C. In the mxied doubles championship match, Miss Eliza Coxe, Asheville, N. C., and Charles Hume, New Orleans, play Miss Beatrice Bryan, Enterprise, Miss., and Melvin Tarpley, Tampa, Fla.

Midget Wolgast Keeps Title as Bradley Bows

The champion won every round but the eighth, which went to the challenger.

Wolgast was superior in every department of the game. In the first round he floored Bradley for a count of two with a series of hard lefts to the jaw. It was the only knockdown of the contest.

Bradley was an easy mark for the Philadelphian's lightning left. Many times Wolgast would land a series of four or five blows without Bradley even attempting to return.

CARDS ROUT CUBS BY 12-5 MARGIN

7 Runs in 4th Inning Clinch Victory; Lead Now 4½ Games.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 13 (A.P.).—Routing the Chicago Cubs 12 to 5, the St. Louis Cardinals took the third of the series here today, winning two out of three. The victory placed the Cardinals 4½ games in the lead in the National League.

The Cubs tied the game in the fourth after the Cardinals had made a run in the second and another in the third but the champions went on a rampage in the fourth, hammering in seven runs. Pat Malone and Sweetland were knocked from the box.

PHILLIES 1-0 VICTORS IN BOX DUEL

Hurst Drives in Run in 9th as Elliott Holds Pirates.

PITTSBURGH, July 13 (A.P.).—Klein's single and a double by Hurst in the ninth gave Philadelphia a 1 to 0 victory over Pittsburgh in the first game of the series here today.

The outfielding Waner brothers were on the bench today, Lloyd because of slight injuries to his ankles suffered yesterday, and Paul because the Phils sent Jim Elliott, a left-hander, to the mound.

Pegler Discovers Sports Figures Are Qualified for Diplomatic Assignments

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Frederick M. Sackett, the American Ambassador to Germany, seems rather proud of his ingenious resort to American slang in his radio-telephone conversations with Washington regarding the moratorium. To conceal his meaning from listeners-in in Paris and elsewhere Mr. Sackett used slang expressions instead of diplomatic language, and reports from Berlin indicate that he hung up the phone with a serene confidence that he had fooled them completely.

It does seem odd that he should have felt it necessary to conceal his meaning from such old pals as the French and the British in this day of open covenants openly arrived at and equally odd that such old pals could have been suspected of tapping the ether, which is regarded as a low and ungentlemanly practice, but that is quite another matter.

"For instance," Mr. Sackett explained, "when queried about certain phases of the negotiations, I rejoined, 'That doesn't amount to a hill o' beans.'"

This being the case, the ambassador's slang vocabulary would appear to be so pathetically archaic that the State Department might do well to bring him home and assign him to spend at least three months hanging around the horse tracks, the ball yards and the prize fight clubs for the good of the service. Or I would suggest the names of a number of boys who speak a fluent line of slang who would be much pleased to accept appointments to various embassies in the wet capitals abroad for service as attaches.

Mr. Fat Meade, late manager of Dangerous Dan O'Dowd, sometimes known as Diving Dan O'Dowd, is not happy in Cleveland, where I saw him again last week, and I feel sure that a salary of, say, $10,000 a year, a sufficient allowance for wine and a motor car, with a truck body, would be sufficient to lure him to Paris in the service of the Government for an indefinite term. Or perhaps I should not use the expression "indefinite term," which suggests such unpleasant meanings as one to ten and twenty to life.

Mr. Meade for years has been spending much of his time and earnings calling on old friends who are sojourning in various places for indefinite terms, leaving such gifts as the law allows and spreading such cheer as he can. So an indefinite term, even in Paris, might be repugnant to his nature. A protracted visit would be a more pleasant way of putting it.

For the post of attache in London my nomination would be Mr. James (Moon) Mullen, the Chicago prize fight promoter, whose figures of speech could be relied on to battle any one with an ear attuned to the King's own English.

State Dept. Could Give "Boys" Exams.

But these are only suggestions. If the State Department really should happen to be interested in the idea, an examination could be held and the boys could compete for the jobs. There might be some parties around who would come up with a line of slang that even Professor McCarney, himself, could not understand.

Record Crowd of 40,000 See Homers Decide Both Games at Philadelphia; Marberry and Simmons Near Blows

Special to The Washington Post.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—Fred Marberry, Nats' pitcher, and Al Simmons, Macks' outfielder, almost came to blows in the first game of today's double-header between their clubs. It happened in the fifth inning of the first game with Marberry hurling and Simmons at bat.

The pitcher sent Simmons down in a heap with a fast ball near his head and walked him on three more balls close to the Mackian fly-chaser. Instead of going to first, Simmons walked toward Marberry, who threw down his glove and doubled up his fists, but waited for Simmons to get in the first lick.

Immediately players from teams rushed to the field but Umpire McGowan got there first and quickly separated the two before anything more than names passed. Simmons was ordered to first and confined his efforts toward calling Marberry names while the latter was ending the round by fanning Foxx. A shower of cushions greeted Marberry as he came to the bench and he was booed on all possible excuses thereafter.

It will be remembered that Simmons and Marberry started a feud last year in Washington under identical conditions and made a lot of threatening gestures against each other at the time. Between innings, the two combatants seemed to cool down considerably, for there were no untoward incidents when the two faced each other in the seventh, just before Marberry's retirement.

Nats Here Today; Face Chisox.

The Nationals boarded a train for home immediately following today's games and open their second stand against the Western clubs with the Chicago White Sox as their guests tomorrow.

On their last repulsion of teams from the other sector, the Johnsons won eleven of twelve, and, while a repetition of this stunt is too much to be expected, they must do almost as well if they hope to stay in the race. Jim Frasier, young right-hander, who beat the Nats in Chicago recently, is expected to do the hurling for the visitors, with Carl Fischer slated to get the call from Manager Walter Johnson.

Connie Mack saved his three best pitchers for today's double-header against the Nats, not even sending Grove, Earnshaw or Walberg to Boston for the twin bill there yesterday. Knocking off another contender is most important and that's what the Athletic leader had in mind when he gambled—and won—with his second-string moundmen opposing the Red Sox yesterday. It is because the Nationals have fared so poorly against the Mackmen and Yankees this season that they are so far behind the leaders in the race.

FIRST GAME.

Cochrane's homer in the first was his eleventh of the season. It landed among the mass of fans clamoring for admission on Twentieth street, outside of right field.

Mayor Harry A. Mackey made the mistake of leaving late for the park and he did not get in until the first game was more than half over, having twice been pushed out of line in the milling masses fighting for admission.

Jim Peterson, a classmate of Walter Masters at University of Pennsylvania, who signed with the A's about the time the Nats corralled Masters, was busily warming up in the bull pen in the third, when the Johnsons almost had Grove knocked out.

Marberry fanned Simmons on three successive called strikes in the home third. It was different in the case of the next batter, for Foxx crashed a homer over the wall near the flag pole in left center for his eighteenth round-tripper of the year. It was a prodigious clout, as the fence is 420 feet from the plate.

Cochrane went all the way to short for Cronin's pop in the fourth.

The Nats benefited from three hits in the fourth but failed to score even though the first two put men on third and second with none out. On Manush's tap, Marberry was caught at home and Hayes held at second. Then Cronin popped out, Harris' clean drive to left filled the bases and Bluege lofted to Miller. Hayes could easily have scored on Harris' hit as things turned out, but Coach Schacht had no way of knowing in advance that Simmons' return peg would be bad, although he might have taken a chance in view of the fact that two were out.

A fine stop by Foxx, who snared Manush's liner toward first on first hop with his gloved hand, robbed Manush of a hit and the Nats of at least another run in the eighth.

Hadley showed fine spirit in making this trip, for Manager Johnson told him he had earned a rest of a Grove Gives 13 Hits But Wins; Hadley, Burke Slugged.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 13.—More than 40,000 fans, the largest crowd which has ever seen a baseball game in Philadelphia, including the numerous world series crowds, battled their way into greater Shibe Park this afternoon to see the world champion Mackmen and Nationals divide a double-header. As a result of this 50-50 split, the teams marked time in the pennant race, with the Quakers' leading margin remaining at six games.

Lefty Bob Grove and George (Rube) Walberg, Philadelphia's star southpaws, were outpitched, but the Mackmen overpowered the Nats with home-run drives to win the first, 12 to 7, while four-baggers by Joe Kuhel and Dave Harris give the Johnsons a 6-to-4 triumph in the nightcap.

Fred Marberry pitched brilliantly while opposing Grove in the opener, and gave way to a pinch-hitter in the eighth, Irving Hadley and Bobby Burke finishing out and being victims of a seven-run alien splurge. Hadley was charged with his second loss in as many days.

General Al Crowder went the route for the Nationals in the second affair and, although he granted ten hits and was in trouble much of the time, the Mackmen could hit none of his slants for homers. Walberg was not the puzzle he has been to the Nats in the past.

Thousands Turned Away.

"Hard times" are occasionally mentioned in the papers, but any one in the vicinity of Shibe Park today could not be convinced that there is any shortage of funds in Philadelphia. Gates opened at 10 o'clock, the "standing room only" sign was hung out about noon and at 1 o'clock the

TWENTY GRAND TO START IN ARLINGTON CLASSIC SATURDAY

Whitney Ace Runs Well In Trial

Colt Works Easily at Mile and Quarter; 135 Pounds Up.

Shows No Ill Effects of Injury Suffered in Dwyer Stakes.

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 13 (A.P.).—Twenty Grand, regarded by Easterners as the "horse of the century" is ready for the $70,000 added Arlington Classic to be decided at Arlington Park next Saturday.

The big son of St. Germans—Bonus, with his stablemate, St. Brideaux, took his first lengthy gallop today since his injury in winning the Dwyer stakes and reeled off the classic route in 2:11.

The track was slow and holding from a drenching overnight rain and the time was naturally slow. At the end of the distance, Twenty Grand was trailing St. Brideaux by almost a length. The Kentucky Derby winner carried about 135 pounds and Jockey S. Hebert astride him never at any time gave him his head. He had the Greentree Stable ace under a tight pull all the way and it looked like he could have run away from his companion if given the opportunity.

Twenty Grand Shows Form.

Twenty Grand moved as rhythmically as Trainer Jimmy Rowe could have wished. He reeled off the half in 53 seconds, three-quarters in 1:18, mile in 1:43 2-5, mile and an eighth in 1:57, and the mile and a quarter in 2:11. Twenty Grand won the Kentucky Derby in time that was nine seconds faster than his move today.

"I believe he is good as he ever was," Trainer Rowe said. "I intend to give the big horse a good stiff workout Wednesday to put him on edge for his most important engagement of the year."

Charles Kurtzsinger, who piloted Twenty Grand in all of his 3-year-old races, arrived from New York to be on the 3-year-old's back Saturday.

Mate, the Preakness stake and American Derby winner, has trained perfectly for the classic and will be a better horse when he goes to the post Saturday afternoon than any time this year, according to Jim Healey, who brought the conqueror of Twenty Grand in the Preakness from New York.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

TEDDY and Delmar Tegler, twin brothers, recently participated in their first league golf match, in the Seattle High School league. In their first appearance they made exactly the same scores. In their second appearance they again turned in identical scores. Not only that, each made his first birdie on the same hole.

The twins not only play "twin golf," but make "twin" marks in school. For the past two years they have studied the same subjects and received exactly the same grades.

Admiral Dewey's fleet in the battle of Manila Bay had a combined tonnage of only 19,000 tons. This is considerably less than the tonnage of the average ocean liner of today, and is hardly comparable to some of our largest liners.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LINGUIST, $19.54, $9.04, $6.48; DIXIANA, $5.82, $4.20; MISS MARR, $3.66.

LINGUIST, off well, was always up and, taking command in the stretch when MISS MARR tired, held DIXIANA to the finish. DIXIANA made a game bid in the last furlong and barely missed. MISS MARR displayed high early speed, opened up a long lead in the first quarter, but tired badly after going a half mile. ROYAL RIOT was fairly well up from the start. ZINA could not keep up. SUNNY SKIES also tired. KITTY F. acted badly at the barrier and started from outside the stall gate and broke poorly.

SECOND RACE—About two miles (short course). Purse, $2,000; claiming handicap. Miss Valley Steeplechase. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:48. Off at 2:49½. Winner, B. L. Behr's ch. g. (7), by Runnymede—Mortalatrix. Trained by T. G. Paris. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $350; third, $175; fourth, $75. Time, 4:06 1-5 (13 jumps).

Two-dollar mutuels paid—TOD SLOAN, $12.94, $6.72, $2.76; PITCHET, $13.74, $3.68; FAIR BOB, $2.32.

TOD SLOAN, showing improvement in his jumping and good speed on the flat, got to the front when QUEEN'S PAL lost his rider at the twelfth fence and held a wide margin thereafter. PITCHET had trouble clearing several jumps, but managed to remain on his feet and beat FAIR BOB. Latter lacked speed on the flat, but fenced fairly well. QUEEN'S PAL was racing well in front and looked all over a winner when he made a bad landing at the twelfth jump and his rider, although making a game effort, was unable to retain his seat. SPORTY McGEE lost his rider at the seventh fence. HILLOCK lost rider while trailing the field at the fourth jump and NAT CLYMAN fell when racing well at the same obstacle.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:23. Off at 3:25½. Winner, Peconic Stable's br. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CALF ROPER, $23.88, $10.22, $4.48; FRENCH LASS, $7.74, $3.76; MASKED BALL, $2.64.

CALF ROPER moved into a prominent position after going a quarter and, coming strongly to get to the front in stretch when Zacaweista tired, held away to the finish. FRENCH LASS raced strongly throughout and held MASKED BALL. Latter met with slight interference around far turn, but raced gamely and was going well at the end. NED O. made up ground in the stretch. DEDICATE lacked speed and showed a dull effort. ZACAWEISTA stopped badly in the stretch.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,500 allowances. Galena Purse. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:57. Off at 3:57. Winner, Valley Lake Stable's ch. c. (2), by Big Blaze—Mexican Tea. Trained by J. B. Partridge. Value to winner, $1,100 second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BURNING BLAZE, $10.06, $4.76, $3.24; PORTDEN, $5.40, $3.30; HIGH DEVINE, $2.60.

BURNING BLAZE, off quickly, took a long lead in the early part and, seemingly much the best, was far in front thereafter, winning easily. PORTDEN was always closest to the pacemaker and easily bested others. HIGH DEVINE would have been much closer had he been hustled along in the early stages. He finished well, but Steffen made his move too late. LORD OF LAW and MENELEK had some early speed, but could not keep up.

FIFTH RACE—Seven furlongs (out of chute). Purse, $1,600; allowances. Harvard Purse. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:27. Off at 4:29. Winner, Mrs. J. D. Hertz's br. c. (3), by Luke McLuke—In Bounds. Trained by W. Knapp. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 1-5, 0:48 1-5, 1:15 2-5, 1:29 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—OUTBOUND, $4.56, $2.74, $2.30; DEIDELEEN, $2.54, $2.30; FOOTMARK, $3.06.

OUTBOUND raced on even terms with FOOTMARK for half the distance and then drew off to open up a good lead, but was shaken up in the final sixteenth to hold his advantage. WEIDELEEN, the victim of a weak ride, raced fairly well at the finish. SUNEROS and BOSAFABO could not keep up.

SIXTH RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:58. Off at 4:59. Winner, J. F. Adams' b. g. (3), by Sunference—Betsy Barth. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:15, 1:42 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HOLD ARD, $27.88, $11.24, $5.30; JIM ORMONT, $22.88, $9.86; PRINCE TOKALON, $3.62.

JIM ORMONT took a good lead in the stretch and appeared an easy winner fifty yards out, but his jockey stopped riding near the end and was caught napping by the fast-closing HOLD HARD. Latter was a strong contender from the start and finished with a rush on the inside of the winner to get up in the last stride. PRINCE TOKALON was shuffled after the start, then made up much ground. SAGE FIRE, BETON and DURVA tired badly after showing good early speed.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500; allowances. Manitoba Purse. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:30. Off at 5:30½. Winner, D. Bentham's b. c. (4), by Sir Martinbo—Flying Jib. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,300; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 3-5, 0:55 2-5, 1:16 1-5, 1:42 4-5, 1:56 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MARTIS, $18.80; $6.42, $4.04; DARK SEA, $3.48, $2.70; WHO WIN, $3.80.

MARTIS took a good lead at once and, racing well and showing improvement, withstood several challenges from DARK SEA and held away to the finish. DARK SEA was given his head and taken back alternately several times during the contest and might have won with a steady ride. WHO WIN displayed little, but easily bested WILLIAM T. The latter, closing up for a half mile, sulked and refused to extend himself when called upon and quit under the drive in the stretch.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Winner, Lemar Stock Farm's b. g. (3), by Coventry—Loving Cup. Trained by M. Lowenstein. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 3-5, 0:50 4-5, 1:16 2-5, 1:43, 1:56 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MOUTHPIECE, $7.94, $4.78, $3.34; MORE POWER, $5.36, $3.96; ROBRACK, $3.52.

MOUTHPIECE, showing good speed from the start, drew away from his opposition in the final eighth and won easily. MORE POWER raced close up on the outside and weakened after making a game challenge at midstretch. ROBRACK met with some interference during the back stretch run, but was good enough to best the others. ELCIDIO made up some ground.

MARTINEZ AND WALKER ARE FINALISTS ON PUBLIC COURTS

Clara Tabler Is Defeated In Upset

Quarterfinals Reached in Men's Singles; Matches Close.

THE fields in the men's and women's public parks tennis championships moved into the quarter-finals and finals, respectively, yesterday on the courts at Rock Creek Park and two upsets along the route to add interest to a tournament, which, to date, has been devoid of thrills.

Clara Tabler, seeded No. 2 and looked upon as the winner of the women's event, picked a tartaress yesterday in Frances Walker, seeded No. 3, who eliminated the hard-hitting California girl in straight sets, 6—4, 6—3. Miss Tabler could sum up little of the steadiness which marked her game in the City of Washington women's singles, frequently overhitting the side and backlines in an effort to sweep the steady stroking Miss Walker off the court.

Sendel and Staubly Surprise.

In the men's division the team of Frederico Sendel and Alan Staubly created the second upheaval of form of the day by eliminating Maurice O'Neill and George Shoemaker, 0—6, 7—5, 6—1, in a spectacular, hard-hitting match. O'Neill and Shoemaker, District public parks champions in 1929 and runners-up last year to Markey and Yeomans, looked like ridiculously easy winners during the first set and a half, as both Staubly and Sendel were wild. But once the two hard-hitters had got their range there was nothing to it. The deceptive strokes of O'Neill and Shoemaker were knocked for placement after placement.

Otherwisethe play was of even tenor. Dooly Mitchell, Maurice O'Neill, Frank Shore, Frederico Sendel, Alan Staubly, Hugh Trigg and Barney Welsh all gained the quarter-final round, although pressed by determined opponents. But Markey, expected to be the eighth man in the quarter-finals, will meet Buchanan today for that honor.

Martinez and Walker In Finals.

The finals of the women's singles today will bring together Mrs. Ruth Martinez, defending champion, and Miss Walker. Mrs. Martinez had no trouble yesterday in routing Mary Ryan, 6—2, 6—2, while Miss Walker was disposing of Miss Tabler. The last time today's finalists met was in the quarter-final round of the City of Washington, at which time Mrs. Martinez won in straight sets.

MEN'S SINGLES.

Fourth round—Welsh defeated Hermann, 8—6, 1—6, 7—5; O'Neill defeated Deck, 6—1, 6—2; Trigg defeated Willis, 6—4, 6—1; Mitchell defeated Phillips, 6—2, 6—2; Staubly defeated Ritzenberg, 8—6, 6—2; Sendel defeated Packer, 6—4, 7—5. Sendel defeated Seidel 6—4, 5—7, 6—0.

MEN'S DOUBLES.

Second round—Mitchell-Buchanan defeated Trigg-Welsh, 6—4, 6—2; Ritzenberg-Gould defeated Packer-Mehl, 7—5, 6—7, 6—0.

WOMEN'S SINGLES.

U. S. Aquatic 'Queens' Enter Outdoor Swim Title Events

NEW YORK, July 11 (A.P.).—Three girls well equipped to take care of their end in the 1932 Olympic games are going to display their talents in the National A. A. U. women's outdoor swimming championships here July 15-18.

They are Helene Madison, of Seattle; Georgia Coleman, of Los Angeles, and Eleanor Holm, of New York.

Helene, who in the little better than a year she has been in major competition has become recognized as the greatest girl swimmer of all time, will defend the four titles she won last year at Long Beach, Calif.

In addition, the 17-year-old Seattle girl will try for the three of the sixteen world's swimming records for women she doesn't already hold. They are for the 1,000 yards, 1,000 meters and 1,500 meters.

The four A. A. U. titles Miss Madison will defend are for the 100-meter, 440-yard, 880-yard and mile events.

Miss Holm will defend her titles in the backstroke and medley. She will be the bulwark of the New York Women's Swimming Association's attempt to win the team championship, taken last year by the Los Angeles Athletic Club by a single point.

Georgia Coleman is expected to contribute diving championships to the L. A. A. C. from both the high and low boards. She won the events last year.

'NEW' TILDEN SHOWS HERE SUNDAY

Philadelphian Quits Umpire Baiting Since Pro.

WASHINGTON will see a new William Tatum Tilden, 2d, when the gaunt battle-scarred former amateur comes to town Sunday to play Karel Kozeluh, mighty Czechoslovakian pro, in a 3-out-of-5 set singles match at Wardman Park Hotel.

The giant of the courts, whose glares and protests once marked him as one of the most unpopular, if mighty, tennis players of all time, has undergone a metamorphosis since he applied his belligerent signature to one of Jack Curley's dotted lines. Gone are most of the manifestations and affectations which filled stadiums, and in their place is a game which such experts as Allison Danzig and Fred Hawthorne contend is greater than the game Tilden ever displayed during even his most halcyon days of amateurism.

Tilden explains this change of heart and execution to the fact that he has no worries. His trouble, known as the Tilden Tennis Tours, and made up of such names in tennis as Kozeluh, Francis T. Hunter, Emmett Pare and Bobby Sellers, is managed like the professional enterprise it is. Its schedule is mapped out weeks ahead of time. A raft of workers attend to the impedimenta carried by the troupe. An advance agent arranges everything. He sees that the court is in perfect shape and that everything is ready for play when Tilden arrives.

No More U. S. L. T. A. Bickering.

All Tilden has to do is play tennis. There is no bickering with the U. S. L. T. A. any more. He writes when and what he pleases and nobody cares, sometimes not even the public.

What energies Tilden used to expend arranging quarters and the like during amateur days he seems to have put into his tennis. His game has everything nowadays, although he remains just two short years from 40 years old. He has been playing since he was 5 years old, and won a boys' championship of a beach resort when he was 6. He believes that he'll be one of the best in the world until he is 45. He neither drinks nor smokes.

Tilden's performance in the final round of the national professional championship Sunday against Richards has been labeled his greatest performance.

Tilden Last Here In 1928.

Tilden has not played here since 1928, and then indoors at Tech High. He will also appear in doubles Sunday, with Hunter, against Kozeluh and Sellers. Hunter meets Emmett Pare, former Georgetowner, in the third match of the day, a singles event.

Workmen yesterday completed half of the miniature stadium which will surround court No. 2 at Wardman. The court will be three-fourths inclosed by seats, capable of holding 3,000 fans. Tickets for the matches go on sale today at Spalding's, the Tennis Shop and Wardman Park Hotel. Prices range from $1 to $3.

New York, July 13 (A.P.).—Eddie Benson, Brooklyn, outpointed the Irish giant, Pat Redmond, in a slow eight-round bout at Dexter Park tonight. There were no knockdowns.

NICHOLS TAKES BOUT.

AGINCOURT'S SPRINT WINS AT LATONIA

LATONIA, July 13 (A.P.).—Continuing her r recently acquired good form, B. O. Hickman's 5-year-old Light Brigade mare, Agincourt, grabbed her second purse of the meeting when she led home a small field of highly regarded sprinters in the Mount Washington Purse. C. V. Whitney's Tantivy was second and George Collins' Thistle Ann third.

Eve faced Starter Hamilton for the 6-furlong test, with Tantivy held in highest esteem with the talent. Cuttle's Boot, the extreme outsider, jumped into an early lead, closely attended by Agincourt and Double Heart. Jockey Elston bided his time with Agincourt as Cuttle's Boot cut out a terrific pace, and, as the latter tired turning for home, he took command.

Meanwhile Tantivy, off with his usual tardiness, began coming up. It developed, however, that Jockey Russell had deferred his challenge a bit too long and the Whitney colt was unable to overtake the Hickman mare. Double Heart and Cuttle's Boot quit to nothing in the stretch and Thistle Ann came fast to save the show.

Agincourt covered the three-quarters in 1:12 2-5 and rewarded her supporters at $7.90 for each $2 ticket.

Outbound Wins In Slow Field.

Chicago, Ill., July 13 (A.P.).—After having been outrun in two previous Arlington starts, Mrs. John D. Hertz's 3-year-old colt Outbound was dropped into slower company this afternoon to be returned an easy two-length winner in the Harvard Purse at Arlington Park.

E. F. Pritchard's Weideleen was second, a nose in front of the Elmtree Stable's Footmark.

The race was run in 1:29 1-5, and Outbound, the favorite, returned $4.56, $2.74 and $2.30 on a $2 ticket.

Tod Sloan, Ben Behr's veteran jumper, was an easy 12-length winner in the Mission Valley Steeplechase over the short course, with the Fox Chapel Stud's Fichet second and Rigan McKinney's Fair Bob third in a race run in 4:06 1-5. Only three horses finished in the field of seven, McKinney sustaining the only serious injury of the four unseated riders when he suffered a fractured collarbone.

Butler Mare Winner in Feature

Outguess Repeats to Win Opener; The Gen in Victory.

EMPIRE CITY RACE TRACK, N. Y., July 13 (A.P.).—Thanks largely to a great ride by Sonny Workman the followers of James Butler's Stormy Dawn, 4 to 5 favorite, collected when that 5-year-old speedster won the Gramatan Handicap of a mile and seventy yards here today. The Audley Farm's Bobashela was a close second, while Dr. Irving Jacobs' honest colt Sun Mission took the show. Seven started in the overnight affair and the time was 1:45.

The well-matched field got away at once in close alignment but in the run to the first turn Workman and Stormy Dawn were forced to keep to the outside, after which the popular jockey steered the choice along the middle of the track along the back stretch. Bobashela, Black Forest and Polygamous staged a bitter struggle to set the pace, while Stormy Dawn and Sun Mission were close together and close up. Workman won the race by his smart move at the turn into the home stretch where he saved many lengths by sneaking through on the inside and taking the lead shortly after.

Bobashela Near Victory.

Stormy Dawn drew clear but had to be ridden hard to withstand Bobashela's challenge when that fellow came again, three-quarters of a length separating the pair at the end. Sun Mission, under 126 pounds, closed gallantly to annex third money, another half-length back.

Outguess, who won her recent effort in commanding style, came right back with another winning performance and annexed the purse in the opener, and it marked the first victory for the apprentice boy, F. Pantuliano, who put up a very creditable ride. Common, with R. Smith up, was second, and Ruby Rock, P. Kopel in the saddle, third. The race was for boys who have never ridden a winner. Common got away flying and led to the stretch, where Outguess came along on the outside and won by one and a half lengths. Common beat Ruby Rock three lengths for the place. The winner paid 18 to 5.

The Gen Turns in Triumph.

The Gen, running one of his good races, accounted for the third, a gallop of about 6 furlongs. His victory was made possible by the crazy ride put up by Remillard on Single Star. He rushed the filly off her feet in his mad attempt to race Traitor down. He succeeded in putting Traitor away, but the effort told on the filly and, when the Gen challenged in the final furlong, had nothing left to stall off the rush. The Gen won by a length in 1:10 3-5. Single Star took the place by three lengths over Redoubtable.

SPORTS FIGURES MASTERS OF SLANG

But I am sure that if the Professor had been prompting Mr. Sackett he never would have allowed him to say, "That doesn't amount to a hill o' beans," which sounds very transparent. The Professor would have been more likely to say "That is just heat," or "That is a kick in the pants."

Professor McCarney's explanation of the proposed moratorium or debt-takes-a-holiday program would run somewhat as follows:

"During the war the U. S. A. is a fat cat. So the Frogs make a bite. So when they see the U. S. A. is such a god bite, they keep on biting. They need the scratch to buy more difference. Frogs always have plenty of scratch in kick, but they're strictly non-spenders. So after a while the Dutchmen take it right on the lug and the big loogan lams out. Meanwhile, during the war, he has been putting the bite on all the saps among the public. Every time he needs some fresh he takes their scratch and gives them a lot of mavourneens. When he takes the fence, people try to use these, and pretty soon they find out he has laid about twenty billion fish worth of stiffs.

A Real Lesson In Slang.

"Then the U. S. A. says to the Frogs, 'What about it?'

"Dutchmen short in the reach, can't pick up the tab. Germans' jugs blow up. Frogs got a big kick full of ready but won't pick up their markers in Washington. Spend it for more difference, instead. U. S. A. sees Frogs and Limeys buying more difference. Therefore, U. S. A. has to buy more difference. This takes plenty of what it takes.

"Still, nobody wants to turn over the bad news. All want U. S. A. to eat the ticket. Dutchmen say no sugar in the boat.

"Now, Dutchmen say if the Frogs will go take a walk they will bite U. S. A. for enough ready and take the fall.

I am not sure the State Department would know what it was all about if the embassies started stating diplomatic matters in sporting slang. But does the State Department ever know what it is all about?

NATS DIVIDE BILL WITH MACKS

gates were closed. It is estimated that nearly as many were turned away as were admitted.

Traffic around the stadium was stopped and Twentieth street, back of right and center field, was a solid mass of fans from curb to curb. Fully one thousand jumped over the fence, dropping inside so fast that the police stationed there were unable to stem the tide and acted as traffic directors, hustling the uninvited guests to the stands rather than take the trouble of ejecting them.

As the first game started, boys and men were scrambling over the barrier in such numbers that the umpires refused to allow the athletes to do their stuff for more than fifteen minutes, a stream of water having to be turned along the top of the fence before the fence jumpers was stopped. After the game got under way, "One-Eyed Connollys" continued to ease in over the fence and the police and umpires finally gave up and made no effort to stop them.

Inside the park there was hardly breathing space, so tightly were the stands packed, with the runways and all aisles a solid mass of humanity. In both the right and left field stands rafters fully twenty feet high were used as perches, while fifty or more risked their lives to climb along the wall separating the left field grand stand and pavilion to seats in the burning sun on the roof of the latter. Talk about being baseball crazy, Philadelphia certainly was so today.

Grove Turns in 18th Victory.

As to the games, Grove turned in his eighteenth victory in the first, in which the Mackmen made four errors but five homers. Cochrane, Foxx, Bishop, Simmons and Williams made these, with the latter's breaking up the game when inserted in the eighth in a pinch with three men on base. Cronin, with a double and two singles, and Harris, with three one-shots, led the Washington attack.

The Mackmen were given a taste of their own medicine in the second, the Nats doing all of the fancy slugging. In addition to their homers, both Harris and Kuhel were credited with singles. Cochrane, Simmons, Miller and Boley each smacked out two Mackian safeties.

Errors by Bluege and Crowder presented the Mackmen with the first run of the second game but, by the time the game was half over the two were racing neck and neck with the string tied at 2-all. This gift marker came in the third, which Boley opened with a single. On Walberg's intended suicide, Bluege pegged badly past second, letting Boley carry on to third. He tallied when Crowder threw badly trying to pick Walberg off first.

In the next round, the Nats became 1 up by scoring twice. These runs were coined from Manush's double, a walk to Cronin, Harris' single and Bluege's useful out. In the home half of this fourth the Macks tied the score, using Foxx's double and Miller's single as a medium.

Both Teams Threaten In Fifth.

Both teams threatened mildly in the fifth and then the Nats tore a page from the Macks' book on long-distance hitting. Following Cronin's one-baser, Harris lined a homer over the right-field wall. Then Bluege doubled to the base of the stands in left and, after Harry Rice had fouled to Foxx, Kuhel poled one well over the barrier in right.

Hits by Hayes and Cronin were wasted in the seventh, with the Athletics doing the next scoring. They molded two markers, had the tying runs on the bases and might have tied the string but for a snappy double play engineered by the Cronin-Hayes-Kuhel combination. Cochrane's opening double and Simmons' single scored one run and Foxx hit into the twin-killing. Then Miller singled, Dykes walked and Boley's one-baser scored the other run. With men on third and first, Crowder fanned Pinch-Hitter Todt for the third out.

Although Bishop opened the ninth with a single, good catches by Manush and Harry Rice figured prominently in preventing him from advancing and then Simmons ended the game by being called out when his spinning bounder in front of the plate bounced back and hit him when he started to run to first.

The first game was much more exciting than the second. The Nationals had Grove on the verge of a knock-out more than once, with Marberry having much the better of the pitching argument. Of the seven hits he allowed, three were homers by Cochrane, Foxx and Bishop and one was a double to Haas. These, plus a walk, accounted for the Mackmen's first four runs.

Nats Fight Back Despite Odds.

Despite this damage, the Nats fought back, overcame a first-inning alien three-run lead and went 2-up in the third, only to see the A's knot the string on Bishop's four-bagger in the seventh after they had gotten one back in their third.

In the eighth, Foxx's error gave Kuhel life as a starter and Spencer singled the runner to third. Seeing a chance to break the tie, Johnson called on Hargrave to hit for Marberry. He delivered, singling Kuhel home, and Cronin later made the Nats' 2-up again by beating out a slow roller to deep short on which Spencer registered.

But, despite Hargrave's delivery in the pinch, this substitution cost the Nats the decision, for it brought first Hadley and then Burke into action and seven runs were scored from their deliveries. Foxx greeted Hadley with a triple to deepest center; Miller walked, and the fourth ball to Dykes was a wild pitch which let Foxx tally and the other runners to carry on to third and second. When Hadley filled the bases by passing Boley, Williams pinch-hit for Grove and homered to left, putting the Macks three to the good. This blow was made off Burke with Cochrane's double and Simmons' four-bagger, giving the Macks two more before the slim southpaw could finally retire the side.

WHITE SOX CANCEL.

Because of a mix-up in his schedule, Manager Charley Deutermann, of the Virginia White Sox, is obliged to cancel his game with the Bethesda A. C. The manager of the latter team is requested to call Deutermann at Clarendon 1078-J-1.

BARRY WINS DECISION AT FORT

Schwartz Decisively Beaten in Feature Match of Card.

Special to the Washington Post.

Fort Washington, Md., July 13.—Before a capacity house of 2,500 "Reds" Barry, Washington, D. C. light heavyweight, decisively outpointed Billy Schwartz, "Alexandria Baker Boy" here tonight in an eight-round feature bout. Barry, a Mohawk Club battler, won from start to finish.

In the other bouts Billy Strickler outpointed Joe Finazzo, of Baltimore, Henry Irving knocked out Frank Vance in four rounds; Doug Swetman drew with Billy Reed and Soldier Clarke drew with Jack Quigley.

day. He relieved Marberry in the eighth, after having traveled at top speed for six innings against the Yankees Sunday and one inning against the Red Sox Saturday. In view of what happened, it would have been much better had Hadley remained home and rested.

SECOND GAME.

Bluege, who made a costly error in the third, came through with a fine stop in the next round, taking Dykes' bad hopper and starting a double play with Hayes doing some fancy work on the pivot at second.

Crowder issued no passes until the fifth, when he walked Bishop and Haas in succession with two dead, bringing Mickey Cochrane up. Fortunately the catcher, after working the count to three and two, rolled to Cronin.

ZOO PARTY TO SEEK ANIMALS IN WILDS OF BRITISH GUIANA

Dr. William Mann and Aid to Sail July 22 on Extensive Trip.

SMITHSONIAN TO DEFRAY COSTS OF EXPEDITION

Bush Dogs and Harpy Eagle Are Among Prizes Sought for Capital Collection.

Seeking new exhibits for the Zoo, Dr. William Mann, director, and Frank Lowe, assistant headkeeper, will sail from New York on July 22 for British Guiana, for a several months' expedition into the wilds of that province. The obtaining of a specimen of the South American bushdog, which is an indigenous denizen of the forests of Guiana, is a particular quest of the party.

The capture of a harpy-eagle to swell the already profuse feathered flock at the Zoo is another object of Dr. Mann's Guiana trip. The expenses of the tropical jaunt will be defrayed by the Smithsonian Institution.

Others May Join Party.

There is a probability that the pair will be joined by others interested in the acquisition for scientific purposes of rare mammals and other valuable wild life exhibits.

The party hopes to bring back to the United States any of a number of other types of animals, birds and reptiles, the names of which are too numerous to mention.

One of these, however, of the reptilian variety is the Surinam toad, of which they expect to obtain several.

Zoo Expects Gorillas.

One of the three mountain gorillas captured in the Belgian Congo by the famous explorers, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, is expected by Dr. William Munn and other authorities of the Smithsonian Institute, eventually to be presented to the local Zoo, probably within a few weeks.

The Johnsons' anthropological prizes are at present being kept in New York for scientific photographing purposes.

Four-Year Term Given To Man in Arson Case

As his final act before going on his summer vacation, Justice Peyton Gordon yesterday sentenced Eustace Bailey, colored, to four years in the penitentiary upon his plea of guilty to arson and three cases of housebreaking.

The man pleaded guilty to breaking into the office of the Action Fuel Supply Co., 911 South Capitol street, where he battered open the safe and took checks totaling several thousand dollars, one of which was of value to him. Later, to cover his fingerprints, he set the place afire, and the building was damaged to the extent of $4,600.

Girl, 23, to Undergo Third Skin Grafting

An accidental scratch on the arm which was burned with lye five years ago sent Gladys Meek back to the hospital to undergo more operations. She is shown as she lay in her hospital bed last night.

Brother Again Will Give Blood for Operation; Wound Reopened.

Today, or perhaps tomorrow or the next day, 23-year-old Gladys Meek will undergo a blood transfusion and skin grafting operation at Providence Hospital, and another chapter will be written in the tale of misfortune which began five years ago when she and her sister were cleaning house.

Gladys and her sister, Helen, who was then only 10 years old, were tidying up their home at 4542 Conduit road when the younger girl accidentally spilled lye on her sister's left arm. There was a session in the hospital and skin was grafted on the injured member. Her selge was over, Gladys thought.

Then two years ago trouble with the arm started anew and the patient was returned to the hospital to have more skin grafted and receive three pints of blood to build up her strength. William Meek, a brother, was the donor.

Thirty-two inches of flesh now had been transferred to the girl's arm, and when she was released from the hospital she had reason to believe the appendage would stop complaining.

All went well until about seven weeks ago, when Miss Meek accidentally scratched the arm with a pin and applied iodine to prevent infection. The antiseptic burned away the scarred tissue and sent the girl back to Providence Hospital from her home at 810 Twentieth street northwest.

There she lies today, a smile on her face, waiting for the surgeons to decide when she will receive more skin and revitalizing blood from her brother William, who is a painter and interior decorator. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Allen T. Meek.

RETAILERS BOOST CIGARETTE PRICES

Cut-Rate Dealers Increase Charge as Wholesale Quotation Mounts.

Due to the increase in manufacturers' prices on the four "standard brands" of cigarettes, all Washington retail dealers yesterday raised their prices to conform with the new wholesale rates.

With the manufacturers' prices boosted 45 cents per 1,000 cigarettes, or 9 cents on the carton, retail dealers throughout the country raised the consumers' price in accordance with the inauguration of the new rates. Where a package of cigarettes formerly sold at cigar stands for 13 cents, or two packages for 25 cents, they now sell for 14 cents and two packages for 27 cents. The price of a carton of cigarettes was raised from $1.25 to $1.32.

Dealers said that the price of "standard brands" would still be under 15 cents, the price which was obtained before a general reduction in the wholesale cost was instituted about two years ago. Fifteen cents will still be the price in stores where the cut-rate system is not used. Tobacco companies which boosted wholesale prices are Liggett & Myers, P. Lorillard, the American Tobacco Co. and R. J. Reynolds. According to dealers, farmers are now getting the lowest prices in many years for their product.

Thief Gets $25, Leaves $120 Balance in Purse

It may have been a rank oversight, or it may have been a streak of honesty in the burglar's make-up.

Reporting to Tenth Precinct police yesterday that his apartment at 601 Park road northwest had been burglarized, Aaron Aaronson said that $25 in bills was taken from a handbag in a bedroom dresser drawer. He stated that $120 which was in the same place was not touched.

Garage Worker Jailed For Theft From Auto

A sentence of 180 days in jail was given Eddie Tanner, Negro, 22 years old, in Police Court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a wrist watch belonging to Mrs. Seymour Lowman, wife of the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Tanner took the watch from the car of Mrs. Lowman, which she had parked in the garage where he works. Mr. Lowman appeared in court to identify the watch, which police recovered from an acquaintance of Tanner's.

HOTEL RECEIVERSHIP ASKED IN THIRD PLEA

Justice Gordon Hears New Petition in Mayflower Case; Ruling Soon.

Justice Peyton Gordon last night had under advisement three separate actions in the attempt of holders of second trust notes of the Mayflower Hotel to have receivers appointed.

Last week he took under advisement a motion by Attorneys William E. Leahy, Edmund D. Toland and William J. Hughes, jr., to dismiss the petition for receivership, and without awaiting his decision on that, Justice Gordon yesterday listened to motions by the bondholders to have receivers appointed and also to have Charles C. Moore, trustee of the $2,100,000 second trust removed on the ground of adverse interest.

Yesterday was Justice Gordon's last day on the bench this summer. Later this month he is planning a European trip and he said that he would probably give his decision late this week.

In asking that all the papers be submitted to him so that he could at least get the title right, Justice Gordon declared he had just about made up his mind as to what course of action he was planning to take, but that he desired to read over some more of the papers before finally writing his opinion.

Truck Driver Is Charged In Appropriating Load

Justice John P. McMahon yesterday ordered Ralph M. Kirby held in $1,500 bond for the grand jury, following a plea of guilty to a charge of larceny after trust. The man is alleged to have taken a truckload of clothing belonging to Abraham Bleicher, of M street, near Sixth street southwest, and to have driven it to Jersey City.

A hitch hiker, who was arested with Kirby, was released when testimony showed that he knew nothing about the truck or its contents.

Child, 4, Hit by Auto, Suffers Broken Leg

Patricia D. Deagro, 4 years old, of 1919 I street northwest, was injured yesterday when knocked down by an automobile at Twentieth and I streets northwest, said to have been driven by Hadley S. Harbour, 41 years old, of 1534 Monroe street northwest.

'Pig-in-Bag' Bidder Buys Automobile Minus Engine

A prospective motorist bought a "pig in a bag" yesterday at an auction sale of confiscated automobiles. He found that he had bought an automobile without an engine.

The unfortunate part of the deal was that he thought he had struck a bargain by topping a rival's bid, and raising it to $11.75. He was willing to overlook the fact that the car had two flat tires.

"What will I need to buy for my car?" he asked a bystander.

"Thirty feet of tow rope," was the laconic reply.

The auctioneers put 36 automobiles back into circulation through the sale, as well as a motorcycle.

Two "low-priced" machines went for 25 cents each. The highest bid of the day was $65. As a result of the sale held at Tenth and G streets southwest, the District was richer by $313.75.

EDUCATION GROUP URGED AS MEMORIAL TO FIRST PRESIDENT

FAVORS SPONSORSHIP BY BICENTENNIAL BODY

Would Build Institution in or Near Washington; 1,500 Go on Outing.

At a meeting of the Southern Society of Washington, D. C., a resolution for the appointment of an international educational committee was introduced by J. Cloyd Byars, president of the society, and adopted unanimously.

The committee would be planned as a living memorial to George Washington, and would establish in or near Washington an educational institution whose curriculum would embrace all subjects pertaining to human betterment, and thus pay tribute to the broad vision and lofty idealism of George Washington, who, it is claimed, first advocated such an educational institution.

Commission as Sponsor.

The resolution suggests that sponsorship of this program be undertaken by the George Washington Bicentennial Commission as a part of its plans for celebrating the 200th anniversary of Washington's birth.

Presentation of the resolution followed a short talk by John M. Gibbs, of Norfolk, assistant to Representative Sol Bloom, of New York, who heads the United States Bicentennial Commission. Mr. Gibbs explained the comprehensive purpose of the Bicentennial Commission and pictured the progress that has already been made toward making the event one of national and international importance.

Met on River Cruise.

The meeting was called to order during a brief intermission in the program of entertainment and dancing enjoyed by approximately 1,500 members and friends of the Southern Society, who provided a capacity crowd for the steamer City of Washington, on its chartered sail down the Potomac.

It was the second annual affair of its kind.

Police Asked to Hunt For Wandering Lamb

Her disappearance from 3501 Thirty-sixth street northwest was reported to police yesterday by Robert E. Mathers, president of the Mathers-Lamm Paper Co. She may have strayed or she may have been kidnaped from her nook under the front porch, Mr. Mathers said. Betty is a lamb which the Mathers household has been making a pet of for the last three weeks.

Fire Damages Interior Of Untenanted House

Fire of undetermined origin badly damaged the interior of a two-story frame house at 1129 Eighth street northwest yesterday. The blaze is thought to have started under the first-floor steps and spread to the second floor.

According to police, the property is owned by E. M. Aiken, whose real estate office is at 924 Fifteenth street northwest. He said that the house had been untenanted for about one week.

SISTER OF DEAD MAN SEEKS HIS CHILDREN BY ACTION IN COURT

Obtains Habeas Corpus Writ in Rockville to Compel Fiancee to Yield.

FOUR MINORS INVOLVED IN BATTLE OF WOMEN

Hearing Set for Tomorrow; Present Custodian Cites Affection for Them.

Habeas corpus proceedings were instituted yesterday in Circuit Court at Rockville on behalf of Mrs. Jessie A. Slater, of San Antonio, Tex., by Attorney F. Barnard Welsh, to secure custody of the four children of Rice Phelps, who died suddenly of heart disease near his home at 7 Boyd avenue, Takoma Park, Md., July 1.

The children are in the custody of Mrs. Aurelia B. McCormick Hill, an employe of the Department of Justice, with whom Mr. Phelps boarded until the time of his death, and who also yesterday filed a petition to adopt the four children through the law firm of Whiteford & Cissel, of Rockville.

Four Children Involved.

The children are Eleanor Dorothy Phelps, 11 years old; Mary Anne Phelps, 9; Betty Jane Phelps, 7, and Lee Meredith Phelps, 4. Their mother died February 19, 1929. Mrs. Slater, the sister of Mr. Phelps, is the wife of a merchant at San Antonio.

Mr. Phelps and Mrs. Hill were planning to marry in the fall, it is understood, and she has become deeply attached to the children, who have been largely in her care for some time. Mrs. Hill obtained a divorce from her husband in Virginia and was granted permission to resume her maiden name of McCormick by the court.

When Mrs. Slater went to the McCormick home to obtain the children to take them to San Antonio, she found that Mrs. McCormick had taken them to a beach and that she intended retaining custody of them.

Alleges Deep Affection.

The McCormick petition tells the court that Mrs. McCormick has become deeply attached to the children and that she feels it to be to their best advantage that they remain in her custody. She states that she lives with her sister at the Boyd avenue address and that she draws a salary of $1,740 yearly and is able to care for the children competently.

Judge Robert B. Peter yesterday signed an order which directs Mrs. McCormick to produce the children in court July 15 at 10 a. m., to answer habeas corpus proceedings.

$500 Coal Theft Fine Suspended by Judge

A fine of $500 for stealing a bushel of coal from a coal yard was imposed on Ben Johnson, colored, 60 years old, in police court yesterday. Police testified that several times during the winter they had caught the man taking coal and had let him go.

Judge Mattingly relented after imposing sentence, and suspended its execution. The man profusely thanked the court for suspending the fine.

Two Caught in Liquor Raid.

Third Precinct Policemen W. McEwen and W. D. Perry arrested two colored men and confiscated 35 one-half-gallon jars of alleged whisky last night at 1229 Twenty-second street northwest. Charges of illegal possession were lodged against Clarence Brown, 26, and William Branch, 33.

TRIAL OF THE NEW GOLF BALL.

Being a stenographic report of the testimony in the action of Dudley R. Duffer, Doremus Dubbem and Wingate Whiffett versus the Lighter Golf Ball, Court of General Alibis, Chief Justice Letts B. Fair, presiding. Yesterday Mr. Duffer told his story, bitterly assailing the new ball as incompetent, malicious, obstreperous and obstructive. Today Messrs. Dubbem and Whiffet were called to the stand.

* * * *

MR. DUBBEM.

Q.—Mr. Dubbem, you heard the testimony of Mr. Duffer, associated with you as a complainant in this action?

A.—I did.

A.—I double and redouble.

Q.—How long have you been playing the new ball?

A.—All season.

Q.—I want you to describe to the court the actions of the new ball on a drive into the wind.

(Here Mr. Dubbem, after a few words of description, became hysterical and had to be put in a straightjacket.)

* * * *

MR. WHIFFETT.

Q.—Mr. Whiffett, you are also a complainant against the new ball?

A.—And how!

Q.—Do you wish to add anything to the testimony already given?

A.—All I wanna say is that it is causing more unhappiness in the United States today than all other troubles put together, that it is bringing madness and despair to every links from coast to coast and that it ought to get the maximum penalty.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

A.—About 118.

Q.—I hand you four dozen scorecards turned in by foursomes in which you played last summer. I ask you to look them over.

A.(quite embarrassed)—No, sir.

Q.—You weren't using the new ball then, were you?

A.—No.

HERE the defendant was called to the stand.

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—You have heard the plaintiffs testify. What have you to say?

A.—It just hands me a laugh, that's all.

Q.—Do you deny that you are responsible for their loss of form, destruction of confidence and total ruination of scores?

A.—I most certainly do. Those birds never had any form to lose.

Q.—When they struck you squarely could you give them as much distance as the old ball?

A.—I don't know. They never struck me squarely.

* * * *

Q.—What have you to say about your interference with their putting?

A.—I never could tell when they were putting; it always seemed to me they were driving.

Q.—What is your answer to their charges as a whole?

A.—I say that any player who is any good can get as much satisfaction out of me as he got out of the old ball, if not more. I'm being used as the greatest golfing alibi in history, that's all.

Q.—Have you anything else to say?

A.—Only that I would like complete exoneration.

Judge Fair: Case dismissed, with costs to the plantiffs. I've seen those plaintiffs on the golf links. There isn't a ball known to science that could help them.

SERVICE.

JOHN C. WESTON, former prosecutor in a New York court, says he took money from lawyers "like tips that would be accepted by a waiter." Possibly in return he gave the attorneys and their clients a table near the window and told them he'd have the judge play any selection they might request.

FIRE, POLICE FORCE MAY DO EXTRA WORK

Commission's Rule Against Outside Services Is Ruled Invalid.

Justice Jennings Bailey yesterday denied the District Commissioners the right to prohibit firemen from accepting outside employment when they were not actually engaged in their official duties. The justice made his ruling in the case of John B. Ihrie, a firemen, who had sued for an injunction to prevent the Commissioners from ordering him to stop outside work.

Ihrie, through Attorney George C. Gertman, was before the court on a motion by the Corporation Counsel to dismiss his injunction. In making his ruling, Justice Bailey held that the regulation which was made to bar outside work for firemen and policemen, too, only prohibited them from working for money. He pointed out that they could work, under the regulation, for nothing.

Holding that he did "not see how paid labor would stand on any different basis from voluntary labor," the justice said that it was "not within the powers vested in the Commissioners by Congress" to make the regulation. He dismissed the motion to dismiss the bill, and Ihrie can now work for money, outside his duties as a fireman.

Woman Seeks $25,000 After Auto Ride in Rain

Alleging that she sustained serious and permanent injuries because of the negligence of Edgar M. Dickinson, of Oakwood Terrace, in driving an automobile during a rainstorm on the Richmond-Washington highway near Quantico, Mary A. Ames, of 1419 Chapin street northwest, yesterday brought suit against him for $25,000 damages.

The suit declares the defendant offered to drive the woman from Quantico, Va., to her home here on the night of May 31. They had not gone far when Dickinson allegedly drove beyond the middle of the road and collided with a car going in the opposite direction. Miss Ames declares she has been forced to spend $500 in medical and dental treatments.

Three Pin Intruder Until Help Arrives

Man Arrested and Says Companion Escaped With Loot.

The combined avoirdupois of two women and a man proved too much for William Burdine, colored, after he broke into a house at 337 Missouri avenue northwest late Sunday night, according to First Precinct police. That accounts for his being charged with housebreaking.

According to the report, Mrs. Milton Thomas awoke to find the man prowling around her third-floor room. She screamed, then ran for him. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker, asleep in an adjoining room, responded to the summons, and the three of them pinned Burdine down and held him for police.

Investigation revealed that entry had been gained by breaking in the back door and that clothing worth $35 was missing. The suspect said that an accomplice escaped with the loot.

BORLAND REVISION CUTS TAX AMOUNTS

Reduction of Anticipated Revenue to Be Greater Than $700,000.

Reduction of anticipated revenue under the new Borland act, as contrasted with the assessments under the old law, will be even greater than the $700,000 predicted last spring, Tax Assessor William P. Richards said yesterday as the first of the revised tax bills were sent out.

All of the revised bills were considerably smaller than the original assessments. One property owner's tax was cut from $355.41 to $71.51, while another bill of $70.99 was cut in half to $35. Some of the reductions, however, were very small, even less than a dollar.

No bills will be sent to taxpayers who paid the original assessments, however, and no money will be available to make the refunds until Congress appropriates it next winter.

While assessments under the new act are made on the front-foot basis, as under the old law, safeguards are provided to prevent excessive charges. These concern corner lots, where the owner has to pay for street improvements on one abutting street only; lots of irregular depth, where the average depth is considered; and deep lots, where the front part only is used in calculating for the maximum assessment of 3½ cents per square foot.

There is also a maximum assessment of $3.50 a front foot.

Rum Charge Laid To Retired Major

James Theodore Kingsley Bonded After Arrest at Powhatan.

James Theodore Kingsley, described by police as a retired major in the United States Army, was arrested last night after he allegedly created a disturbance on the Hotel Powhatan roof, while diners and dancers looked on.

Arito Pangratz, manager, told police Kingsley placed a bottle of liquor under his table and became boisterous upon being notified that he and the three others in the party would not be served until they made a deposit. The hotel charges that it holds a $300 bill against the officer.

Summoned by Pangratz, Detectives I. Rosenberg and R. McNeil arrested Kingsley and took him to the station with one and a half pints of alleged whisky. He was charged with illegal possession and released under $500 bond furnished by a bondsman. The accused said he is 41 years old and lives at 3700 Massachusetts avenue northwest.

Boy Who Aided Police Capture Others Freed

Harold Lee Stuart, 18-year-old youth who last Thursday helped Policeman C. A. Berry capture two boys suspected of several housebreakings, was released a few hours after being booked for investigation at the Twelfth Precinct Station.

Three charges of housebreaking and another of grand larceny have been placed against William Anthony Reed, while Joseph Haas has been charged with two housebreaking cases.

Denouncing Police Rum Spy, Judge Frees Aged Cripple

An aged and crippled colored woman went free from Police Court yesterday after Judge Robert E. Mattingly had declared from the bench he did not believe a police informer, who had testified about purchases of liquor, had told the truth.

The woman, Eugenia Wiggins, of Marian court, was charged with sale and possession, and most of the testimony against her was given by the informer, who said that on three separate occasions he had bought liquor from her.

"I don't believe a thing you have said on the stand," Judge Mattingly told the informer. "I think you put that dollar in your pocket, and I am dismissing the case." The reference to the dollar was occasioned by the informer's testimony that he was given a dollar by the police to use in purchasing liquor.

Police seized liquor in a brown jug while the informer said the liquor was in a large bottle. Loud applause in the courtroom followed the verdict and it took bailiffs several minutes to restore order.

DISTRICT ENGINEER LISTS DISUSED CITY LANDS FOR SELLING

APPROVAL OF CONGRESS FIRST HELD NECESSARY

Board of Education Selects 8 Old School Sites; Bill to Be Drawn.

The District Engineer Department, which every year buys thousands of dollars worth of property for school or institutional sites, yesterday began checking off pieces of propesty owned but no longer used or needed by the District government, preparatory to selling them.

A list of 21 such parcels of land, varying greatly in size and some with buildings on them, was submitted to each of the several departments of the District government to ascertain if any of the pieces of property might be used. The Board of Education straightway selected eight old school sites, although no schools are scheduled to be erected thereon.

Congress Must Approve.

All the tracts not withdrawn will be included in a bill to be drafted under the direction of Maj. H. L. Robb, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, for introduction at the next session of Congress. The land can not be sold until Congress approves.

On the list is the small piece of land near the Westchester Apartments, Thirty-ninth street and Cathedral avenue northwest, which once held a powder house, but has not been in use for many years. Another is the site of an old police station at 1062 Wisconsin avenue northwest.

One strip of land on Potomac avenue between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets southeast is being used this summer by the playgrounds department.

School Sites in List.

Several abandoned school buildings and sites are included in the list. These are the Abbott School, New York avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets northwest; Brentwood Road School, Twentieth and Jackson streets northeast; Chamberlin School, Twenty-sixth and East streets northwest; Good Hope School, Bowen and Naylor roads southeast; Military Road School annex, Rock Creek Ford road.

The old site of a contagious disease hospital, between Fairmont and Girard streets and Georgia and Sherman avenues, is likewise included.

Other pieces of property are the old fish market, Potomac avenue and Grace street northwest; a building now used by a fraternal order at 5329 Sixteenth street northwest, and two water department sites at Clark street and Ellicott place northwest and on Volta place between Wisconsin avenue and Thirty-third street northwest.

3 Girls Disappear After Reprimand

Mother of One Scolded for Being Out Late; Now All Missing.

Three girl friends, their feelings apparently hurt when the mother of one reprimanded them for coming home at an early hour Sunday, were reported missing yesterday. They are Louise Chapman, 17; Mary Lee Carey, 15, and Mary Wheeler, 18.

The mother of Louise told police that her daughter brought the other two girls to her home at 417 Second street northwest early Sunday and said they had been in an automobile accident. After being scolded, they went to bed. They left together at about 5 o'clock p. m., and haven't been seen since, Mrs. Chapman said.

Lorton Pair, Released, Rearrested in Larceny

Ray Noble, 23, and Lewis Seltzer, 28, were released yesterday from Lorton Reformatory upon completion of a three-year sentence for housebreaking and were immediately rearrested by Detective Sergt. Robert Barrett for Crum Lynne, Pa., authorities, who hold larceny charges against them.

Noble, who home is said to be in Warren, Ohio, and Seltzer, of Seat Pleasant, Md., were convicted in 1928 of entering several homes in the Northwest section of the city, allegedly taking more than $4,000 worth of jewelry and clothing. Police from Crum Lynne are expected here today to take the men back to Pennsylvania.
